BRITISH SPEED TOWARD AXIS' TUNIS DEFENSES

Allies Take Sousse and Kairouan.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 12 (AP).—Plunging northward with almost reckless speed toward a final accounting with Marshal Rommel's African corps, the British 8th army occupied Sousse today, almost within gunshot of the new axis mountain line anchored near Enfidaville, 27 miles north of Sousse and 50 miles south of Tunis.

Kairouan, Moslem holy city and big axis aerial base 34 miles southwest of Sousse, was abandoned to British and American forces yesterday, and surviving German armor was streaming across the plains northward to escape being caught in an allied entrapment.

The American 2d army corps under Lt. Gen Patton took Faid pass without opposition, partly avenging the defeat suffered there when Rommel struck westward in his drive toward Tebessa in mid-February.

Keep Up Great Air Blows.

American and British air forces continued to strike terrible blows, converting scores of enemy vehicles into scattered wreckage and virtually wiping the axis from the skies. A total of 41 enemy planes were destroyed yesterday against a loss of 14 allied craft.

Thirty of the enemy planes downed yesterday were big three motored transports, trying suicidally to cross the Sicilian straits with gasoline and other supplies for Rommel's forces.

[A Dakar (allied controled) radio broadcast recorded in New York quoted Turkish dispatches as saying the German command already had begun to transport contingents of the African corps to Italy and Greece in transport planes. The broadcast added that "the Germans are also said to have concentrated 40 or 50 submarines in the Mediterranean" to protect surface shipping for the withdrawal of troops.]

Dash 75 Miles in Two Days.

Tho impeded by demolitions, Gen. Montgomery's eager veterans covered the 75 miles from Sfax, which they captured on Saturday morning, in exactly 48 hours. They had covered 125 miles from Wadi el Akarit in six days. Rommel's rear guard put up only slight opposition as it raced a final 25 miles.

They sought to join the bulk of German and Italian forces now concentrated behind emplacements running from Enfidaville 40 miles northwestward to Pont-du-Fahs, and thence 60 miles farther northwestward to Cape Serrat on the Mediterranean 35 miles west of Bizerte. It is an area about 100 miles long and 40 miles wide.

It was officially announced that

HDQ. IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, April 12 [Passed by censor].—A pompous, well fed man dressed in the uniform of a lieutenant colonel of marines walked into the press office where the war correspondents were lounging today.

"I am an old newspaper man, assigned to the OWI," he announced. "I just want to give you a tip on a great story. There is a great plan afoot for the United States to save shipping space on lumber needed for war construction in the South Pacific. Our experts have found a huge stand of lumber on Guam and they are planning to put a sawmill there and cut all we need."

Gently a correspondent interrupted to inform the OWI man that the Japs captured Guam five days after Pearl Harbor.

"Oh, I don't mean Guam. I mean one of those other islands around Guam or Samoa," said the OWI man.

BILL IS PASSED PUTTING CALL ON STATE BASIS

DRAFT QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

The Tribune's Friend of the Yanks department answers all questions about draft classifications and military and naval service. If the repeated changes in draft regulations have left you uncertain about your draft classification write to the Friend of the Yanks, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope with your inquiry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The Kilday bill, providing that fathers shall be the last to be drafted for military service, was passed in the house today on a standing vote announced as 143 to 7.

The bill now goes to the senate. The new selective service regulations made public today would tend to achieve the same objective—delaying the induction of fathers as long as possible. The Kilday bill provides, however, that no father can be inducted in a state until the state's men of lesser dependency have all been called.

[All physically fit men 18 to 37 years old, inclusive, will be in military service by the end of 1943. Turn to page 8.]

The measure would change present selective service rules so that selection would be on a state-wide rather than county basis. That is, no man could be called so long as there are any remaining in a previous classification in his state.

Fathers Would Be Last.

The list of those without dependents would be required to be exhausted in each state before the calling of any individual in the next class, which would be made up of men without family relationships but with persons such as parents or brothers and sisters dependent for support.

Married men without children would be the next to be called. Married men with children would be the last to be inducted.

The married men must have been married prior to Dec. 8, 1941, and maintain a bona fide family relationship. Marriages after that date are recognized, for the purposes of the act, provided they took place at a time when selection was not imminent or when the husband was beyond the maximum age then liable to induction. No distinction is made between children born before and after Pearl Harbor.

Bars Occupational Draft.

The legislation also permits the President, thru selective service officials, to defer men holding essential jobs in agriculture, industry or other occupations necessary to the "maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest."

To offset plans to induct men engaged in prescribed nonessential occupations, regardless of dependency, the legislation provides that men shall not be called for induction "because of their occupations, or by occupational groups, or by groups in any plant or institution."

Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.], author of the bill, explained that the legislation was not intended to prevent the drafting of family heads but only to assure that they not be taken while men without dependents were available.

Criticizes McNutt.

Kilday told the house the bill would not have been necessary had not Man Power Commissioner Paul V. McNutt issued his "work or fight" order under which, Rep. Kilday said, men with families face the draft unless they can find jobs in essential industry.

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] told the house during the debate on the bill that he wanted to see all unmarried men of draft age in the government agencies called into the service.

"I propose to offer an amendment that every single man under 38 in government service be inducted," Fish said. "We ought to put them in uniform and then send back those whom the government needs."

NANCY TRAYLOR DIES IN PLUNGE

Police Call New York Death Suicide.

Nancy Traylor Souder, 28 years old, daughter of the late Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, plunged to her death last night from the 10th floor of the Plaza hotel in New York.

Nancy Traylor Souder.

Mr. Souder told detectives he was asleep when he missed his wife, and found a window open.

Her body was found at 11:50 p. m. on the roof of a three story extension over the hotel ballroom.

Tells of Ill Health.

Mrs. Souder, the husband said, had been in ill health recently, and had threatened on several occasions to take her life. The police listed her death as suicide. Her address was given as 426 Barry avenue, Chicago, with the explanation that this was the home of her mother.

Souder, a Kansas oil man, was her third husband. Her first husband was Nathan B. Swift, son of Alden B. Swift, from whom she was divorced in June, 1936. She was married to Marcy T. Weeks in March, 1937. They were divorced in December, 1939.

Her marriage to Souder took place in Richmond, Mo., in August, 1940.

Mrs. Souder was a graduate of the Simsbury school in Connecticut, and had traveled extensively in Europe before she made her debut in Chicago in the fall of 1932.

Interested in Fashions.

Becoming interested in fashion designing, she at one time was employed in the fashion department of a Chicago newspaper.

Her father died Feb. 14, 1934, after serving for many years as president of the First National bank. He was an internationally known banker and in 1932 had been seriously mentioned as Democratic Presidential nominee.

Born in a log cabin in Kentucky, he rose from farm laborer, school teacher, grocery clerk, and self-educated lawyer to be president of Chicago's First National bank.

Walkout in Gary: A Study of Two Kinds of Workers

This is the story of what might be called "the Gary incident." It cost the country enough steel to build 150 fighting tanks. The story in three chapters:

CHAPTER ONE.

The scene is open hearth furnace No. 5 of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel works in Gary. The many furnaces there work day and night to produce armor plate steel. From a war production standpoint furnace 5 is one of the most important units in the vast Carnegie plant.

Over the weekend a worker took time out for a cup of coffee. A shop official ordered the worker back to work and took the cup away. Not long afterward a helper's crew was found to be short three men. The absentees were not replaced, thus imposing extra work on the five other men in the crew.

The furnace workers became indignant. They voiced demands for the official's removal. Then at 4 p. m. Sunday the workers—members of the United Steel Workers, CIO—went on strike; ultimately 250 were out. They left, unattended, eight furnaces.

CHAPTER TWO.

James Hansen is just one of the thousands of men who work in the blazing steel mills of Gary. He's been at it for 15 years. He lives at 841 Delaware street in Gary. With his wife, Anna, he reared two sons.

One of them, Clifford, captained the Emerson High school football team in 1937. Then he worked six months beside his father in the mills. The elder Hansen wanted a better life for his son, however, He sent him to the University of Alabama. There Clifford Hansen became a star athlete as varsity football tackle for two years.

Then came the war. Hansen's job became tougher. The open hearth furnaces became hotter and hotter to produce more and more steel for ships and tanks and guns. It was at those furnaces he worked.

And Clifford? He had joined the army a month before Pearl Harbor, and won his flying wings last July. Then he went to Tullahoma, Tenn., as a dive bombing instructor. Men like him needed the steel his father was producing. Clifford wanted action. He asked for combat duty. Fourteen days ago his superiors consented. Eleven days ago Clifford's plane crashed. He was killed.

Early yesterday the elder Hansen heard about the strike at open hearth 5. He wondered about the furnaces. They must be cooling. If the steel solidified, the furnaces would be ruined and thousands of tons of steel would be lost. Hansen hurried to the furnace. He found one of the eight furnaces left unattended by the strikers had been drained.

The seven others were in danger. With a crew of six he worked on them. It was a dangerous job, but in the end the furnaces were drained and safe. Hansen had little to say about his act last night. "I got a job to do," he said. "The other fellows did as much as I did. Maybe I got a better reason—that's all."

There were tears in his voice.

CHAPTER THREE.

The 250 strikers met yesterday and voted to return to work after union leaders ordered them to do so. A company official said the 22 hour strike cost enough steel for 150 tanks.

1,200 Out 7 Hours

A seven hour strike yesterday disrupted production at the Pressed Steel Car company plant at 136th street and Brandon avenue. About 1,200 men, members of the CIO United Automobile Workers, were involved.

Observers said the strike arose over the complaint of workers that their grievances were resolved by the management in its own favor, and also over the dissatisfaction of some workers with several recent operational changes at the plant. These changes, it was said, cut their earnings. A new wage contract also was said to be involved.

Peter H. Bent, union chief, and Lt. George Barnes of the police labor detail, appealed to the strikers' patriotism and asked them to return to work. The appeal won. Full operations will be resumed today. However, the brief layoff reputedly cost the production of "a goodly number of tanks."

Quiet! Police Crusade Against Noise Ordered

Police Commissioner Allman issued an order yesterday directing policemen to start a campaign to eliminate unnecessary noises, including the needless blowing of auto horns. He called attention to a similar message issued two years ago.

37 Shot Down in Biggest Raid on New Guinea

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, April 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Japanese flung 100 planes at Port Moresby Monday in their heaviest aerial attack of the war in this theater, but 37 of them were shot out of the skies or badly damaged in new losses so severe that the enemy's aerial offensive apparently has been curbed, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

In two days the Japanese have lost 76 planes, the communique asserted, adding that "it is believed the enemy's air offensive has been blunted and his immediate plans dislocated."

Besides the toll of 37 Japanese planes taken in the attack on Port Moresby, main allied base on New Guinea, 15 others were lost in other actions Monday, the bulletin said.

19 Bombers Downed.

Bitter dogfights swirled over the airdrome areas of Port Moresby as allied planes shot up to intercept the attacking formations—evenly divided between combat and bomber ships—and downed 29 of them, 19 bombers and 10 fighters.

Anti-aircraft batteries destroyed two additional bombers and probably destroyed six more, for a total of 37 enemy ships "destroyed or so badly crippled that they could never reach base. Our own losses were relatively light."

It was the second successive heavy raid by the Japanese, who had sent 45 bombers and fighters against Oro Bay on the eastern Papuan coast, Sunday.

Including Sunday's enemy losses at Oro Bay, "we have now shot out of action in battle 76 enemy combat craft," headquarters said.

Rabaul Airdrome Attacked.

While the Japanese were raiding Port Moresby, allied bombers were busy elsewhere. The Rabaul, New Britain area was heavily attacked.

"Our heavy bombers executed a dawn attack on the enemy airdromes at Vunakanaua, Lakuna, and Rapopo, scoring direct hits in dispersal areas and starting numerous fires which were visible for 50 miles," the communique said.

"An anti-aircraft battery was destroyed and an escorted enemy submarine on the surface in St. George's channel was bombed at low altitude and sank.

"In the course of these attacks nine enemy fighters attempted interception and three were shot down.

"All our planes returned."

One Plane Downs Seven.

An enemy cargo ship was bombed off Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea. Another heavy bomber attacked shipping in the harbor at Kaimana. Two small coastal vessels were strafed by bombers at Dobo, in the Aroe island area. Bombs were dropped on Toeal, in the Kai islands.

A single allied reconnaissance plane was intercepted by 12 Japanese fighters near Wewak, Japanese base on the northeast coast of New Guinea, and in a 30-minute running engagement the reconnaissance ship shot seven enemy planes out of action.

Four Caught After Raid.

An enemy convoy was attacked by heavy bombers in Hansa bay. The bombers scored at least one direct hit. Two cargo ships were damaged and left smoking.

An allied fighter patrol intercepted a mixed enemy force of bombers and fighters off Cape Ward Hunt, returning from the attack on Moresby. Three bombers and one fighter were shot down.

"Shortly after dawn a fast enemy reconnaissance plane was sighted 20 miles east of Cape Ward Hunt," the communique continued. "One of our fighters pursued it to Port Moresby and back, finally shooting it down in flames after a chase lasting one hour."

A heavy bomber, making a dawn raid on Gasmata, New Britain, started fires in the airdrome. In the Bismarck sea reconnaissance planes bombed and strafed an enemy cargo ship and a fleet of small coastal vessels.

BUILD 2 ALASKA BASES

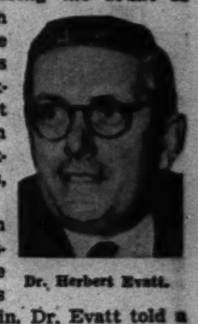
ASKS QUICK AID FOR AUSTRALIA IN WAR ON JAPS

Says His Country Bears Brunt.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Australia is bearing the brunt of the war with Japan in the Pacific and needs more help quickly, Dr. Herbert Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, said today.



Dr. Herbert Evatt.

In Washington on a special mission to the United States and Great Britain, Dr. Evatt told a press conference his country was aware of the allied decision to defeat Germany first, and accepted that decision. But, he added:

"We rather feel that the so called 'Beat Hitler first' strategy has been much misunderstood in the United States."

Visits with President.

He expressed his views to reporters after a meeting with President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, chairman of the Anglo-American munitions assignment board.

Beating Germany first, he contended, could not justify failure to wage war against Japan "with the utmost vigor."

War production in the United States has increased tremendously in the past year, he said, yet "the full effect of this increasing flow of supplies has not been felt in the southwest Pacific as it should have been felt."

The production of war planes, in particular, has been "enormously expanded" in the past year, Evatt said, adding with considerable emotion:

"We would like to see the result of that expansion in the skies over the southwest Pacific."

Avoidable delays and bottlenecks, as well as insufficient allocation of supplies, have been some of the reasons why the southwest Pacific is still waiting, he said.

Praise for MacArthur.

Evatt warmly praised the leadership of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the part Americans have played in the Southwest Pacific, but added:

"The plain fact is that, of the many united nations, Australia is bearing the brunt of the main Japanese activities in the Pacific. In the desperate but brilliant fighting that has taken place in fever-stricken parts of New Guinea, United States forces, particularly its air forces have played a noble part and we rejoice at their valor and comradeship.

"At the same time it should be understood that 80 per cent of the land forces have been Australians."

Evatt said Australia has been fighting Germany as well as Japan and was unhesitatingly sending her troops to distant battlefields long before Japan struck in the Pacific.

After Pearl Harbor, because of geographical considerations, the United States accepted primary responsibility for operations in the Pacific. Because of distances and other factors, he said, allocations have not always been carried out as intended by the high military or political authorities.

Delays in Delivery Result.

"This," he emphasized, "means delay in delivery at the only point which matters; that is, the point of combat thousands of miles away."

"So far as the Southwest Pacific is concerned," he continued, "the overriding consideration is the actual demands of combat. In that area, at any rate, every man and every airplane actually delivered to Gen. MacArthur will be expendable for the common cause. Nothing will be tucked away. With the exception of China, which has to overcome very special difficulties, the Pacific theatres are the only places where there is continuous contact with the Japanese enemy and where it is possible to destroy systematically his installations and his shipping.

"It is suicidal to give him time to dig in."

Americans Late in Taking Fondouk Objective.

KAIROUAN, Tunisia, April 12 (AP).—A misunderstanding about the timing of an American attack delayed by 24 hours the occupation of Kairouan by allied forces and probably prevented the envelopment of a considerable portion of Marshal Erwin Rommel's army, now fleeing northward.

The allied plan called for British infantry to storm the northern nob guarding Fondouk pass, west of Kairouan, and for American infantry to take the southern height. Due to strong German defense, however, plus a misunderstanding about the time they were to strike, the Americans failed to take their objective on schedule.

The British were forced to send their infantry southward against the troublesome position and to send their tanks crashing thru the pass before it was cleared of mines or covering anti-tank guns.

Axis Army Still an Entity.

Tho weakened by the loss of several whole divisions, Rommel's army still exists as an entity and is expected to turn and fight hard at its chosen point.

Observers attach importance to the fact that most of the holding forces met by the allies in recent offensives have been Italians and Austrians and, in one instance, Germans who were frankly anti-Nazi. It indicates, they believe, that Rommel is saving only the cream of his army for a stubborn stand in the north.

A British reconnaissance element entered Kairouan early Sunday and was followed later in the day by American troops, who remained as a holding force.

The first troops to enter the mosque crowded Moslem holy city were welcomed by hand clapping Arabs and overjoyed French citizens.

Blow Up Electric Plant.

All inhabitants told of the wreckage perpetrated by the Germans before they left. Wells and the water works were destroyed. The electric plant was blown up, and even the local bakery was dismantled.

The enthusiasm of the people proved endless, and welcoming cries greeted each new cargo of arrivals. When a caravan of correspondents arrived—among the first—the mayor insisted on making a welcoming speech at municipal headquarters.

Kairouan, after Mecca and Medina, is the most sacred city in the eyes of the Mohammedans of Africa. Rebuilt several times, the present city dates from the ninth century. The most important of its mosques is that of the Companion, regarded as especially sacred because three hairs from the prophet's beard are said to be buried there with one of the companions of Mohammed. Kairouan is recognized as the center of Moslem culture. The old part of the city is surrounded by an ancient brick wall.

3 YANKS RISK CAPTURE TO SAVE DISABLED TANK

WITH U. S. ARMY IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, April 11 [delayed] (AP).—Three American tankmen braved German capture and risked their lives to recover one of their disabled tanks rather than let it fall into enemy hands.

"We were under artillery fire during the battle of El Guetar and started to change positions," said Sergt. Hubert Benner of St. Louis, Mo. "Just as I started over a knoll an 88 millimeter shell hit the back of our General Grant tank and knocked the engine out. Then they laid three more in. I couldn't get the tank to start so we abandoned it and took to the hills.

"When it got dark the driver and I—he is Technician Jessie O. Giddens, 20, of Perry, Fla.—went back alone. I fixed the gas lines. Another tank operated by Arthur D. Millard of Detroit gave us a tow and I was able to get the engine started and came out under our own power. We finished the repairs and had it ready for battle again in one day."

PATTON PRAISES YANKS WHO WON EL GUETAR FIGHT

Hails All Services for Duty Well Done.

WITH U. S. FORCES IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, April 12 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Patton, in an order of the day, congratulated his troops of the 2d corps today on the successful conclusion of the hard, 22 day battle for El Guetar, asserting that "the splendid record of the American army has attained added luster.

Lt. Gen. Patton.

In this fighting that ended last week, the Americans had captured El Guetar and then plunged on to unite with British 8th army troops coming up from the south.

"Valor and Constancy."

The text of the order:

"After 22 days of relentless combat in mountains whose ruggedness beggars description, you have won the battle of El Guetar. Each one of you in his own sphere has done his duty magnificently.

"Not alone on the front line where death never ended his gruesome harvest but everywhere else all of you have demonstrated your valor and constancy.

"Over countless miles of dusty, windswept roads, often under fire from the air or from artillery, men of the supply services have delivered our food and ammunition.

"Under the most rigorous field conditions the maintenance units have collected and repaired your vehicles and weapons.

All Branches Win Praise.

"In small isolated groups or as individuals, men of the signal corps have constructed and maintained your communications.

"Except for the unceasing efforts of our engineers, the roads could not have been used or the lurking hazards of minefields overcome.

"In the air the 12th air support command gave as ever their untiring devotion and splendid courage. The medical corps has proved outstanding in its prompt and effective care of our wounded.

"Due to your united efforts and manifest assistance of almighty God, the splendid record of the American army has attained added luster."

MEN OF CONQUERED NATIONS AMONG AXIS TROOPS IN TUNISIA

WITH U. S. FORCES IN CENTRAL TUNISIA, April 10 [Delayed]—(AP).—Short of man power, Adolf Hitler has been forced to augment his troops in North Africa by pressing into service soldiers of conquered nations, German convicts, political suspects, and even Arabs who originally had been shipped to Germany as laborers, it was disclosed today. Soldiers of all these types have been taken prisoner in recent weeks in all drives on all Tunisian fronts.

Moroccan, Algerian, and Tunisian Arabs were put into units sprinkled with young, ardent Nazis to keep them from surrendering, it was stated. They were organized into "German Arabic instruction battalions" and sent to occupied territory in Russia for training. Then these "French volunteer legions" and "Arabic freedom legions," as the German propaganda machine named them, were taken back to Germany, outfitted with tropical equipment, and sent to Tunisia, arriving only a short time ago.

Among the soldiers of subjected nations pushed by the Nazis into battle were former Polish and Czech troops who were given no alternative to such service except starvation and death.

WARNS ALLIES 200,000 JAPS ARE READY TO STRIKE

Australia Army Head Points to Air Raids.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, April 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Japan has concentrated 200,000 first line troops and a great air force above Australia and may be expected to undertake an offensive at any time, Gen. Thomas A. Blamey told a press conference today.

Gen. Blamey, commander in chief of allied ground forces in this area, said the heavy Japanese air assaults on allied bases in the Solomon Islands and New Guinea within recent days marked the opening phase of the enemy's struggle to regain parity, then mastery in the air.

Must Have Big Air Force.

The "profound shock" of his losses in the Bismarck sea and other actions has taught the enemy he can't move large forces without gaining air control, Blamey continued.

In consequence, Blamey said, "the Japanese are concentrating their aggressive attentions—already developed to a strength of 200,000 first line troops and a powerful air force—along the island arc northward of Australia for the purpose of returning to an offensive interrupted by successive allied successes in the Coral sea, the Solomons, New Guinea, and the Bismarck sea.

"The result of this struggle in the next few weeks will have the greatest importance for us."

Bases Not Fully Developed.

Blamey said the Japanese have not yet approached peak development of their bases in islands extending across a 60-degree arc from northwest to northeast of Australia. The enemy is able to concentrate in this area, Blamey asserted, because the allies have been unable to present a serious threat to the Japanese in any other theater of war.

"If the enemy can regain the initiative in the air and maintain quantitive superiority on land and in the air, he will pass to the offensive," he added.

HUMANS GIVEN TRANSFUSIONS OF HORSE BLOOD

Pasadena, Cal., April 12 (AP).—Scientists at California Institute of Technology have used horse blood in successful transfusion into human beings and for serums for immunization against disease.

Dr. Dan H. Campbell reported the progress of the first phase of the experiments at the institute's annual alumni association meeting.

"We now can use cow or horse blood in transfusions to human beings," he said. "But the first transfusion sets up a hyper-sensitivity or allergy in the patient so that a second transfusion is dangerous and may prove fatal.

"We hope to overcome this in future experiments."

THE FORT ROYAL $10

as a becoming hat for most men

Our men know hats—and they know facial contours. They know that a hat with Fort Royal dimensions is soundly proportioned for the average man. The height of its crown, the width and sweep of its brim, its general shape are designed for flattery. They appreciate, too, its special processing—which has made the fine fur felt unusually soft and mellow, yet given it great stamina. But, if you try it on and it isn't the hat for you, they'll tell you so frankly and suggest one more suitable. So come in soon and try on the Fort Royal in one of its mart shades.

BRITISH MOVE ON MOUNTAIN LINE SOUTH OF TUNIS

the British 8th army had taken 20,000 prisoners since it opened the offensive against the Mareth line on March 20.

With the captives of the last few days, the 8th army now has taken more than 100,000 prisoners since El Alamein [Oct. 23, 1942], and the enemy has left a trail of thousands of graves over a 2,000-mile stretch from the flat sands of Egypt to the grassy hills of Tunisia. About 80 per cent of the prisoners are Italians, left behind by the withdrawing Germans. The Americans, French, and British 1st army have seized several thousand more prisoners, many of them Germans.

Field dispatches from the British 8th army said Montgomery's victorious troops were in high spirits and determined to "drive the enemy into the sea."

[A British radio broadcast pointed out that Rommel's forces are retreating thru a cultivated region "where they are, for the most part, compelled to keep to the roads, thus offering fighter bombers the best targets they have had for months."]

Armor By-Passes Kairouan.

Most of the allied armor by-passed Kairouan to rush on north in pursuit of the fleeing axis tank forces and to try to cut off Nazi infantry believed still holding position on the Grand Dorsal range east of Ousseltia valley.

A French communique said French troops in the last few days had captured practically the whole of the mountainous region from the south of Djebel Chirichera to north of Pichon, and that in attacks west of Kairouan they had outflanked Djeloula pass and taken the last passes giving access to the plains. A whole company of enemy troops was reported captured.

The British in the Mejez-el-Bab-Munchar sector reported "steady progress."

Doolittle's Planes in Action.

Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's strategic air force again went into action yesterday.

Flying Fortresses bombed the docks and shipping at Tunis, scored hits on four merchant vessels, and blasted ships and docks in Sicilian ports. Marauder medium bombers escorted by Spitfires spread destruction among 28 axis planes at the Oudna landing ground 12 miles south of Tunis.

Probably the bulk of allied bombers were concentrating their explosive fury on Rommel's transport and troop concentrations in the vicinity of the Enfidaville line, ceaselessly obstructing his efforts to "get set" for the next onslaught by the 8th army.

"In one attack in this area by Hurricane bombers, escorted by Spitfires, 50 vehicles were left in flames, and after attacks by A-20 Boston light bombers many fires were observed," today's communique said.

Dispatches from Cairo and Malta told the aerial destruction of two enemy supply ships, one in the Gulf of Hammamet and the other off Palermo, Sicily, and an attack by bombers which left another sinking in the central Mediterranean.

EASIER LINE TO SUPPLY.

The German radio asserted that Rommel's troops had reached their new positions "without any substantial losses in men and above all in material," and had withdrawn "according to plan," inflicting heavy losses on British and American tanks. It said the axis armies now "have all the advantages of an inner line," and that it was easier to supply troops now "than a few days ago."

A Rome commentator, speaking of the Mediterranean developments, said: "It is a grave moment, but the difficulties of our opponents must not be underrated; ours is an unequal duel considering the overwhelming superiority in weapons and planes of our enemies."

The Italians admitted property damage and casualties in allied air raids upon Naples and the Sicilian towns of Trapani and Marsala, but claimed 12 of the raiders were shot down.

HEAR WARSAW'S 500,000 JEWS DROPS TO 40,000

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 12.—The population of the Warsaw ghetto has been reduced from 500,000 to approximately 40,000, according to the annual report just published by the Swedish Israel mission, a Swedish 100 per cent "Aryan" organization extending aid to Jewish victims of Nazi persecution. "Typhus" rages among the survivors and starvation further raises the mortality rate.

The Jews incarcerated in the Warsaw reservation behind walls 10 feet high and barbed wire, can leave the ghetto only under armed guard to perform forced labor for the Germans, the report says. For a 10 hour day they receive the equivalent of 20 cents, but 12 cents is deducted for the mid-day meal. A loaf of bread costs $5.

The report also says of 200,000 Jews once in Vienna, only 7,000 remain. The balance has been deported.

DODDS TO HEAD U. S. DELEGATION ON REFUGEE AID

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—The state department announced today that April 19 had been fixed for the Anglo-American conference at Bermuda to consider the refugee problem.

The United States delegation to the conference will be headed, the announcement said, by President Harold Willis Dodds of Princeton university. His three associates on the delegation will be Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], president pro tempore of the senate, chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] of the house committee on foreign affairs, and R. Borden Reams, American foreign service officer who will act as secretary of the delegation.

The British information service said the British delegation is composed of Richard K. Law, parliamantary undersecretary for foreign affairs, Osbert Peake, parliamentary undersecretary in the home office, and George Hall, parliamentary undersecretary in the admiralty.

CHURCHES FAVOR JEWISH RESCUE MEETING PLANS

The Church Federation of Chicago and the Joint Committee of Christian Women yesterday officially indorsed the united mass meeting which will be held tomorrow evening in the Chicago Stadium to stimulate immediate action in rescuing Jews and other victims in Nazi occupied countries thru efforts of the allied nations. This was announced by the Joint Emergency committee, 130 North Wells street, sponsor of the meeting.

The meeting was called by the committee, which is made up of leading Jewish organizations, following the recent revelation that approximately only 3,000,000 Jews remain in the lands occupied by the Nazis, the remainder having been purged as part of a program of total extermination by the Axis powers.

More than 20,000 Chicagoans are expected to attend the meeting, the committee said yesterday. Judge William J. Campbell of the federal district court will preside and introduce the speakers who are expected to include Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, Sen. Scott W. Lucas, Gov. Dwight H. Green, Rabbi Stephen Wise, Henry Monsky, Adolph Held and Joseph I. Proskauer. A detailed program as to the manner in which the allied nations can proceed to save the remaining Jews of Europe, particularly those in Rumania, Bulgaria, and Hungary, will be drawn up.

two weeks may have Zeros zooming from it to meet American bombers, has been bombed six times. The runway on Attu has been attacked twice by 10 Liberators, which unloaded 20 tons of explosives.

After the bombings, apparently, the Japanese crawled from their trenches surrounding the fields and used the loosened stone.

What Japs Are Preparing.

These runways may indicate that the enemy is preparing:

First—To repel a naval bombardment with Zeros.

Second—To repel any landing on the few existing beaches.

Third—To harass our advance bases, if possible.

Fourth—To hit our shipping lines.

Fifth—To launch an offensive of his own against Alaska. The use of transports June 4, 1942, indicates that he has had this idea in his mind.

To outfit these two airfields will require technical equipment which will have to be flown in or sent in by surface ships and submarine. The Japanese have tried surface ships and lost 15 to navy guns, torpedoes and army bombers.

When Attu and Kiska runways are working, fighter planes will be able to fly from Paramushiro, Japan, to Attu, 735 miles, and on to Kiska, 195 miles.

Photos Show Progress.

First signs of the Kiska job were observed Dec. 31; those on Attu March 11 when the strip was 10 days along.

The work emphasis on Kiska is the runway. No major new construction outside of gun and antiaircraft emplacements has been observed on Kiska since Jan. 1.

The half-mile long Kiska runway is built on a ridge by cut and fill methods, using bulldozers. It is believed the Japs also have 50 light trucks, 50 hand-propelled carts and movable narrow-gauge rails.

The Attu construction indicates the Japanese are strengthening their air defenses, perhaps as far back as Tokio on the northern approach chain. By March 11 a photograph showed that the outline of the field was completed.

19 Raids in April.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—The navy reported today that two bombing raids on Kiska, Japanese island base in the Aleutians, had been made by Warhawk and Lightning fighter planes last Saturday. Results, said the navy's communique, were not observed. The raids brought to 19 the number of assaults on Kiska since April 1.

BRITISH SUBS HIT 15 AXIS SHIPS IN MEDITERRANEAN

LONDON, April 12 (AP).—Fifteen more axis vessels have been destroyed or damaged in the Mediterranean by British submarines, the admiralty announced today.

The submarines, continue to harass enemy shipping attempting to supply Germans and Italians in Tunisia, were reported to have sunk eight vessels. These were listed as two medium sized supply ships, one medium sized tanker and five small supply ships. Seven other vessels, including three large supply ships and a large tanker, were attacked and hit by torpedoes. Two of the large supply ships were believed to have been sunk and a large tanker to have been beached.

YANKS LET JAPS BUILD BASE, THEN WIPE IT OFF MAP

Weeks' Work at Toungoo Is Obliterated.

A HEAVY BOMBER BASE IN INDIA, April 8 [Delayed] (AP).—Most of a Japanese base headquarters at Toungoo was wiped off the map yesterday by heavy American bombers which blanketed fully two-thirds of the target area with tons of explosives.

American craftiness in plotting a course to the headquarters enabled them to catch the enemy completely off guard, pilots said. Heavy opposition was expected, but no enemy fighters appeared and all bombers returned safely.

Toungoo is half way between Rangoon and Mandalay on the Burma railway. New military construction indicated its importance was increasing greatly.

Fire Over Huge Area.

The Americans waited until the military work was completed, then blasted to bits in a few seconds what took thousands of coolies many weeks to build. Smoke and flame popped up in huge billowing puffs over an area 2,100 feet wide and 4,800 feet long.

"We thought we would get a hot reception, but we didn't. If there's anything left of that place I'll be surprised."

Jap Village Bombed.

NEW DELHI, India, April 12 (AP). R. A. F. bombers raided a Japanese occupied village on the Mayu peninsula of Burma and dropped bombs on the important Myitkyina railway line about 45 miles southwest of Katha yesterday, a British communique said today.

Allied fighters machine gunned troops and other targets in the Indian area northwest of Mandalay while on offensive patrol, it was announced. Japanese aircraft bombed two places along the north Arakan coast but no casualties or damage resulted, the communique said.

TOKIO CLAIMS SUCCESS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A communique from Japanese imperial headquarters, broadcast by the Tokio radio said Japanese forces in Burma, which have been operating near the frontiers of India and China's Yunnan province, achieved their objectives at the end of March after killing 900 British-Indian and Chinese soldiers and taking 200 prisoners. Japanese losses in the two campaigns, the communique said, were 85 dead. It was reported that only mopping up operations were in progress at present.

The Japanese assertion conflicted with recent Chinese reports of clashes there. Only last Thursday a Chinese army spokesman said the Japanese were thrown back in one sector of Yunnan with "a large number of enemy troops annihilated."

U. S. FLYERS AGAIN BOMB AIR BASES AT KAHILI AND MUNDA

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Two bombing raids causing heavy explosions and starting fires at the Japanese air base at Munda in the Solomons were reported today by the navy in a communique which told also of a raid on Kahili.

The communique said:

"On April 11 Liberator heavy bombers attacked Kahili in the Shortland Island area. Hits were made on the air field runway and adjacent anti-aircraft positions. A force of Avenger torpedo bombers carried out an attack on Munda. Fires and heavy explosions resulted."

Maj. J. J. Meany, Flight Surgeon, Killed in Action

SECRET WEAPON AIMS BIG GUNS AT UNSEEN TARGETS

Helped Save Britain in '40; Will Build Skyways.

Little has been said, and less has been written, about this science, born by accident, but it is a key device in antisubmarine and antiaircraft warfare, and it received equal credit with the royal air force in winning the battle of Britain.

More than that, it is radio location that enables planes to spot submarines from the air, that makes it possible for patrol planes to keep track of friendly convoys, that directs both the searchlights and the guns of antiaircraft defenses, that aims coast defense guns accurately at unseen targets.

Germans Also Use It.

The Germans have found how to adapt this amazing weapon to their own defenses but, while they have been trying to "catch up," the British and Americans have put it to important uses, that still cannot be disclosed.

Known in the technical field as a phase of the science of electronics, radio location is expected by military men to have revolutionary applications in the post-war world.

The United States army signal corps, with the help of the British, has trained hundreds of scientific minded young Americans as radar officers. Other hundreds are in training or will be trained. The United States navy has similar programs.

Radio location made its first appearance as a defensive war weapon in the battle of Britain in 1940-'41. Here's how it helped save the British Isles from a knockout blow by the Luftwaffe:

From a chain of coastal stations, the British established a system of radio transmitters which projected a floodlight of electro-magnetic energy toward the areas where German planes were based. When the enemy planes entered the "floodlight area," radio energy was reflected to allied receivers.

As pulses were recorded on a cathode ray tube, trained officers determined the position and speed of enemy planes, and relayed the information to fighter command stations which dispatched intercepting R. A. F. fighters to meet the Nazi flyers.

Could Conserve Strength.

Thru radio location, the fighter command was able to conserve its strength and throw its limited power into a hard smashing defense that eventually knocked the Nazis out of British skies.

What will radio location mean in the post-war era? Men who have been working with this new science say it will provide a "foolproof" radio beam to guide transport pilots; that it will enable planes to be landed at airports safely in zero visibility weather; that it will eliminate many hazards of transoceanic flying; that it can be utilized to prevent ship collisions and guide ships into harbor in bad weather. And that just scratches the field of possible uses.

Strange pulses appeared on the fluorescent screen of a cathode ray tube and an investigation disclosed an airplane had been in the path of the transmitted electromagnetic beam. That was the beginning of radio location.

ALLIED INVASION NEAR, FRANCE IS TOLD BY ALGIERS

LONDON, April 12 (AP).—Broadcasting to France, the Algiers radio said tonight that the time for the signal of the allied approach to Europe "is no longer distant."

"Pay attention to the BBC and to Radio France [Algiers], which will give you the signal of our approach," the spokesman said in the broadcast.

"More than ever we say to you tonight 'A Bientot.'" [We'll be seeing you soon].

10 CHICAGOLAND MEN ARE GIVEN U. S. AIR MEDALS

Praised for Meritorious Action in Far East.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The air medal for meritorious action while participating in aerial flights in the India, Burma, middle eastern, and far eastern theaters has been awarded by the war department to 94 officers and enlisted men of the United States army air forces. Ten were from the Chicagoland area. They are:

Capt. Albert C. Nowak, 8128 Essex avenue, Chicago—"Capt. Nowak's accomplishments as pilot of a heavily overloaded, unarmed transport flying over India, Burma, and China in flights totaling more than 100 hours, constitute acts of meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight. These missions in which he participated, carried out between May 30, 1942, and Sept. 7, 1942, for the purpose of delivering vital war supplies to active combat fields, provided continuous and effective support to our fighting forces."

Capt. John C. Ruse, La Grange, Ill.—"Between July 1, 1942, and Jan. 9, 1943, Capt. Ruse completed 25 combat missions. In these operations, from bases in China as pilot in medium bombardment aircraft, Capt. Ruse has completed with exceptional merit his assignment and duty as an integral part of the combat team and thereby contributed much to the continuing and brilliant successes of our bomber units in the republic of China."

Many Combat Missions.

1st Lt. William M. Gilbert, 2516 Park place, Evanston, Ill.—"As a member of a heavy bombardment combat team he has participated in missions totaling more than 100 hours. These missions, flown from bases in India and the middle east between Aug. 15, 1942, and Dec. 31, 1942, have resulted in much damage to enemy installations."

Tech. Sergt. Glenn E. Beard, Frankfort, Ind.—"Tech. Sergt. Beard's accomplishments as aerial engineer of a heavily overloaded, unarmed transport flying over India, Burma, and China in flights totaling more than 100 hours, constitute acts of meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight. These missions in which he has participated, carried out between May 30, 1942, and Aug. 17, 1942, for the purpose of delivering vital war supplies to active combat fields, provided continuous and effective support to our fighting forces."

Points to Successes.

Maj. Delmer J. Rogers, Munger, Mich.—"As a flight and squadron commander, Maj. Rogers has participated in combat missions involving more than 100 hours. These missions, carried out in heavy bombardment aircraft between April 2, 1942, and Dec. 26, 1942, from bases in India and the middle east, have been highly successful in all phases under adverse conditions."

Staff Sergt. Charles Botuk, 2418 Faber street, Detroit, Mich.—"During the period from Aug. 15, 1942, to Dec. 29, 1942, Sergt. Botuk has participated in combat missions totaling more than 100 hours."

Staff Sergt. Lewis A. Heinrich, 725 North Harrison street, Saginaw, Mich.—"Participating in aerial flights from the United States to theaters of operation in India and the near east between Aug. 27 and Oct. 31, 1942, as crew member, Sergt. Heinrich exhibited untiring energy, initiative, meticulous care, and a high degree of professional skill during the course of three flights of aircraft to foreign bases. The three flights represented total flying time of 182 hours and were completed without mishap despite the hazards of long overwater travel and the lack of adequate navigation and weather aids in some areas of Africa and India."

Coöperation Praised.

Tech. Sergt. Maynard M. Hatleberg, 1704 Winnebago street, Madison, Wis.—"During the period from Aug. 2, 1942, to Dec. 29, 1942, Sergt. Hatleberg has participated in combat missions totaling more than 100 hours. The accomplishment of his duties on these missions in heavy bombardment aircraft, flown from bases in India and the middle east, and his coöperation with all members of the combat team as an integral and essential part thereof, has contributed materially to the success attending these many operations."

Sergt. William D. Bogert, 85 Monroe street, New Lisbon, Wis.—"During the period from Aug. 15, 1942, to Dec. 29, 1942, Sergt. Bogert has participated in combat missions totaling more than 100 hours. The accomplishment of his duties on these missions in heavy bombardment aircraft, flown from bases in the middle east, and his coöperation with all members of the combat team as an integral and essential part thereof, has contributed materially to the success attending these many operations."

MORE THAN HOLD OUR OWN IN SUB WAR: CHURCHILL

LONDON, April 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill reiterated in the house of commons today that "we are more than holding our own" in the Atlantic battle against Germany's U-boats.

The prime minister was asked by the Laborite Emanuel Shinwell if he had any comment on the statement of Frank Knox, United States secretary of the navy, about heavy shipping losses in March.

He replied: "My attention has been drawn to this statement. I agree with Col. Knox that results of the U-boat warfare are serious, as they always must be. His statement, however, refers to a limited period following one in which sinkings were comparatively small. Viewing the battle against the U-boat as a whole I can repeat my previous assurance that we are more than holding our own."

'LUXURY' PRICES SOAR AS BRITISH GET '44 BUDGET

Wood Asks 20½ Billions; Cigarets 48c a Pack.

LONDON, April 12 (AP).—Chancellor of the Exchequer Kingsley Wood presented Britain with a 1943-44 budget of 20 billion 624 million dollars today to carry the nation into its fifth year of war and proposed that 56 per cent of this amount be raised by taxation with the help of record new levies of luxury items.

The present income tax of about 50 per cent was unchanged.

Much of the tax, 11 billion 628 million dollars of it, will fall on the average man's simple pleasures such as tobacco, beer, whisky, and movies.

Beer 25 Cents a Pint.

If he drinks, he will pay 25 cents for a pint of beer and $5.80 for four-fifths of a quart of whisky—if he can get it. He will have to pay more at the movies, also. The present tax on tickets to movies, theaters, and sporting events ranges from 35 to 50 per cent.

In a move to clamp the lid on luxury buying and thus divert more money to war savings, Wood proposed a record tax of 100 per cent on cosmetics, jewelry, furs, and silk. The tax on these goods previously was 66 2-3 per cent.

The budget, which the chancellor presented to the house of commons, was well received by all parties. Some Laborites complained that the burden of tobacco and beer taxes fell too heavily on the working man, but there was nothing in the nature of an organized protest. The new purchase taxes will go into effect tomorrow.

With nearly 12 billion dollars to be raised by other taxes, Wood proposed to produce the remainder of the budget total by domestic borrowing.

Nation Spends 22½ Billions.

He disclosed that the budget for the last fiscal year had been overspent by 1 billion 404 million dollars and that Britain had borrowed 1 billion 360 million dollars more than was anticipated originally. He listed total expenditures of 22 billion 548 million dollars.

The increase of nearly 2 cents a pint in the beer tax brings the total to about 7 cents. At the same time it was disclosed that the alcoholic content of beer had declined from the pre-war 4 per cent to 2 or 2½ per cent, according to quality.

The tax on pipe tobacco was hiked from 4½ pence to 5 pence an ounce, while the whisky tax was raised by $4 a gallon, making the total $1.75 on four-fifths of a quart.

Taxes on light wines will be boosted to $3 and on heavy wines to $6 a gallon. Increases on long distance telephone calls will range from a penny on distance up to 20 miles to 10 pence on calls over 125 miles.

RESCUE EFFORT FAILS.

A man carrying a draft card in the name of Joseph Adams, 45 years old, of 2130 Iowa street, was pulled from the river beneath the Madison street bridge last night by Policeman Thomas Barrett, who saw him struggling in the water. Firemen sought for a half hour to revive him, but he was dead on arrival at Henrotin hospital.

C-47 TRANSPORT AND LIGHTNING FIGHTER PRAISED

Col. Westlake Tells of Talks with Flyers.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 12.—Col. William Westlake, former Chicago newspaper man, who has just completed a tour of all the fronts for public relations office of the United States army air forces in Washington, D. C., is in London on his way home.

Col. Westlake.

From his talks with flyers and the commanders of air force units in Tunisia he learned that C-47s [transport planes] and P-38s [Lockheed Lightning fighters] are regarded as the most important types of American planes used on that front.

No Difficulty Baling Out.

The C-47s [or DC-3s as they were known when used as air line transports] have given the American forces considerable mobility and the P-38s with their speed, long range, and fighting power have proved popular with the men.

Experience has shown that despite the boom connecting the two tails of the P-38s the flyers are experiencing no difficulty in baling out safely if necessary. Complaints originally were made that the rear boom would catch the flyers as they jumped out.

Westlake emphasized that B-17s and B-24s [Flying Fortresses and Liberators] have proved most effective bombers on all fronts.

The purpose of Westlake's tour was to speed the flow of news thru all channels to the American public and to the factories. He left the United States on Feb. 28 over the Pacific route.

Commands 600 Officers.

Westlake came out of the last war a second lieutenant in the air force, became a first lieutenant in the army reserve, and joined the 108th observer squadron of the Illinois National Guard. He still held this rank when the war broke out, but then was immediately given a captaincy and called to Washington to take charge of the planning and liaison section of the American air force public relations office and to command 600 public relations officers all over the world exclusive of Washington.

At one time he reported for THE TRIBUNE and other Chicago newspapers. He intends to return to the United States shortly. His mother lives at 401 Fullerton parkway, Chicago.

Berne Says Italy Dries Up Its Beer Drinking Civilians

BERNE, Switzerland, April 12 (AP).—Beer no longer will be made in Italy for civilian needs, it was reported today. What little can be made with limited raw materials will be distributed to the army.

REDS KILL 2,000 IN HAND TO HAND TRENCH BATTLE

Germans Attack Near Leningrad.

LONDON, April 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—German troops launched five heavy attacks Monday at soviet lines before Volkhovo, 80 miles southeast of Leningrad, and were beaten back in a bitter flare-up of hand-to-hand fighting on this long-quiescent northern sector of the Russian front, Moscow reported today.

All the attacks were flung back, the last one by a Soviet counterblow, and the Germans left more than 2,000 dead on the fields and in the trenches after fighting so bloody that prisoners were listed as only "several dozen," by the midnight communique.

Drive Wedge Into Red Lines.

The waves of German infantry swarmed from the long-established trenches five times in assaults against Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces, with the last charge, supported by heavy artillery fire, driving a wedge into Russian lines.

"Our men flung the enemy back by a counterblow and completely restored the former situation," said the communique, adding that all the Germans' subsequent stabs also were repulsed.

"According to incomplete data," it continued, "over 2,000 bodies of German officers and men were counted on the battlefield and in trenches where hand-to-hand fighting had taken place. Several dozen Hitlerites were taken prisoner. Trophies captured included three guns, 46 machine guns, nine radio transmitters, a large quantity of rifles and other war materials."

The Volkhovo sector has been quiet for months, but the German attacks brought some of the heaviest fighting reported in recent days.

Battle Along Donetz.

The Germans continued their attacks against soviet positions along the thaw bogged west bank of the Donetz below Balakleya, with 160 Germans reported killed. The Germans drove at one point into the advanced lines of soviet defenses, but were turned back by a counter-assault, the bulletin said.

On the Smolensk front, 200 more Germans were killed as Russian artillery and machine gun fire peppered Nazi positions in an attempt to clear the way for further advances.

The Moscow radio reported that 25 German planes were shot down by Russian flyers and anti-aircraft batteries in an attempted raid on Krasnodar in the western Caucasus. Five Russian planes were lost, it was said.

In a raid on Russian held Kursk, 120 miles north of Kharkov, the Germans lost nine planes to the Russians' two.

The German high command, dealing with the eastern front in only one paragraph of its communique, said two Russian battalions were destroyed in fighting northwest of Izyum on the Donetz line.

Keeping up the aerial offensive, Russian planes destroyed or damaged 30 German troop and supply trucks, blew up ammunition dumps, and silenced artillery batteries, the midnight communique said.

The midnight bulletin said Russian scouts in the Belgorad area commanded by Junior Lt. Pivovarov blew up two dugouts and killed 30 Germans behind the enemy lines, seized documents and returned.

Used Police Cars to Balk Foe, Says Premier Conant

TORONTO, Ont., April 12 (AP).—Premier Conant told the Ontario legislature's public accounts committee today that threats against his life and the lives of his family in 1941 led him to use provincial police cars and drivers on numerous occasions. The premier appeared to make a statement in connection with evidence that during the last fiscal year he and his family had used police cars 360 times.

ARMY'S SUPPLY DEPOT FIGHTS ON FOOD FRONT

Best Fare Obtainable Goes for Soldiers.

(This is the second of a series of stories describing what happens to a man when he is drafted into the army and how he is supplied with food and clothing and the arms and ammunition with which to fight.)

BY HARRY McCLAIN.

United States army officers are convinced the war will be won by the nations which supply their fighters with the most and the best food and equipment. It is the task of the quartermaster corps to supply the soldier with everything he requires except combat equipment.

Located in Chicago, market and shipping center of the United States, is one of the biggest quartermaster depots in the country, one of four which buy and ship nonperishable food and equipment and one of the 30 market centers which provide fresh or perishable food for the nation's rapidly expanding army.

The depot, housed in three six-story block-long buildings in Pershing road, contains space not only for storage of vast quantities of supplies but also room for laboratories in which every type of army food is tested and classrooms for training quartermaster officers for work in the field with troop units.

Room for 72 Rail Cars.

Each building of the depot contains four railroad tracks with room for six cars on each track—a total of 72 cars entirely indoors where weather cannot affect loading or unloading.

A railroad just outside the government property contains storage space for hundreds more cars and connects with 28 trunk lines which terminate in Chicago. So efficient is the storage in the Chicago quartermaster depot that a car may be loaded, sealed, and on its way to a trunk line five hours after receipt of an order for it.

Some idea of the activity in the quartermaster depot may be gained from its March records. During the month 654 cars and 6,176 truckloads of freight came into the depot. In the same time 1,090 cars and 2,000 truckloads were shipped out. The total volume of freight reached 928,872,226 pounds.

Laboratory Tests Food.

In addition to freight and truck shipments, large quantities of supplies are shipped from Chicago by railway express, and when even greater speed is a factor shipments running into tons are dispatched by air transport on coast to coast planes which pass thru Chicago several times daily.

Because food is the most vital of the soldier's needs, great attention is given to seeing that what he gets is of the highest quality and is the most effective in sustaining him. For this reason the Chicago quartermaster depot operates an extensive laboratory where army and civilian chemists experiment constantly with food of all types.

The army gives much of its laboratory attention to the subject of vitamins. Foods are prepared to determine which method retains the greatest amount of vitamins and methods are found to fortify those from which vitamins are lost thru processing. This is especially true of flour.

5½ Pounds of Food a Day.

To keep the soldier at his greatest efficiency the army attempts to provide him each day with 5½ pounds of food, so varied as to have a standard caloric or energy producing value. Soldiers in training in the United States and those overseas, where possible, get what is known as field ration "A," containing fresh meat and soft bread. When ration "A" cannot be served overseas, ration "B," containing canned meat and hard bread, is substituted.

For troops in the field and away from a company mess there is a 30 pound carton of canned and dehydrated food which will feed five men three times daily, and the soldier in combat who cannot cook the food he must carry in his pack has another completely sustaining ration known as "K."

Laboratories Test Items.

Other laboratories in the Chicago quartermaster depot test some of the items the army buys. These include beds, locker trunks, paper, string, thread, mops, and miscellaneous items. A coffee roasting department turns out 30,000 pounds of the finest blend daily for shipment to troops in the middle west so that each man's 40 cups a month reach him fresh and in full aroma.

The function of the veterinarian school operated in the Chicago depot is to train army officers in the inspection of food. Every post and station has an officer charged with the duty of passing upon the food shipped to his station to make sure that it arrives in the condition in which it left the shipping point where earlier inspection determined its fitness for army use.

[Veterinarians in years gone by were engaged principally in caring for the army's horses and mules. With declining use of draft animals and increased use of mechanization, their education in animal husbandry was turned to inspecting all army food which comes from animals. Graduates of only 10 United States colleges and one Canadian college are recognized by the army.]

Stores Guarded Scrupulously.

Extreme care is taken to guard the military stores, the value of which reaches almost astronomical figures. Every person entering or leaving the building is inspected closely to see that nothing is carried away. Guards [civilian] are changed each month to prevent them from becoming friendly with warehouse workers.

As an extra precaution in guarding the warehouses during the night, a canine corps of eight dogs has been added.

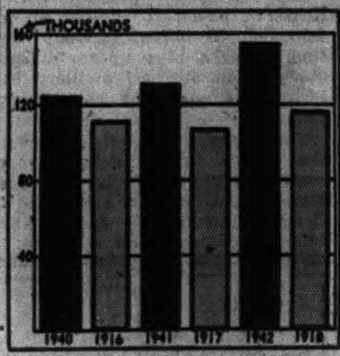
Birth Records



Illinois births in two wars compared by years.

Springfield, Ill., April 12 (AP).—The 1921 record of 150,715 live births in Illinois was surpassed in 1942, when 154,048 were reported, state department of public health reports showed today.

The excess of births over 86,708 reported deaths gave a state population increase of 67,240, double the average annual excess noted during the last 10 years.

The infant death rate per 1,000 live births decreased from 34 to 33, and the maternal death rate fell from 2.41 per 1,000 live births to 1.84. Both are new lows.

AMELIA EARHART SLAIN BY JAPS, EDUCATOR FEARS

Atlanta, Ga., April 12 (AP).—M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology, says there was a surmise among some navy men that Amelia Earhart Putnam, who disappeared on a equatorial flight around the world in 1937, fell into the hands of Japanese and was put to death.

Dr. Brittain made public this view before a Sunday school class he teaches at the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. He said his remarks had no official connection and their source arose during the summer of 1937 when he accompanied a Georgia Tech naval R. O. T. C. unit on a training course.

"At the time of the misfortune," Brittain said, "those of us on the ship, which was sent on a search for the missing plane, talked of the possibilities of Miss Earhart having fallen into the hands of the Japanese. We knew that all governments were worried about reports that Japan was heavily fortifying islands over which she had no mandates.

"We knew, too, that Amelia Earhart had been asked to take a look over these islands and see if the Japanese were unlawfully and against international law building landing fields."

OUST BUNGLERS FROM OFFICE, 'RICK' DEMANDS

Racketeers Peril Victory, Ohio Legislature Told.

Columbus, O., April 12 [Special]. —In an impassioned plea before the Ohio legislature, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker tonight urged the lawmakers to help eliminate the incompetents in government, the racketeers in labor, and the "patrioteers" in industry to save the lives of American soldiers.

"They are destroyers of time and their measure is the dollar," he declared. "Mine is the lives of American boys and the preservation of a decent democracy.

"Because I think I know what the boys are fighting for, because I do know what fighting means, I am here fighting to back them up. Beyond that there is nothing of material value which any man has on the face of this globe that I want."

Time Called Greatest Handicap.

The hero of two wars observed that America's greatest handicap is time—the years the axis had to prepare, "the years we knowingly and deliberately shipped our scrap iron and steel to Japan, fully conscious that it was being used to prepare for war."

"Did you ever stop to consider this?" he asked. "Congress can appropriate all the billions of dollars that the President, the army, and the navy can spend, but congress can't appropriate 30 minutes of time.

"There are men among you old enough to understand what I mean when I say there were men killed Nov. 11, 1918—after 11 a. m.—killed because the news of the armistice had not reached them in time. That is the price of war—a given number of men killed every hour and every day that a war continues.

Victory to Spell Saving.

"And by the same token, every hour, day, week, and month that we shorten the time it takes us to win can be measured in the lives of American boys, maybe your own sons, fathers, or husbands, who will not be killed because victory will be gained that much sooner.

"Perhaps now you understand better why I am urging you to eliminate the incompetents in government, the racketeers in labor, the patrioteers in industry, all those whose objective is greedy, grasping, selfish, personal gain."

Rickenbacker observed that American fighting forces have been placed at points virtually thruout the world and added that "at every one of those points, sooner or later, there is a war to be fought and battles to be won."

U. S. Termed Real Arsenal.

"That is why it is going to take 15 million American men and 3 million women in uniform to win this war," he said. "For we have the only remaining 'plus' in fighting man power among the allied nations. Truly we are the war arsenal of democracy.

"One of our greatest underlying menaces at the moment is too much optimism, the assurance that Germany is going to crack, that she can't stand up much longer under the economic strain. O, how short is the memory of man.

"Back in 1914, when a short war was prophesied, Germany had not prepared economically for 10 years or more. She was surrounded by an iron ring, Rumania, Russia, France, and Belgium. The Low Countries, the Scandinavian countries, and Spain were pro-allied or neutral. Italy and Japan were against her.

Greater Power Described.

"Germany had to draw almost entirely on her own nation for fighting resources. And yet the war lasted four long, hard years, and ended only when our forces and our resources were thrown into the balance on the allied side.

"Against that, what have we today? Germany has conquered France, Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, The Netherlands, Greece, Poland, and Norway. These conquered nations are supplying her with slave labor, and their resources are being sapped ruthlessly for war materials and maintenance of German fighting forces.

"Rick" Asks Some Questions.

"Japan alone, thru combat in the first seven months of her war effort against us, has captured more resources in the South Pacific than we can boast of having available for our own war effort and that of our allies. In addition, the Japs have captured millions of human beings who are now slave labor for them and against us.

"With that kind of picture before you, what kind of war do you think we have on our hands and how long do you think it is going to last? What kind of a war effort do you think we should make?

"What do you think should be done about incompetent government officials, profiteers and racketeers, and any one else who is blocking the road which leads to the end of this war?

"War, of necessity, demands a certain amount of centralized control of business, industry, and agriculture, as well as of the fighting forces. But when such control and authority is given, let it be given to men at least equal, if not superior, in ability and executive capacity to the industrial leaders they are to command.

Labor Radicals Cited.

"That isn't true today. In too many instances the accomplishments of industry—and there have been tremendous accomplishments—have been made despite centralized government control and not because of it.

"So, likewise, have millions of men and women of labor accomplished heroic production records in spite of the interference of radical labor officials."

Asserting that America was built by men who were willing to work, the flyer urged: "Give us back that old fashioned incentive and love of country, and we will produce enough war weapons to turn hell upside down on the heads of Hitler, Tojo, and Mussolini."

He suggested that legislators outlaw strikes for the duration, suspend the 40 hour week and make it a 48 hour week nationally and without overtime, put workers on an incentive or bonus basis so those who produce more will earn more, and suspend the closed shop and dues checkoff system in all plants handling war contracts.

Fund Responsibility Urged.

He also advised forcing unions to incorporate so they would have the same legal and financial responsibility as other organizations or businesses, that they make full accountings of funds and money paid to officers, that excessive fees and dues be prohibited, and that unions be prohibited from making political contributions to politicians or political parties.

Recalling the attacks made on him, especially by certain labor leaders, Rickenbacker said he had been accused of "pretending to speak for the soldiers at the front."

"God knows it's about time some one started speaking for them," he said. "And there is no pretense about it. I come to you from lands of hastily dug graves and from the hospitals where men and boys, crippled and maimed, lie in torment and suffering.

"Members of the Ohio legislature: Is there one of you who, having seen these things with his own two eyes, would not come back as I have come, determined to rouse his fellow Americans to a complete understanding of the realities of war?"

Oh, Yeah?

Let's go back in '43

Just ninety years ago Commodore Perry, on behalf of our government, welcomed Japan into the society of nations. America thus struck the bonds of feudalism from a nation which has repaid that act of decency with ruthless hatred; which through the following nine decades has single-mindedly plotted the destruction of its benefactors; and which, on "a day that will live in infamy," committed its ultimate act of supreme treachery.

Now let's go back to Japan—with the only kind of message these "people" understand. Let's go back with our warships—yes and planes and bombs as well—to imprint a lesson on the Japanese mind, and on that of the other Axis would-be conquerors of free men, that they will not forget in the lifetimes of their great-grandchildren—and ours.

To help attain that most desirable end, The Home Insurance Company, having been founded in the same year as Commodore Perry's expedition, is celebrating today its Ninetieth Birthday by making the following additional modest contribution to the Second War Loan Drive and succeeding War Loans from April 13th, our anniversary date, to the end of this year:

All new gross premiums collected on fire and other policies that the Company writes in the period April 13th-December 31st will be invested in War Loan Bonds. These purchases will be OVER and ABOVE the normal government bond purchases which the Company will continue to make.

With the weapons of victory that only continuous War Bond buying by all of us makes possible—

NEW U. S. BOMB PIERCES DECKS OF BATTLESHIP

High Level Attacks Held Almost Useless.

Detroit, Mich., April 12 (AP).—An armor piercing bomb that can drive thru the decks of a battleship and explode in her interior was described today by Rear Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the navy bureau of ordnance, in an address before the Detroit Economic club.

Adm. W. H. P. Blandy.

He said it is the answer to the problem of sinking heavily armored battleships and is designed especially for the job.

But, he continued, explosive power must be sacrificed to attain the ability to drive thru half a foot of armor.

Accuracy Termed Difficult.

"Principal features [of the new bomb] are a delayed action fuse, a very thick wall, and heavy nose, and consequently a small bursting charge," he said.

"It must have plenty of striking velocity. The latter can be achieved only by dropping from high altitude or by diving at extremely high speed. In either case, accuracy is difficult to achieve."

He asserted high altitude bombing "has proved almost useless against ships maneuvering in the open sea at high speed," and declared dive bombing is the best method for attacking well armed ships.

Special Planes Required.

"Of course you must have planes specially built for it or they won't stand the terrific stresses of the pullout," he said. "The planes push over at altitudes high enough to afford fair protection from the ships' guns, take advantage of cloud cover or a brilliant sun if available, and come down like a bat out of hell at an angle as steep as 70 degrees in the final dive."

Blandy said light-case bombs with their higher explosive charge cannot sink a battleship but can cause severe damage to communications equipment, exposed stations, lighter anti-aircraft batteries and can pierce light upper decks and start fires. He said the same bombs "can sink lighter types of naval vessels and transports and cargo ships."

Despite the new armor-piercing bomb, he said that to sink ships "it's always better to let water into them instead of air. That's where the torpedo comes in handy."

5,000 Parts in Torpedo.

He told of the torpedoes being made of 5,000 parts and intricate assemblies which can withstand a drop from a plane at high speed and guide the "tin fish" on its course at pre-determined depths depending on the type of vessel attacked.

"All navies recognize the serious menace of the torpedo plane and see to it that its efforts are not ignored," he said.

He told also of advances in armament of surface ships, notably in fire control devices which mechanically determine the aiming point and elevation of the big guns.

"A fire controlman in the foretop," he explained, "operates a sort of super-gunsight called a director, which follows the target and transmits the data electrically to a plotting room well below decks, where highly complex instruments evaluate all variables involved, mostly automatically, and transmit them electrically to the turrets. With this system it is not necessary for the men at the guns to see the enemy ship at all."

Air Arms Rated First.

Blandy termed battleship big guns the most powerful naval weapon, but added "I did not say the most useful." In that class he placed the airplane bombs and torpedoes, submarine torpedoes, depth charges, and anti-aircraft guns.

"Our battleship big gun has thus far seen little day action in this war," he said. "You can blame the Japs for that. They are not inclined to engage in a battleship fight."

He said the battleship itself is certain to evolve as methods of war change — "she may turn into a tough carrier with no heavy guns. She may even leave the sea—if and when all other ships do—and then men will see battleships of the air. But till then, there always will be some type of ship upon the ocean incorporating the battleship principle, which is that of the maximum combination of hitting power and staying power."

Slow Engines Hold Up Ships; U-Boats Take Lives of 5,100

Hulls Lack Motors

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Marine engines and marine machinery are the bottleneck in the shipbuilding program, it was learned today as shipping continued to be regarded by allied leaders as the major problem of the war.

Hulls are moving satisfactorily for creation of the fleet which is vital to promised invasions of Europe and for carrying supplies around the world, but there is a shortage of engines.

Speed Increases Safety.

There are not enough turbines, Diesels and reciprocating engines. There is also a lag in production of pumps, generators, gearing, condensers and boilers.

With sufficient engines, ships could be made fast enough so that the submarine menace could be eluded. Vessels which make above 15 knots are not torpedoed nearly as often as slower ships.

The Liberty freighter, which makes from 10 to 11 knots, is an easy prey for submarines. These ships of 10,800 deadweight tons have a shaft horsepower of 2,500. About 1,600 of these ships are to be built by the end of the year.

More Power Required.

The C-3 is much faster. It makes 16½ knots. But in order to get the extra speed of only a few knots, it requires more than three times the shaft horsepower of the Liberty ship or 8,500 shaft horsepower. The C-3 type ships are powered with Diesels and turbines, more difficult to build than reciprocating engines.

Most merchant vessels have speeds of only 6 to 9 knots.

To increase speeds there must be a great increase in the engine power. The number of boilers and the size of fuel tanks must be increased, which means a loss of cargo space.

2,720 Are Missing

New York, April 12 (AP).—The submarine infested western Atlantic has taken the lives of at least 5,100 men as a result of the announced loss of 645 allied and neutral vessels in those waters since Pearl Harbor.

Seventy-three persons were added to the casualty list last week with the announced destruction of three United States cargo ships. This loss is higher than in previous weeks.

Figures compiled today reveal 5,100 seamen have been listed as dead and 2,720 missing, with most of the latter considered lost.

New Sinking Announced.

The ship toll was brought to 645 today with a navy announcement that a British freighter had been torpedoed and sunk last month off the northern coast of South America. Survivors were landed in Miami, Fla.

Sinkings announced thus far this year show that 1,075 men on American ships have given their lives in the last three months in an effort to keep the allied supply lines open.

199 Sunk Off East Coast.

The total number of seamen lost off American merchantmen since Sept. 27, 1941, stands at 1,671 dead and 2,989 missing.

The axis U-boat attack which sent a United States vessel to the bottom early this month, as announced last week, marked the 199th allied and neutral vessel sunk off the eastern coast. A British merchantman, lost last August, previously had been the last announced sinking off the coast.

Associated Press figures of announced sinkings reveal that 255 of the 645 merchant ships sunk in the western Atlantic belonged to the United States. Great Britain's announced merchant losses in the same waters total 126.

ARRAIGN THREE IN NORTH SHORE KIDNAP ROBBERY

Raymond Weglowski, Robert Kravish and Richard Schenold, who kidnapped and robbed two north shore youths and a girl on March 31, were arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro of the Criminal court on robbery charges as police continued search for their fugitive pals, John Bohencha and Joe Jakuder. A further hearing will be held tomorrow.

All five are charged with two larcenies and a robbery in Chicago, and a robbery and a larceny in Lake county. The north shore victims were Helen Priebe, Kent Clow Jr. and Thomas Armour. It is planned to try the hoodlums first in Chicago, then in Waukegan.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said every effort is being made to capture Bohencha and Jakuder. Sullivan declared that the parole board "ought to try to help find Bohencha," then cited the latter's reoord in explanation. Bohencha, also known as Bodenchak, is 23 years old, and a native of Germany. In 1937 he received a 60 day Bridewell sentence for larceny, and in 1938 was placed on probation for larceny. In 1940 he was charged with two street robberies, but one charge was dropped, the other was changed to larceny, and he was sentenced to prison. He was paroled only last Jan. 18.

NORDEN AID SAYS NAZI BOMBSIGHT IS 'CUMBERSOME'

Unworried Over Germans Getting U. S. Device.

New York, April 12 [Special].—Theodore H. Barth, president of Carl L. Norden, Inc., said today in an interview with the World-Telegram that captured German bombsights still are "complicated and cumbersome" and "something we cannot conceive of being put into so-called mass production."

"It would seem," he said, "that the Germans have abandoned the idea of solving pinpoint or precision bombing and just said 'to hell with it' and decided to stick to mass area bombing." The secret of the famed Norden bombsight still is safe from our enemies, he said.

The Norden company will receive the army-navy E tomorrow. The pennant will be the third the firm has won.

Barth expressed no worry over the probability that by now the Germans have examined a Norden bombsight.

Would Be Tough Task.

"Even if they were given the blueprints," he said, "it would still take them a year and a half to tool up. Then they would have to teach people how to use the tools. Then their troubles would begin. It is comparatively easy to build two or three bombsights. To get sizable production takes a terrific effort."

And building the bombsight is only half the job.

"It took our army and navy nearly 10 years of organized schooling—all this before Pearl Harbor, mind you—to educate what was then believed to be a sufficient number of men to use and maintain the bombsight, only to find at the outset of the war that this was only a small fraction of the number that was required. Even today it takes us eight months to train maintenance men.

Experience Is Vital.

"It was for these reasons—more than anything else—that we were reluctant to have any of our allies have the Norden bombsight. Because without adequately trained bomber and ground crews they would not have been able to obtain any better results than they were getting by mass area bombing—at least for a long time. Accuracy in precision bombing increases in direct ratio to experience. Like pistol practice, you have to keep everlastingly at it.

"I'm certain that if the Germans could have, they would have made an effort to duplicate our bombsight by now."

Barth and Norden were consultant engineers for the navy when the latter invented the bombsight in 1923. Norden, a wealthy man, is connected with the firm that bears his name only as a consultant. The navy is the firm's only customer—at present to the extent of contracts totaling a half billion dollars. The army obtains its bombsights from the navy.

YOUTH ESCAPES FLAT AS OWNER DIES OF WOUNDS

Rudolph Gehrke, 45 years old, was stabbed and wounded fatally last night in his basement apartment at 5639 South Hermitage avenue by a youth who knocked a neighbor down in making his escape.

The neighbor, John Allen, a postman, who lives in the apartment above Gehrke, told police he heard moans, and investigated. He found Gehrke leaning over a sink in his apartment. Gehrke motioned to him, he said, and as he entered the door he was knocked down by a youth he said was about 16 years old who was clad in a green suit.

Gehrke called to Allen as he entered to "Get the cops. Call a doctor. Stop that boy!"

Allen called Chicago Lawn police. Gehrke was dead when they arrived. Gehrke owned the two apartment building in which the slaying occurred.

DRAFT TO TAKE ALL PHYSICALLY FIT THIS YEAR

Illinois Quotas Are Cut for April and May.

Reclassification of draft registrants ordered yesterday by the bureau of selective service of the war man power commission leaves unchanged the fundamental fact that all physically fit men between the ages of 18 and 37, with few exceptions, will be in military service by the end of 1943, according to Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission.

The order that makes a child born on or before Sept. 14, 1942, a reason for dependency deferment simply delays induction of fathers thruout the country to insure that all single men, men with collateral dependents, and childless married men are placed under arms first.

The only physically fit men who will not be in the military service by the end of 1943 will be an estimated 3,200,000 deferred for occupational reasons or because induction would work undue hardship upon their dependents, McNutt said in Washington yesterday.

Move's Effect in Illinois.

He added that present plans of the army and navy to have 10,800,000 men in uniform by Dec. 31 virtually would exhaust the nation's available pool of military man power. He estimated that 1⅛ million of those deferred would be essential farm workers, the remainder key men in industry or "hardship" cases.

A reduction in the Illinois draft quotas for April and May will result in delaying the induction of 7,675 1-A draft registrants for a few weeks or slightly longer. Because of lack of training facilities the April and May quotas for Illinois have been cut approximately 25 per cent. Illinois sent 30,700 men into the military services thru the draft in March.

Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, chief of the 6th service command, disclosed the reduction in draft quotas for Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan yesterday at his monthly staff conference.

Revision of draft classifications does not alter the rule that dependency acquired after Dec. 8, 1941, provides no reason for draft deferment and a child born on or after Sept. 15, 1942, is presumed to have been conceived after Dec. 8, 1941.

Hardship Phase Analyzed.

In granting draft deferment to registrants because their induction would cause extreme hardship or privation to dependents, the selective service office informed local boards this could include only such persons as a childless husband of an invalid or a single man who cares for a widowed, invalid mother. In both cases, a bona fide family relationship must be maintained.

More than half the 14 million physically fit men of the country already are in the army and navy. If the remaining men, less the 3,200,000 occupational and hardship deferments, do not meet the man power demands of the army and navy, the only course left will be to lower the physical standards or raise the age limits and take men who have passed their 38th birthday.

Permission to draft fathers will be given simultaneously in all states, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, said yesterday.

Class 3-B Eliminated.

One of the principal changes in the revision of draft classifications was elimination of class 3-B, men with dependents engaged in activities essential to the war. These men will be reclassified in either 1-A, 2-B, 2-A, or 3-A. Those in 1-A are available to immediate induction, according to their order number. Those in 2-A and 2-B are under deferment for six months at a time and their cases will be reviewed on their merits at the expiration of the deferment period. Fathers make up the 3-A class.

Men in class 2-A are deferred because they are deemed necessary in national health or safety in their civilian occupations: medicine, dentistry, other scientific occupations, communications, and transportation services.

Class 2-B men are essential workers engaged in war production. Both class 2-A and 2-B men are deferred only until some person not liable for military service can be trained to fill their places.

Deferment Rolls Disclosed.

McNutt said yesterday that industry would have to make more and more replacements with men physically unfit for military service, men above military age, and women.

Deferments, Gen. Hershey disclosed, as of April 1 included 309,000 in 2-A, necessary men in civilian industry, 638,000 in 2-B, necessary in war production; 508,000 in 2-C, farm workers without dependents, and 270,000 3-C farm workers with dependents.

In addition, there are 2,539,000 men in 4-F, deferred because of mental, moral, or physical unfitness; 6,800,000 in 3-A, and 1,833,000 in 3-B, who will be reclassified.

ASSEMBLY TO FIGHT FOR INDEPENDENCE OF PUERTO RICANS

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, April 12 (AP)—The Puerto Rican assembly voted yesterday to establish a permanent organization to campaign here and in Washington, D. C., for support of the Tydings bill for complete independence.

Dr. Juan Agosto Perea was named provisional head of the organization and was expected to leave shortly for Washington. Felix Benitez Rexach, Puerto Rican engineer now residing in New York, also was chosen as a delegate for the organization in the United States.

Ardent nationalist elements succeeded in pushing thru the assembly a resolution directing that a request be sent to President Roosevelt for immediate release of Pedro Albizu Campos, former nationalist party president, who was sentenced to 10 years in Atlanta prison in 1937 for conspiring to overthrow American rule.

Eastern Germany Bombed; Hint Raiders Are Russians

LONDON, April 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, reported today that "enemy" planes were over northeast Germany last night. The lack of any British announcement concerning R. A. F. activity over Germany during the night indicated strongly that they were Russian. Last Saturday night the Russian air force heavily raided Koenigsberg in northeast Germany.

Capt. K. E. George, Chicago Flyer, Awarded Medal

Luke Field, Ariz, April 12 (AP).—Capt. Kenneth E. George, 25 years old, Chicago, was awarded the air medal today for leading the fighter protection in a bombing raid on Kiska Island, where the Japs have a toe hold on the Aleutians. He shot down one Zero and dispersed other enemy flyers Oct. 2, 1942. He has destroyed three other Japanese aircraft. George has been assigned to Luke field.

AURAND SPURS HIS OFFICERS TO SPEED WORK

Wants More WAACs and Less 'Formality.'

Striving for maximum efficiency, Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, chief of the 6th service command, told his staff and the commanders of all posts, stations, and separate regiments yesterday some of their shortcomings. He wants these things accomplished:

1. More WAAC recruits.
2. Faster replacement of general service men with limited service men.
3. Prompt submission of routine reports.
4. Less formality about the use of elevators in the Civic Opera building, headquarters of the command.

WAAC recruiting, Gen. Aurand said, is only one sixth what it should be. With a quota of 13,750 in the three states which make up the command — Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan—for the second quarter of the year, 192 WAAC recruits must be obtained six days every week. Recruiting for the first 10 days in April has provided only 30 a day, 10 less than the March average.

Officers Get Warning.

Officers of troop age — various ages for the different grades — were warned that they would be transferred out of the command and replaced by second lieutenants from the army's administration school as soon as possible. Many young company officers will be sent to duty in the field by July.

Gen. Aurand told the commanders that they must survey their camps, posts, and stations constantly to see which men fit for general service can be replaced by limited service men or WAACs.

Headquarters is scattered over seven floors of the Civic Opera building. Constant use of elevators is necessary by military and civilian personnel.

Advocates Promptness.

Gen. Aurand said too much time was lost in the formality of bowing to rank in entering and leaving elevators and politeness to women employés. Hereafter he wants all employés to be "just people" in the elevators, entering and leaving promptly.

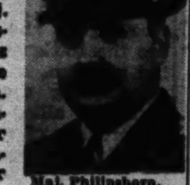
Removal of headquarters from the postoffice to the opera building has been completed. Housed there are the staff officers who direct various departments of the command, the military intelligence division, internal security division, public relations, and a completely equipped dispensary for Chicago military personnel and civilian employés. It also provides medical care for the dependents of military personnel at headquarters.

THIEVES GET 14 PAIRS OF SHOES.

Thieves stole 14 pairs of shoes, 75 pairs of socks, and a quantity of shoe polish from a Father and Son store at 3441 West 26th street, the manager reported yesterday to police.

HERO SON JUST ONE OF BOYS, FATHER INSISTS

Martin Philipsborn, 70 East Goethe street, executive vice president of Zion Industries, Inc., in Zion, is the father of a hero, but a modest father. His hero son is Maj. Martin Philipsborn Jr., 34 years old, with the army in Tunisia.



Maj. Philipsborn.

"Why seek unusual praise for my son," commented the elder Philipsborn yesterday. "He's just one of the many boys over there." All Philipsborn would admit was that his son had received three American citations and the French croix de guerre.

However, the major's achievements were learned elsewhere. One was his capture of four officers and 30 men from a disabled German submarine which went aground on the Tunisian coast. Another was the building of good will among the French by issuing ammunition to captured French soldiers with which to fire a salute to their dead commander.

"CHALK US UP WITH Another Assist"

HIS graying hair indicated years of service, but as he climbed down from the engine cab he moved as quickly as a youngster. "Jim," he said to his fireman, "we've hauled many a load of valuable freight but none more important than this war material." Then with a twinkle in his eye he added, "Back in our baseball days we were credited with many an 'assist.' Now they can chalk us up with a lot more . . . for Uncle Sam."

And "Uncle" does so gladly. Most everyone in America is aware of the job the railroads are doing in transporting vital materials. As in baseball's brilliant infield play, transportation "assists" call for exact timing, unusual precision and close cooperation.

The nation's network of railroads, extending from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, functions today as a single unit. Iron ore from Duluth, cotton from the South, lumber from the Pacific Northwest—the railroads flow them into the great industrial plants where they undergo the Miracle of Change—to become guns and tanks, planes and ships.

"North Western's" divisions of the Transportation Army consist of some 32,000 men and women, all doing their best to speed the day of victory. To that end every war-hauling job is being handled quickly and efficiently, and will continue to be handled that way provided we get an adequate supply of materials to keep our equipment in perfect condition.

DEMANDS HOUSE ACT NOW TO FIX PAY AS GO TAX

Leader of G. O. P. Files Recall Petition.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Immediate passage of a pay-as-you-go tax bill to be placed in operation by July 1 was demanded in the house today by Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., the minority leader. Numerous congressmen joined in the demand in an unscheduled debate during which Martin and Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee shouted at each other until neither could be understood.

Martin moved to bring pay-as-you-go tax legislation before the house for a vote again by filing a petition discharging the ways and means committee from further consideration of the bill. A bill can be removed from committee by the signature of 218 members. Martin is hopeful that enough members willing to support a compromise abatement plan, added to supporters of the Ruml plan for abatement of all 1942 taxes will sign the petition and assure its success.

The pay-as-you-go tax bill, sent back to the ways and means committee March 20 for further consideration, was brought up by Rep. Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.] who warned that the house would have no Easter recess unless some agreement on taxes was reached.

Offers Withholding Tax Bill.

"Last Friday," replied Doughton, "I received a letter signed by several Democratic members requesting me not to delay action on the income tax legislation. Nothing could be further from my purpose. The recent action of the house on the Ruml plan and the committee tax bill is well known.

"Both contain identical provisions as to a withholding tax. The controversial question of tax forgiveness will require lengthy consideration and will doubtless create delay. If the leadership on both sides of the house will get behind a program for a simple withholding measure, I shall be glad to introduce such a bill."

Demands Complete Job.

Rep. Martin was on his feet in an instant.

"The gentleman," he said, "wants to pass simply that part of the legislation of which he is in favor and leave out what the rest of the country is demanding.

Rep. Martin said he thought the whole question of tax withholding and forgiveness of taxes should be considered at once. Otherwise, he said, 20 per cent would be taken from the wage earners in a withholding tax, and they would be subject to double taxation in one year if no forgiveness were voted.

"In the light of what has happened in the last 10 days, this house understands the situation a little more thoroly than it did when the bill was before us.

McCormack Tells Stand.

Rep. John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], the majority leader, then took the floor.

"There is no such thing as a complete pay-as-you-go policy that can be written into law. All we can do is apply it to those who get salaries or wages.

"It seems to me the sound legislative thing to do, recognizing the importance of getting the pay-as-you-go plan into operation by July 1, not only from the government angle but from the angle of controling inflation, is to get the controversial matters out of the way first."

Rep. Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.] then told of the Democratic stand at a ways and means committee meeting earlier in the day.

"There is a terrific demand on the part of the country," he said, "that we enact a pay-as-you-go current tax bill. I moved to defer action on the trade agreement bill in the ways and means committee today until we could report a pay-as-you-go bill.

"The committee tabled the motion, 16 to 9, the majority side and one Republican voting to table it and nine Republicans voting against tabling it."

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, today indorsed vacations for industrial workers this year as helpful to war production.

TIDE OF FIGHTING MONEY ROLLS IN FOR WAR CHEST

Need 70 Billions

New York, April 12 [Special].—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, in a speech in Carnegie hall formally launching the 13 billion dollar war bond drive, said tonight that the government must borrow a total of 70 billion dollars this year, exclusive of any new taxes. During April the government must get 13 billion dollars, he said, bringing the total for the first four months of the year to 20 billions. About 25 billions more will be needed during the second four months, and still another 25 billions during the final four months, Morgenthau added. The secretary asserted that "10 per cent is no longer enough money to put into war bonds." He said the financial affairs of the country are "in good condition."

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

A great tide of fighting dollars began rolling out of the midwest toward Washington yesterday. It was the people's response to the second war loan drive, an appeal by the treasury for a loan of at least 13 billion dollars to help finance the war in the next three months.

This tide of funds will be transformed into attack power, eventually to beat against the shores of axis controled lands in Europe and the orient.

Early reports from metropolitan Chicago, downstate Illinois, and the other states comprising the 7th federal reserve district indicated, as they poured into the district offices of C. S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago and district campaign chairman, that the drive in the midwest was running ahead of quota schedules.

An Active Response.

Other districts, in messages to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, reported a similarly active response exceeding that of the opening day of the first war loan last December.

But even as news of large sales of the seven treasury issues used in the drive flowed in, Young, addressing 1,100 campaign workers at a dinner rally which he gave at the Palmer House last night, warned that the amount to be borrowed is so huge that it will require hard work by the 180,000 organized campaigners in the five state district to attain the area's 1 billion 50 million dollar nonbank quota.

The goal for metropolitan Chicago—Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties— is to sell 370 millions to buyers other than banks. Jay N. Whipple, metropolitan drive chairman, reported that the results of the first day were highly satisfactory, with several large subscriptions enabling the metropolitan area to show sales of 115 million dollars, on the basis of preliminary reports. Young said reports from downstate Illinois and the rest of the district likewise were bright.

State Invests $15,000,000.

In Chicago the campaign started with a 15 million dollar purchase of ⅞ per cent treasury certificates by Gov. Dwight H. Green and State Treasurer William Stratton in behalf of the people of Illinois, with money from the state general revenue fund. Gov. Green and Stratton presented the check to Young in a ceremony in the federal reserve bank.

Gov. Green, in a speech, suggested that other states, as well as cities and counties, invest funds in war securities.

"Illinois has never failed to do its share in a national emergency," the governor said. "Its soldier dead and living are a testimonial to the strength of its heritage—the heritage of freedom of a God fearing people."

Stratton said "This investment is a message to the sons and daughters of America in military service that Illinois is backing them up with the supplies they need."

Speakers at last night's dinner included, besides Young, Maj. Albert J. Baumler, an army airman noted for his flying record in China as a "Flying Tiger," and Clarence Randall, vice president of Inland Steel company.

Land Army Head

MISS FLORENCE HALL.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Miss Florence Hall, for the last 15 years an extension field agent for the department of agriculture, was chosen by the department today to head the women's land army of the United States crop corps.

She will have the job of rounding up and directing the 50,000 seasonal crop farmerettes and 10,000 year round workers the department says will be needed this year to help with farm work.

"The women's land army will be doing the real thing," she said.

Born in Port Austin, Mich., she was graduated from Michigan agricultural college. She can milk a cow, and expects many of the land army to learn how, too.

RAP PRESIDENT AS 'DEMAGOGUE' ON SALARY BILL

Plans for Secret Parley Also Hit in House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt was taken to task on two counts in the house today—for reflecting on congress in his statement on its refusal to approve his salary limitation scheme, and for barring the public from the forthcoming allied nations food conference.

Mr. Roosevelt complained on Sunday of congress' action after permitting the bill raising the national debt limitation to become a law without his signature. He declined to sign the bill because congress had attached to it a rider repealing his order against salaries in excess of $25,000.

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] told the house the President's proposal of the $25,000 ceiling on salaries was "political buncombe, deception and demagogy."

Big Exemptions Inferred.

"It infers that the congressmen have let off the rich men in the country in the existing income tax law, which is the law of the land today," the New Yorker said.

Rep. Fish said that none of the high income bracket men can have a net income of more than $30,000 after paying the income tax of 88 per cent in the high brackets, the victory tax and the New York state tax.

"And yet," the New York congressman went on, "the President asked congress to impose a supertax on net incomes from whatever source derived which exceed $25,000 after the payment of all taxes.

"Is it not a fact," asked Rep. James F. O'Connor [D., Mont.] "that the President signed the very law that he now lays on the shoulders of congress?"

"Of course he signed it," Rep. Fish replied. "And that law could not go further to soak the rich."

Called Fourth Term Move.

"I am fearful that such loose and inaccurate statements are made for political purposes to pit class against class as a part of the fourth term ideology."

President Roosevelt came in for more censure from Rep. Chester H. Gross [R., Pa.], originator of the new "lick the platter clean" campaign to save food. Rep. Gross referred to the allied nations food conference to be held May 18 at Hot Springs Va. The press has been excluded from all but the opening and closing sessions.

"I cannot understand the attitude of the President," Rep. Gross said, "in wanting to bar the public from this world food conference. I wonder if it is simply a case of the President's stubbornness, and whether he has gotten to like a closed meeting since Casablanca?

"I think the President ought to throw wide open the gates. And we ought to know the facts."

The Neighbors By George Clark

"I believe I'll call him up, Mom! He used to ask me for dates, and maybe he's forgotten that I always turned him down because he worked in a garage and couldn't get his fingernails clean."

DUKE, THE DOG, GETS ANOTHER CHANCE IN ARMY

Duke, the black and white Great Dane, which went A. W. O. L. after a taste of army life as the pet of a lieutenant colonel, was headed back for army service yesterday, this time as a member of the army's canine corps at Fort Custer, Mich.

Duke was owned by a lieutenant colonel who left him with Sergt. Rafael Soriano at Fort Custer when the colonel was transferred to an Alabama unit. Sergt. Soriano and Duke were close pals, but the sergeant had to leave Duke with Mrs. Jewell Jordan, 5041 St. Lawrence avenue, after he went to an army unit in Texas, where Duke couldn't be kept.

Duke went A. W. O. L. from the Jordan home on April 5, the day after his arrival. The anti-cruelty society picked him up. He was turned over to Staff Sergt. J. B. McFadden, who came from Fort Custer to induct Duke into the army.

A MARCH WIND IN APRIL GIVES CITY A WHIPPING

Chicago was whipped by a belated March wind yesterday that attained a velocity of 35 miles an hour, described as a "strong" wind by Forecaster H. L. Jacobson. "It has to get up around 55 miles an hour before it's a gale," Jacobson added. The wind will continue today at about the same intensity, the forecaster said, and will bring colder weather.

HINTS REDS BUY JAP RUBBER AND RESELL IT TO U. S.

Thomas Duggan, Cleveland automobile company official, told a Chicago audience of motor parts wholesalers yesterday that he has reason to believe that crude rubber purchased from Japan by Russia has been resold to the United States.

He said he saw the latex after it had been unloaded at an Oakland, Cal., warehouse recently, and had been told it originated in Japanese held territory in the western Pacific."

"The Japanese, I am told, sell it to the Russians at a few cents a pound, altho before the war it sold at 20 to 30 cents," he asserted. "The Russians sell it to the United States."

Duggan, vice president of Thompson Products, Inc., declined to amplify his remarks after the meeting of the Motor and Equipment Wholesalers association in the Drake hotel. He emphasized that he had not seen the actual unloading, and said he based his comment on what he had been told.

He was unable to confirm reports that the Japanese were paying the Russians partly in gold and partly in crude rubber for fishing privileges in the Pacific off Russian territory.

The dealer's war time conference, attended by about 400, will continue today.

DIES OF GAS FUMES.

Bloomington, Ill., April 12 [Special].—Frank W. Peckman, 65 years old, carpenter and contractor, was found dead beside a gas burner with open jets in the Moose hall kitchen here today. Dr. H. L. Howell, coroner, said Peckman had been despondent for several months.

WORLD MONEY PLAN BRANDED HUGE FLIMFLAM

Rep. Smith Says It Can Prolong Despotism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Here's what the monetary stabilization scheme advocated by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. would do, according to Rep. Frederick C. Smith [R., O.]:

"Take all the inflation balls which the different countries have been keeping in the air, fuse them into a giant balloon, and send them up into the stratosphere."

Rep. Smith told the house the scheme would do more.

"By the biggest political hocus-pocus the world has ever known," he said, "it would prolong the despotic power that inheres in irredeemable paper currency—forcing the people to give up the fruits of their toil for pieces of paper that required no more to bring them into existence than a government printing press."

Rebukes Morgenthau.

Rep. Smith rebuked Morgenthau for concealing his plans from congress and the people and quoted the secretary as saying he was "scooped," when the news reached the United States from London.

"For Mr. Morgenthau to confide so vital a matter as this scheme to a foreign country and keep it a secret from those who employ him as their fiscal agent is, in my opinion, nothing short of a breach of public trust," Smith said.

"We may rest assured that back of this move are the most powerful international monied interests and financiers of the world."

Pork Barrel for World.

Smith charged that the plan would result in a political pork barrel for the world, with the United States paying the bill.

"Look at the gold purchase scheme," he said. "Has not this administration made a gift to other nations of many billions of dollars in premiums on gold it acquired for them? Are we to believe that the honest debts of some of the nations south of the Rio Grande were canceled by our government without there having been any political motive?

"Also there is the big program of give away under lend-lease, which the New Deal burocratic planners say must be continued after the war and made a permanent policy.

New Deal Opportunity.

"Has not this administration gone far enough in giving the United States away?

"Think of the grand opportunity this international monetary power could provide the New Deal for scattering to the four corners of the earth the remainder of the wealth of the country and for playing world politics."

ASK MEDIATION AS C. A. & E. FACES STRIKE THREAT

Unless the National Railway Mediation board in Washington immediately assigns a mediator, a threatened strike against the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad may become an actuality next Sunday, according to a warning yesterday from W. F. Levander, international vice president of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employes of America, AFL.

The strike was voted last Thursday by nearly 300 nonoperating employés of the electric line. They are asking an increase of 25 cents an hour over their present scales of 47 to 99 cents an hour. The dispute has been before the mediation board four months without a decision, and the employés it is reported, "have lost patience."

"I have just received word from the board that they will send a mediator when one is available," said Levander. "I think they had better send one now, before it is too late." The mere appearance of a mediator probably would end the possibility of a strike, according to union officials.

Greyhound Reports to the Nation

TODAY, the motorbus industry is supplying a substantial portion of all intercity passenger transportation in the United States.

Greyhound, in 1942, carried 119,000,000 passengers a total of 7,000,000,000 passenger miles over 63,000 miles of highways, with a fleet of 3900 buses.

We are pleased to present these figures to the American People, who are entitled to know how Greyhound is fulfilling its trusteeship of the rubber, gasoline, and critical materials required to perform its essential service in these times of shortages and rationing.

War conditions have imposed unprecedented demands and obligations upon bus transportation. The Greyhound Corporation's Annual Report for 1942 contains a full account of the manner in which these have been met. The Annual Report tells how the relative economy of bus operation, in terms of critical materials, has been utilized ... how full cooperation with Government authorities has enabled Greyhound to maintain essential service despite the many necessary wartime regulations and restrictions ... how the manpower shortage has been dealt with ... the substantial contribution made through taxes to the financing of the war ... and many other interesting and pertinent facts regarding Greyhound operations.

A limited number of copies of this Annual Report are available to the public. A copy will be sent you if you will address your request to The Greyhound Corporation, 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois.

Greyhound welcomes its wartime assignment and its opportunity to serve the nation, and is proud of its contribution. These sentiments, we know, are shared by our 21,000 employees and agents, and our 16,000 stockholders, whose services, funds, and loyalty have made Greyhound's war record possible.

LINKS BROTHER TO KNIFE USED TO KILL SISTER

Second Hand Man Says Welsh Bought It.

Kansas City, Mo., April 12 [Special].—A bespectacled second hand dealer today identified George W. Welsh Jr., 29 years old, as the purchaser of the knife used in the slaying March 9, 1941, of Welsh's 24 year old sister, Leila Adele Welsh.

The dealer, Joseph Louis Alport, was a state witness as the second week of Welsh's trial on a charge of murdering his sister got under way. His testimony was the first tending to link Welsh directly with the crime as last week was occupied with the selection of a jury and the introduction of exhibits.

Found Below Window.

Alport pointed the knife accusingly at Welsh as he told the jury the young man came to his shop three days before the slaying and purchased it for 20 cents. He said Welsh spent about 20 minutes in the shop after the purchase sharpening the blade with a file.

Now rusty and blood stained, the knife was identified by officers as the one found buried to the hilt in the soft earth below Miss Welsh's window. The girl's body was found on her bed, her throat slashed from ear to ear and her skull smashed by three hammer blows. A piece of flesh had been slashed from her right hip, and this was later found in a nearby yard.

New Mystery Arises.

A new touch of mystery was added to the case when Mrs. Mabel Murphy, in whose yard the missing flesh was found and who preceded Alport to the stand, testified the flesh was discovered in midafternoon of the day following the crime, but that it was not there three hours previously when she and a police sergeant had searched the vicinity.

Welsh was first charged with the slaying as a result of a grand jury indictment returned in January, 1942. This indictment was dismissed after a preliminary hearing last May but the state countered with a new murder warrant upon which the present trial is being held.

SWITCHMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Edward J. Oenning, 45 years old, 5716 North Rockwell street, switchman for the Milwaukee road, was killed yesterday in the yards at Major and Armitage avenues when he was crushed between a locomotive and a freight car.

TRIBUNE SHOWS MORE INSIGNIA WORN BY ARMY

More than 18,000,000 shoulder patches have been produced for the United States army since Dec. 7, 1941. Most have gone to service forces or ground forces.

These identifying insignia originate in two ways. Sometimes they are designed by the heraldry section of the quartermaster general's office, within whose province comes all such military symbolism. In this case, a design is submitted to the unit for which it is intended and then, if approved, to the war department headquarters concerned: army service forces, ground forces, or air forces.

The badge sometimes is designed within the unit and approved by the heraldry section.

Designs of shoulder patches are machine embroidered by automatic machines with rayon yarn. The quantity of each patch made up depends on the strength of the unit which is to wear it. In the army air forces, seven insignia are issued to each enlisted man, for wear on overcoat, service coat, or cotton shirt. Officers pay for their shoulder patches.

HOTEL MANAGER ROBBED.

John K. Hurlburt, night manager of the Majestic hotel at 29 West Quincy street, was robbed of $100 yesterday by a man with an automatic pistol, he reported to Central police.

16th in Chicago

The Woman Ordnance Workers chartered their 16th post in the Chicago area last night at a dinner in the Home Arts guild, 205 North Michigan avenue, for more than 100 women workers at the Edward Katzinger company, 1949 North Cicero avenue, where the new post is located. Chartering of the post brings WOW membership in this area to more than 5,000.

Officers of other WOW posts took part in the ceremony. The charter was presented to the new group by Mrs. Caroline W. Budinger, executive secretary of the national WOW office, 31 North State street.

The new post, which has 128 charter members, was organized by a committee composed of Ruth Carson, 77 East Cedar street; Nancy Novak, 2316 West Rice street; Ruth Milling, 1921 Larchmont avenue; Helen Gabriel, 5167 Bloomingdale avenue, and Astrid Larson, 1754 North Natchez avenue.

Mrs. F. D. R. Thinks All Should Give Year to U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—"Every citizen of a democracy should be asked to give a year of service to his country," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt told her press conference today in reporting on her cross-country visits to hospitals and prisons. Such training should be both civilian and military, she said, adding that such "training might be building a swimming pool needed by a community or merely making a survey."

EVANSTON HERO OF SEA BATTLE VISITS MOTHER

Arison, Who Guided U. S. Fleet, Limps Home.

Comm. Rae Arison of Evanston, the naval officer who stood on the unprotected navigation bridge of the cruiser San Francisco to guide a small American column of fighting ships between rows of superior Japanese vessels on the night of Nov. 12 off Guadalcanal, limped home yesterday for the first visit with his mother, Mrs. Edgar E. Arison, 2742 Ridge avenue, Evanston, in two and one-half years.

Comm. Arison.

With a cane for support, and still without the use of his right arm, Comm. Arison is on his way from the Oak Knoll hospital in Oakland, Cal., to Annapolis, Md., where his wife, Louise, and three children, Patti Lou, 16, Rae E., 12, and June Ann, 10, are awaiting him.

He said he does not know how many wounds he has.

"The battle lasted only 25 minutes in the pitch dark," he said, "but it was like the grand finale of a Fourth of July celebration, with real lead flying. After 10 minutes my right arm was broken. Then a shell blew the bridge away, killing Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan and Capt. Cassin Young, and hurling me 30 feet down two decks, where I landed on the barrel of a gun. Both my legs were broken, and my body was shot full of holes."

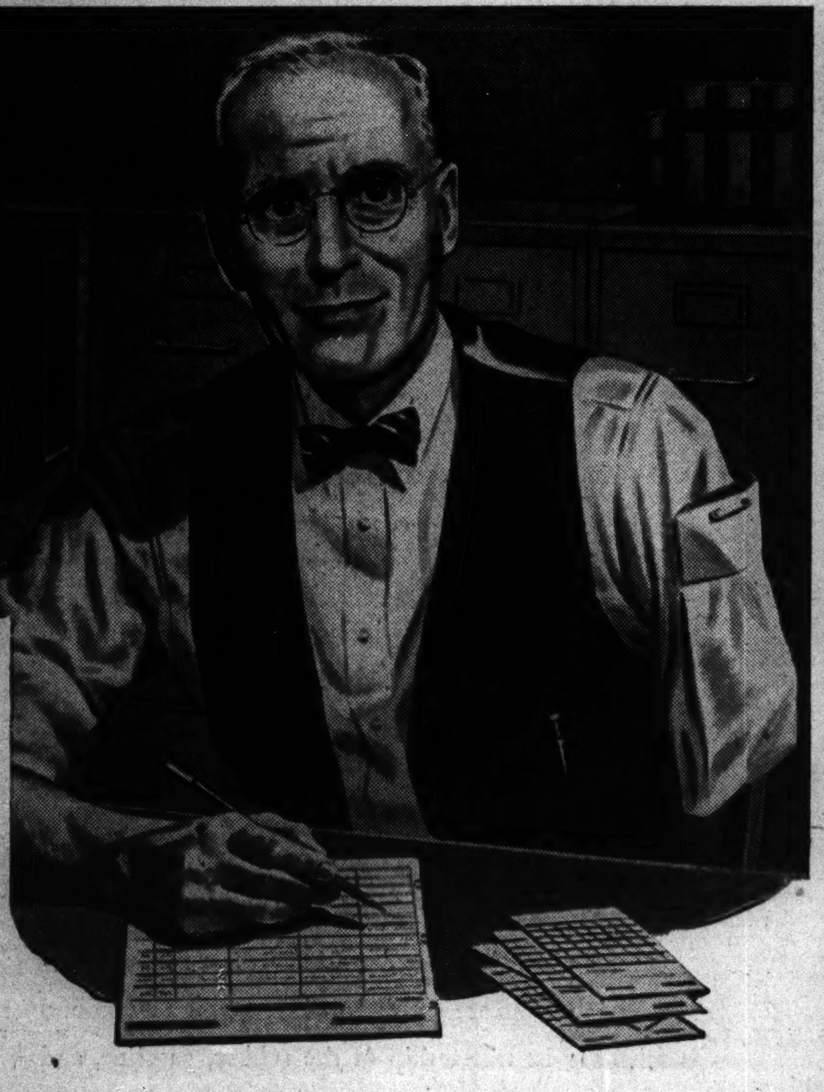
The Spirit of Anthony O'Donnell



In the Buffalo Creek Shops of the B & O, there's a man who typifies the spirit of all railroad workers today. His name is Anthony O'Donnell. His job is timekeeper. Despite the handicap of having only one arm, O'Donnell is putting into his work a thoroughness and enthusiasm which can come only of deep, true patriotic fervor.

Many times a day, his thoughts stray to his three sons in uniform—out there, somewhere. He'd like to see those sons... but his lips press together with renewed determination, for he knows that it needs the wholehearted efforts of himself and his thousands of co-workers to back up our fighting men and to bring them home soon.

Once in a while a wistful picture of himself in uniform floats through his mind... he and his three sons marching together, fighting together for the America they love. "Yes, sir," he told fellow workers recently, "I'd give my right arm, too, to preserve what this country's fighting for!"

The spirit of Anthony O'Donnell is the spirit of American Railroad workers everywhere. Engineers, brakemen, conductors, track-walkers... men in the signal towers, machinists in the shops, workers in the offices... each is putting real sixty-seconds-to-the-minute railroading into the job he was specially trained for, and doing it with Victory as his chief goal. Today, there are 1,320,000 War Workers in the American Railroads —a mighty army of 88 "divisions"... rolling against the Axis!

Towerman on the B & O. Troop and munition trains keep him more than ever "on his toes."

On The Alert. Maintenance men find war traffic is causing greater wear on steel rails.

Coal is a Fighting Fuel

Every parachutist knows his job is dangerous and that his life and the success of his mission depend upon the quality of his parachute. Besides being tough a parachutist must have a high IQ, learn map reading, radio operation, and enough engineering to be able to destroy a bridge. They have too many things on their minds to stop to think that they are floating through the air on a product that comes from a lump of coal. For from coal and its by-products is produced Nylon—usually associated only with stockings and now widely used for the Army's parachutes.

Coal is a fighting fuel and a versatile one, too. It contributes not only Nylon but T.N.T. and other explosives. From it are derived materials for synthetic rubber, dyestuffs, chemicals and the remarkable sulfa drugs that have amazed the medical world by easing pain and saving so many lives of American fighting men.

Versatile? Why, from coal come plastics used for steel helmet liners, field telephones, instrument panels, shell noses and gunstocks. Resins from coal are used in waterproofing fabrics for gas masks and life rafts and for bulletproofing gas tanks; others make paint and lacquers for protecting guns, tanks, jeeps, and other military equipment. These are but few of the many uses for coal on the fighting fronts.

Coal's name in French is Charbon, in Spanish Carbón, in Russian Oogol, but everywhere coal's real name is POWER! POWER to run our trains and light our cities—POWER to keep our great electric plants operating—POWER to keep a steady stream of armament flowing from our thousands of factories. Coal is a vital part, too, of the steel for tanks and guns and ships—in point of fact this year a hundred and twenty-six million tons of it will be required by America's iron and steel industries.

While coal is doing a fighting job it must carry on with the task of heating our homes, giving us the most efficient and economical kind of heat. It must also replace oil for those who have reverted to coal heat.

The nation's thanks is due to the men who, in 1942, mined from nature's storehouses, the enormous amount of 580 million tons of coal. It was an imposing task and was only accomplished by the all-out effort of both management and labor.

A full share of praise, too, is due the American railroads. Regardless of the huge burdens imposed on them by the war they have done an amazingly efficient job of transporting coal—moving such a huge amount of coal is a man-sized undertaking—and one they have accomplished magnificently. Their co-operation has enabled members of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association to continue to make deliveries smoothly and regularly.

POLICEMAN GETS YEAR IN THEFT OF GASOLINE BOOKS

Lynn Scott, 39 years old, a probationary policeman, yesterday was sentenced to a year and a day in prison by Federal Judge William J. Campbell after he had entered a plea of guilty to stealing 343 gasoline ration books he had been assigned to guard.

Lynn Scott.

The court denied a plea for probation by Scott's attorney, Harry S. Ditchburne. Judge Campbell told the defendant that: "Your case is one where probation is no solution. Your record in police school and since you were commissioned as a policeman shows that you took the position for your own profit."

Scott was assigned to guard ration books at the office of price administration headquarters, 228 North La Salle street. His arrest was followed by seizure of William Davis, another probationary policeman, and Anthony Brod, a gas station attendant, who have pleaded guilty to illegally possessing and disposing of ration books. They are scheduled for trial soon.

WOMAN WRITER REFUSES BID TO RESTUDY STATE

Her Washington Article Arouses Region.

Marion, Ill., April 12 [Special].—Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, who recently spent half a day in southern Illinois and wrote an article describing it as a land of feuding descendants of Kentucky immigrants, has no intention of returning in the immediate future to face the wrath of the communities she attacked.

Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer.

This was revealed today when Leslie Hogshead, chairman of the Marion USO council, displayed a wire from Mrs. Meyer rejecting an invitation by the council to return as the council's guest for a more extensive first hand study of what she had described as the "neglected area" of Herrin, Marian [the spelling is hers], and Carbondale.

Suggests Further Acquaintance.

Hogshead said the invitation was extended because the council members thought Mrs. Meyer should have an opportunity to get acquainted with actual conditions. In her article she said the inhabitants lived largely on relief or by bootlegging until the government built a munitions plant to give them employment, and that illegitimacy was so common no stigma was attached to it.

"I was delighted to receive your invitation," Mrs. Meyer wired. "Unfortunately cannot accept as I am still on tour of country. Please thank council and assure them that I consider your area one of the most interesting in the whole country, and one that deserves especial recognition in our post-war reconstruction plans. I hope you will invite me again as you may always count upon my friendly coöperation."

Council Still Ruffled.

Mrs. Meyer's reply has done nothing to soothe ruffled feelings among the council members, Hogshead said. The invitation had urged her to return to Marion "despite inconvenience and expense," and had stated "we feel in respect for your highly regarded professional career of 'columnist,' as well as your own personal integrity, you owe our community another visit."

The USO action was only one manifestation of the resentment stirred up in southern Illinois by the article. Several newspapers in the community reprinted it, accompanying the article with editorial comment which ranged from anger to amusement.

Feel "Amused Contempt."

"I would descrbe the reaction of the community as amused contempt," said Roscoe Pulliam, president of the Southern Illinois Normal university at Carbondale.

"Such an article would make us mad if it weren't so ridiculous," said Loren Margrave, Herrin business man and regional director of the office of civilian defense.

The Marion Evening Post suggested editorially that Mrs. Meyer be sued for "libeling a community," while the Marion Daily Republican satirized her reportorial efforts as "imaginary."

Others Assail Accuracy.

Her accuracy was challenged by editorials in the Herrin Journal, West Frankfort American, Carbondale Free Press and Mount Vernon Register-News. These newspapers have published many letters from readers expressing indignation.

Officials at the Illinois ordnance plant specifically repudiated one statement in her article in which she said because the workers have brought their love of feuds to Illinois the plant management "cautiously distributes relatives around the various departments and buildings" to prevent outbreaks on the assembly line.

Denies Failure to Pay Tax of $336 on Liquor

Ralph D. Clinnin, 3976 Lake Park avenue, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday on an indictment charging him with failure to pay a floor tax of $336 on 168 gallons of liquor. Part of the liquor, the indictment charges, was concealed in Clinnin's home; the remainder in his tavern at 938 East 43d street. Judge Barnes set May 31 for trial.

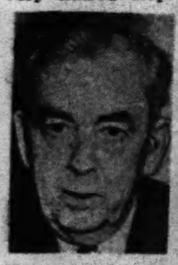
A TERSE VERSE TAKES MYSTERY OUT OF HISTORY

Rankin Gives Colleagues Five Line Lesson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Silvery haired Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] went around asking other congressmen to name him the Presidents in order after learning that many colleges do not require the study of American history.



Rep. John E. Rankin.

He told the house today that a lot of his colleagues couldn't. So the Mississippi congressman read a stanza in the house chamber and urged congressmen to memorize it. If they do, he said, they'll never wonder again, for the first letter of each word indicates a President in order if the whole name isn't spelled out.

All 32 of Them.

The stanza:

Washington and Jefferson met many a jeer.
Van Buren had troubles plenty to fear.
Poor Bankbills let Johnson go home grumbling.
And Cleveland heard clearly McKinley's rumbling,
Till Wilson held currency Hooverly rare.

See? The Presidents in the first line are Washington, Adams [John], Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams [John Quincy], and Jackson. In the second line are Van Buren, Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor, and Fillmore. The third line, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, and Garfield. The fourth line, Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison, Cleveland, McKinley, and Roosevelt [Theodore]. And in the last line, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, and Roosevelt [Franklin].

More Truth than Poetry.

The Mississippi congressman, who usually quotes Shakespeare, said of the stanza:

"It has more truth than poetry, more history than philosophy."

But if you tried to interview a congressman tonight, he'd just waggle a finger at you and begin quoting Rankin to you, emphasizing the beats with a waggle:

"Washington and Jefferson met many a jeer—."

Thankin' Rankin!

BUYER OF $10 GUN SHOOTS YOUNG OFFICER

Lt. James C. Corr, 23 years old, 4521 North Kostner avenue, home on furlough from Fort Sam Houston, Tex., was shot in the right forearm yesterday afternoon while standing in the basement restroom of an office building at 208 Washington street. The shot was fired by a 16 year old Negro examining a .38 caliber automatic he had purchased for $10.

The bullet passed thru a wooden partition, but Corr gave detectives a description of the youth who ran out after the shot. They arrested Julian Kirby Anderson, 4028 Calumet avenue, employed in a restaurant in the building. He said he bought the weapon a week ago. He threw it away after it went off.

Corr went to St. Luke's hospital. His sister, Mary, was waiting for him in the lobby of the office building when he was shot. He formerly was in the Black Horse troop, and is now in the field artillery.

Two Brothers Sentenced for the Theft of Shoes

Henry Waltham, 49 years old, 4622 Adams street, was sentenced yesterday to 60 days in the Bridewell, and his brother, George, 55, of the same address, received a five day sentence when they were found guilty of stealing shoes from a store at 4203 Madison street.

Take Auto Tour

Detective Warren Oswald of the North avenue station last night took Robert Buehring, 6 years old, and his brother, Francis, 3, on an automobile ride in search of the boys' home, after they became lost yesterday in front of 2115 West Van Buren street, where they were found by Warren avenue police. Robert knew only that he attended the Lawson elementary school at 13th street and Homan avenue, so Oswald started from that point in his search. Several hours of riding finally brought them to 2948 Roosevelt road, where the children's parents, Gus and Ruth Buehring, were about to start a search for the children. The father is a carloader and the mother a war plant worker. The children apparently strayed away from home, where they had been in the care of a 13-year-old sister.

Prison Guards to Begin Jobs Before Examination

The state department of public safety in Springfield announced yesterday that 75 men who have filed applications for civil service examinations to obtain jobs as prison guards will get an opportunity to go to work at once, altho they have not yet taken examinations. They will be employed in the Joliet branch of the state penitentiary, where a shortage of guards has developed, department officials said.

NEW YORK CITY DIMOUT DEATHS MOUNT RAPIDLY

Lawsuits Over Accidents Jam Courts.

New York, April 12 [Special].—Death in the dimout has greatly multiplied the peril of crossing New York streets between the hours of sunset and sunrise, a study of fatal traffic accidents here revealed today.

New York thorofares have been darkened and auto headlights dimmed since last May when the dimout laws went into effect as a war time measure to save ships at sea from becoming submarine targets against the reflected shoreline skyglow.

Since that time, so many lawsuits have resulted from dimout mishaps that, according to Justice Sylvester Sabbatino, they constitute one of the reasons why Brooklyn City court is 15 months behind schedule in its general jury calendar.

Courts Doubling Fines.

To cope with the steadily mounting death toll, the courts are meting out doubled fines and jail sentences in a stiffened attitude against motorists who exceed the 20 mile an hour speed limit or who "jump" changing red lights.

Despite the fact that an estimated one-third of the city's 9,300 taxicabs and almost half of its privately owned automobiles have been withdrawn from regular use for the duration, night traffic accidents during the dimout period jumped to 417, or an increase of 12.7 per cent from February thru November, 1942. For the same months in 1941, according to police statistics they totaled 370. Last month there were 55 fatal accidents, 48 of which involved pedestrians.

Total fatal street accidents of all kinds for New York City totaled 799 last year. The state bureau of motor vehicles reports this was 44 less than for 1941, but that it should have been way under this figure considering that traffic in many instances has been cut almost in two under stringent gasoline rationing.

Charge Discrimination.

One reason for the mounting death toll, according to Tom A. Burke, executive vice president of the New York Safety Council, Inc., is a general indifference to the dimout danger by drivers whom Burke described as "getting mad" when they see lights shining out to sea from the windows of some of the city's tallest skyscrapers.

"These drivers feel they are being discriminated against when they observe such violations," Burke says. "The building lights are supposed to be darkened and I suppose one of these days the authorities will crack down on those responsible for letting them burn. In the meanwhile, however, the fact that they do burn at night, and all over town, causes many drivers to feel that perhaps the dimout laws aren't being enforced except against car owners."

LAKE BOATS BRING STEEL MILLS CARGOES OF COAL AND STONE

Freighter traffic on Lake Michigan is becoming brisker with coal and stone shipments for the steel mills in South Chicago, Gary, Buffington, and Indiana Harbor, altho ice still blocks iron ore shipments thru the Mackinac straits.

Two more boats were moving on the lake yesterday. They were the Affleck, owned by the Pittsburgh Steamship company, a subsidiary of United States Steel, moving from South Chicago to Calcite, Mich., for a load of stone, and the Mather, operated by the Interlake Iron company, bound from South Chicago for Detroit for orders. The Mather had delivered coal to South Chicago from Toledo, and the Affleck had carried one shipment of stone from Calcite.

The first ore shipments from Escanaba reached Indiana Harbor April 9, in the Joseph Block and the P. D. Block of the Inland Steel company. The same company's Leopold brought in the first stone of the season on April 3, from Port Inland, Mich.

FIRE ENGINE HITS TRUCK; TOWER RAMS THRU VAN

The fire department's water tower wagon No. 2, driven by Fireman John Cribben, 620 Barry avenue, collided with a transport truck at Chicago avenue and Orleans street last night while responding to an alarm at 867 North Dearborn street. Cribben escaped injury as the tower, which extends beyond the front of the vehicle was rammed thru the van of the truck. Herman Swetlik of Manitowoc, Wis., was the truck driver. The fire, which apparently started in a rubbish pile in the basement of a three floor apartment house, drove eight families to the street and caused damage of $1,500.

DEATH FLIES ALONG THE ROAD TO TRIPOLI

AFTER THE British Eighth Army broke Rommel's lines at El Alamein, the newscasters began to speculate on where Rommel was going to make a stand. But days passed and weeks . . . and still the invincible Afrika Korps fled westward along the Mediterranean shore with never a minute's chance to stop and dig in.

Night and day, the air was full of death . . . full of new, unexpected American planes . . . dive-bombing, machine-gunning, cannonading . . . more planes than Rommel dreamed the Allies had.

And those American planes, those Liberators, those deadly Curtiss Warhawks, were up there in the Libyan skies in such unexpected numbers because there were more gages here at home in America's aircraft plants than ever before.

Gages, you see, are "precision" inspectors. They tell you down, oh, sometimes to a few millionths of an inch, whether a manufacturing operation has been done right. With gages, you get hand-made precision at machine-made speed. Instead of making one plane a week by hand, as they did in France in '39 . . . with gages, you can get 10 planes a day! And that's the edge we need for VICTORY!

For 25 years, Vinco has been selling millionth-of-an-inch precision to American industry, developing every type of gage to a higher precision, and perfecting many new types of inspection devices of unbelievable accuracy.

Even before Pearl Harbor, Vinco engineers had been co-operating with the engineering staffs of the country's great armament producers. The list reads like a "Who's Who" of American industries.

One of the exclusive inspection devices produced by VINCO . . . the OPTICAL MASTER INSPECTION DIVIDING HEAD; which is used to measure spacing in gears, splines, cams, camshafts, etc., and is accurate to within 2/1,296,000ths part of the circle.

The entire and absolute freedom of the press is essential to the preservation of government on the basis of a free constitution.—Daniel Webster.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND $25,000 A YEAR.

Pique and ill-temper were not solely responsible for Mr. Roosevelt's tirade against congress for attaching the cancellation of his $25,000 salary limitation order to the bill increasing the debt limit.

The primary purpose of his statement was to distract public attention from the rebuke congress had given him. He had been detected in an illegal and unconstitutional act and congress very properly nullified it by statute. To obscure this fact the President did not hesitate to appeal to class hatred in his statement.

His pretense that congress was revoking a power previously given him was obviously untrue. Whatever merit lay in the contention that the economic stabilization act gave him the power to reduce salaries to the level originally recommended by the Communist party platform and the CIO, the method used to make the reduction order effective was obviously unconstitutional. The President undertook to tell corporations that they could not claim as business expenses salaries paid over the limit he set. He sought to levy taxes by executive fiat, thereby usurping a power that congress had not given him, that it would not give him while its members remained sane, and that it could not give him under the Constitution.

The contention that some 2,000 or 3,000 persons to whom his order applied are, by congressional action, exempted from the restrictions necessary to economic stabilization that are imposed on the other 130,000,000 people of the United States is the cheapest sort of demagoguery. The new statute contains ample safeguards against profiteering by executives of war plants. It does not exempt high salaried workers, but merely forbids the discrimination against them in which the President had indulged thru his salary limit order.

That order was unique among his economic measures in that it was in no sense a freeze. Mr. Roosevelt did not say that no one could have his salary raised above $25,000 a year. He said that those already earning salaries above that level must have them cut. Such a policy might be justified as a precaution against inflation if applied generally. But to be effective it would then be necessary to cut not only salaries, but wages. Mr. Roosevelt is not cutting wages. He has, on the contrary, allowed them to rise to the highest levels in history, adding untold billions to the cost of conducting the war. His war labor board has, when it was not dealing with some such Presidential enemy as John L. Lewis, been little more than a rubber stamp for its union labor members in sanctioning inflationary wage increases. The high salaried workers were not dealt with under any general policy. They were singled out for discriminatory penalties, applied for purely demagogic reasons.

Mr. Roosevelt recommended that congress consider his recommendation for a $25,000 net limit on income from all sources, to be enforced by a special war surtax. Congress has, in fact, considered much the same matter. It considered the salary limit twice, at his solicitation, and both times rejected it. It was with full knowledge of these rejections that he sought to usurp the power denied him, for which usurpation he has now been rebuked.

JEFFERSON SAID.

Today is the 200th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson. In Jefferson's day, the name of the conqueror who had overrun Europe with his armies and was holding the nations in subjection was Bonaparte. Jefferson execrated the man and his methods, as the passages from various letters given below make clear. In celebration of the Jefferson bicentennial, we intend this week to publish each day an excerpt from his writings.

To Mme. de Stael [1813]: Robespierre met the fate, and his memory the execration, he so justly merited. The rich were his victims, and perished by the thousands. It is by millions that Bonaparte destroys the poor, and he is eulogized and deified by the sycophants even of science. These merit more than the mere oblivion to which they will be consigned; and the day will come when a just posterity will give to their hero the only preëminence he has earned, that of having been the greatest of the destroyers of the human race. What year of his military life has not consigned a million of human beings to death, to poverty, and wretchedness? What field in Europe may not raise a monument of the murders, the burnings, the desolations, the famines, and miseries it has witnessed from him? And all this to acquire a reputation, which Cartouche attained with less injury to mankind, of being fearless to God or man.

To Albert Gallatin [1815]: Bonaparte has been the author of more misery and suffering to the world than any being who ever lived before him. After destroying the liberties of his country, he has exhausted all its resources, physical and moral, to indulge his own maniac ambition, his own tyrannical and overbearing spirit. His sufferings cannot be too great.

To John Adams [1823]: O'Meara's book proves that nature had denied Bonaparte the moral sense, the first excellence of well organized man. If he could seriously and repeatedly affirm that he had raised himself to power without ever having committed a crime, it proves that he wanted totally the sense of right and wrong. If he could consider the millions of human lives which he had destroyed, or caused to be destroyed, the desolations of countries by plunderings, burnings and famine, the destitutions of lawful rules of the world without the consent of their constituents, to place his brothers and sisters on their thrones, the cutting up of established societies of men and jumbling them discordantly together again at his caprice, the demolition of the fairest hopes of mankind for the recovery of their rights and amelioration of their condition, and all the numberless train of his other enormities; the man, I say, who could consider all these as no crimes must have been a moral monster, against whom every hand should have been lifted to slay him.

THE MENACE OF MILITARISM.

Such recent invasions of the liberties of citizens as the army's attempt to arrogate to itself power to exile private individuals from their homes in New York and Secretary of War Stimson's attempted assumption of the power to prohibit soldiers from running for public office demonstrate that our forebears were on sound ground when they viewed the military as a possible source of danger to civil government.

Suspicion of militarism was strong in the minds of men at the time of the formation of the Union. During the constitutional convention serious attention was given to the threat of military dictatorship arising from a standing army. Elbridge Gerry was especially concerned. James Madison, in his report of the convention, notes that when the power of congress to raise and support armies was under discussion, Gerry took occasion to express his suspicions.

"Mr. Gerry took notice," Madison states, "that there was no check here against standing armies in time of peace. The existing congress is so constructed that it cannot of itself maintain an army. This would not be the case under the new system [i. e., when the confederation of states became a federal government]. . . . He thought an army dangerous in time of peace and could never consent to a power to keep up an indefinite number. He proposed that there shall not be kept up in time of peace more than —— thousand troops. His idea was that the blank should be filled in with two or three thousand."

Luther Martin of Maryland supported Gerry in proposing this limitation, Gerry asserting, "If there be no restriction, a few states may establish a military government." John Langdon of New Hampshire, in rebuttal, expressed what has always been the intent of the Constitution—that the American army should always be a people's army. "Mr. Langdon," Madison says, "saw no room for Mr. Gerry's distrust of the representatives of the people."

On these grounds Gerry's proposal was rejected, but the delegates, by establishing the control of congress over the army, by limiting appropriations for the army to two years, and by the emphasis given the militia system, felt that they had taken adequate measures to curb the dangers of militarism.

In August, 1789, when the Bill of Rights was under consideration, some of these objections were renewed by Gerry and Rep. Aedanus Burke of South Carolina. Gerry expressed fear that a tyranny might seek to withhold the privilege of bearing arms from a large number of citizens by attributing to them religious scruples which they might not hold. By this means, he contended, a standing army would be promoted. Burke sought an anti-standing army addition to the amendment, but he and Gerry failed to carry the point.

These debates are perhaps sufficient to show that fears of military usurpation were very real to the founders of the Republic. Our forebears, however, put their trust in the concept of an army of the people which would be devoted to perpetuating the people's own freedom under republican government, and in this trust they have never been deceived.

The danger, of course, was always that an ambitious clique, establishing itself within the army and with command and discipline over the ranks, might attempt to abuse its power. That is what makes the unconstitutional procedure of the military court in New York and the unconstitutional assumption by the secretary of war of power to legislate the denial of a political right so ominous. The military burocracy must be impressed with the idea that it is serving the people thru their representatives in congress and that this service is terminable. The common soldier and the citizen making sacrifices for his country are not fighting foreign military dictatorships to get one from within.

VICTIMS OF OPPRESSION.

A massmeeting is to be held tomorrow evening at the Stadium to consider ways and means of bringing relief to the victims of Nazi oppression in Europe. The meeting is sponsored by a large number of Jewish organizations but its scope is not narrowly sectarian. The aim is to find means of doing what can be done to rescue those of all creeds who will otherwise be starved to death or executed as millions have been already in the lands under Hitler's domination.

Gov. Green and Senators Lucas and Brooks of Illinois are among the speakers. This is as it should be. As spokesmen for the people of Illinois they can express the sympathy that all men of good will must feel for the victims and the desire of all men of good will that effective efforts be made to save the lives of innocent men, women, and children.

Something can be done, as we know from the successful effort to save the captive Greek people from starvation. Ships of neutral countries, notably Sweden, have been carrying food to Greece, with the consent of all the belligerents. Careful supervision has established the fact that the food is not in any way assisting the Germans. Perhaps measures such as this can be extended to other lands. Perhaps it will be found possible to transport some of the victims to places of refuge where they can be cared for until the war is over.

It is profoundly to be hoped that practical means of solving the problem will be found. Time is pressing. If something is not done soon the victims will have perished before help comes.

THE COMMODORE'S RETURN.

This column welcomes, for various reasons, the restoration of the rank of commodore to the United States navy by act of congress. First, it is a word that rolls easily off the tongue; second, early American naval history seems to have been written largely in the terms of commodores; third, it was a commodore who opened up Japan, after scaring the natives into fits, and maybe another will contribute importantly to the necessary sequel of folding her back again.

* * *

A landlubber, skimming thru the annals of this republic when its flag was new on the seven seas, will get the impression that our commodores ruled the waves. Many famous naval officers—John Paul Jones, John Barry, Stephen Decatur, Edward Preble, and others after whom destroyers are now named carried this title. Then there was the commodore of the famous message, "We have met the enemy and they are ours"—Oliver Hazard Perry, who was the elder brother of Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry of Japanese history.

* * *

All this while, however, commodore was only a courtesy title for a captain with something bigger than a one-ship job. The rank and pay of these famous commodores was never higher than a captain's, altho the navy department and the Presidents often referred to them in official documents as if such a rank existed. In 1862 commodore became an actual rank, next above captain and below rear admiral, corresponding to brigadier general in the army. An officer commanding a squadron, a division of a fleet, a ship of the first class, or a naval station became a commodore de jure as well as de facto.

* * *

The rank was abolished in 1899, so far as active service was concerned. It was continued, however, as a rank to which captains of Civil war service were retired.

* * *

Outside the navy the word has had long and honorable use among senior captains in the merchant marine, presiding officers of yacht clubs, and chief pilots.

* * *

It was a commodore, Winfield Scott Schley, who mopped up the Spanish fleet at Santiago bay on July 3, 1898, while Rear Admiral Sampson was absent. The ensuing controversy may have had some influence on the abolition of the rank. The frequency of task force cruises in This War may have caused its restoration.

That pitying smile for Grandad there
With the evening paper, asleep in his chair—
Don't waste it, lad. He's richer in things
Of a lifetime's happy rememberings,
And the quiet recall of long ago
Than a boy like you can ever know.

He's herding the cows up a moonlit lane,
All incense-sweet with the stain of rain,
And hearing, from far away on the hill,
The lingering call of a whippoorwill
Repeated soft where the pasture-bars
Peep on a country of night and stars.

Or he's sprawled in the hay, half gleam, half gloom,
Where a barn-loft offers its fragrant room
For Eva, and Topsy, and Simon Legree
To step from that magic book on his knee—
Or Leatherstocking or Ivanhoe—
Bidding his fancy their glad way go.

All Grandad's dreams are of soil and sun,
Of hayrides, sleighrides, dog, and gun,
Butterflies, bird songs, Sabbath bells,
Buckwheat pancakes and wood smoke smells,
Barefoot romps amid wind-blown clover—
A score of joys like these lived over—

So save that pitying smile, my lad,

Chop Suey's Ancient Glory.

A number of Chinese restaurants invaded Chicago's Rialto at the turn of the century. The most ornate place was at 65 West Randolph street, opposite the Dearborn theater, now the Garrick. One may still observe telltale remnants of its exterior decoration, such as the miniature marquee and latticed windows above the second story.

Engraved invitations to its opening were issued to the élite. This was the first chop suey restaurant to dress its waiters in tuxedos. Its interior was almost a museum of Chinese art. Ancient tapestries covered the walls. Antiques, prints, statues, and embroideries gave atmosphere to what became, for a time, one of the show places of the loop.

THE DEATHLESS HOPE.

When hate involves the world in night
And war looms, devilish and dread,
What is the hope that still can cheer
Our heart, and lift our head?

We look back on darkened years,
Lament man's needless grief and loss.
One hope—earth never can forget
A Man upon a Cross.

Who Moved the City Hall Steps?

Of a demonstration outside the city hall, featuring women carrying brooms, THE TRIBUNE said:

"Portly men with cold, chewed cigars in the corners of their mouths stood on the city hall steps and appeared disgruntled."

It would not take long to sweep those steps. There ain't any steps. Louis Newberger.

MIGRAINE—A NERVOUS EXPLOSION.

STRESS and strain may lead to migraine [sick headache]. This is exemplified by the fact that the number of patients presenting the typical syndrome [combination of symptoms] seems to be on the increase. Furthermore, a few who have been able to hold the disorder in reasonable subjugation are encountering frequent recurrences.

There can be little question but that this condition is a nervous ailment. It has been recognized for many centuries. Galen, the Roman physician, gave it the name "hemicrania," indicating that distress is experienced chiefly on one side of the head.

Because we do not know the exact cause, numerous methods of treatment have been suggested. A set of circumstances held responsible in patient A will not induce the disorder in patient B. Women are more likely to be afflicted than men and there is a definite family tendency. Certain individuals are said to belong to the migraine type. Sufferers may be interested to learn that only those of high intelligence develop the malady. Students of facial characteristics claim to be able to spot potential victims on sight.

As a rule, manifestations present themselves in the morning subsequent to a restless night. True enough, the seizure may appear without warning, but this is the exception. The onset may include wavy lines in front of the eyes, blurring of vision, ringing in the ears, and numbness. In fact, many a patient will describe the episode as a "numb spell." Then comes headache, which is usually one sided, involving the region above the eye, the forehead, and the temple.

In severe attacks the entire skull may feel sore, with the affected one complaining that he senses boring or hammering inside the "noggin." As these symptoms become worse, nausea and vomiting ensue. Needless to say, the victim is about as miserable as it is possible to be. Bile may be vomited, giving rise to the term "bilious attacks."

Each subject will finally work out a relief program which suits him best. Many will go to bed in a darkened room and demand absolute quiet. Plenty of fluids must be provided and weak tea makes a suitable beverage. Comfort may follow covering the forehead with packs wrung out of ice water. Others find that sleep is the best remedy. A sedative powerful enough to induce 8 to 10 hours of slumber will banish the agony.

Some feel that a laxative is helpful. At any rate, bold starvation for from 12 to 24 hours is indicated. The favorable effect of chondroitin has not been explained. Nevertheless it is of substantial value in about one-third of the cases and completely curative in nearly 25 per cent.

Isn't there something that can be done to ward off an attack? One drug has proved highly efficient in many instances—ergotamine tartrate. Unfortunately, this compound cannot be employed freely as now and then it may add to our troubles. We dare not use it if the blood pressure is high or if there are marked signs of narrowing of the arteries.

Other than weakness and a "washed out" feeling, the patient is as well as ever after each bout. In fact, a few exhibit unusual energy once the ordeal has passed.

Yes—insofar as they interfere with appetite, rest, and digestion. The varmints are not bloodsuckers, as are hookworms, but they can cause irritation.

PRESUMPTUOUS STIMSON.

New York, April 9.—On cursory reading, Secretary Stimson's order forbidding members of the armed forces to seek or accept election to public office may seem reasonable enough. No man worthy of a commission in the army of the United States should in time of war allow himself to have any ambition other than to fulfill his duty to his countrymen in the military service.

But the Stimson order, issued by an appointive official, has more far reaching implications. It goes to the roots of the whole democratic process. For altho apparently simply a restriction upon army men, it is in fact an arbitrary curb upon the electorate. Under our system of government legal voters in their respective districts and states have an inalienable right to choose whomsoever they will to be their public servants, subject of course to the rules laid down in their fundamental laws.

There is something presumptuous in the attempt of a cabinet officer, who is not responsible to the people, to tell American citizens whom they can and cannot choose for public office. The Stimson order purports to exercise a veto upon the results of the polls, and hence is inconsistent with the principles of self-government. There is no warrant or justification for it in either state or federal constitutions.

RENT ON GARDEN LOTS.

Oak Park, Ill., April 7.—"Block Captain's" little piece about the owners of vacant lots who refused permission for the free use of same certainly needs an answer. Does the farmer allow his land to be used free, or does he charge a ground rental or share in the crops? He has to pay taxes on the property. The lot owner pays taxes on vacant land, but does he get any use out of the public and high schools, police or fire protection, or garbage removal? Or if they put in a new sewer, etc., does he derive any benefit from it? No, he just pays his taxes from year to year, and now, even if he wanted to build on the property, he couldn't do so because of conditions. Why isn't he entitled to get back a few of the dollars he has to lay out? From my experience, the average block captain doesn't own any property, but expects the property owner to agree with any notion that comes into his head.

W. W. SMITH.

"DO AS I SAY, NOT AS I DO."

Bloomington, Ill., April 9.—Mr. Roosevelt claims that the reason he doesn't want the farmers to receive more for their food products is because he wants to keep down the high cost of living for the people. Mr. Roosevelt would be more consistent if he kept down the high cost of his burocratic government, which he expects the people to pay. He might begin by abolishing many of these bureaus. We don't need half of them. Yet, instead of abolishing any of them, he continues to multiply them, and the people have to pay for them.

E. V. WINTEROSE.

WE STAND CORRECTED.

Chicago, April 9.—In your editorial in this morning's TRIBUNE, "No Trespassers," you use the expression "mental telepathy." The phrase is redundant. Telepathy is not physical, it is, if it exists, the very highest manifestation of the power of the human mind. C. N.

GOOD NEIGHBORLINESS.

Chicago, April 7.—With reference to the editorial, "The Obligations of a Good Neighbor," I feel, as vice consul of Brazil at Chicago, that some of your assumptions should be clarified in the interest of good neighborliness between the United States and Brazil.

It is assumed in the editorial that Brazil felt offended because the United States did not take out of Brazil and pay for all the coffee it had contracted to buy. If, as the editorial says, "there is nothing to indicate" that the United States "did not keep on paying" for the Brazilian coffee that it was not able to ship on account of the submarine campaign, I do not see any reason why Brazil would feel offended then and stop feeling offended when "enough dollars" changed hands.

Besides the fact that such language does not befit the obligations of a good neighbor, there is, positively, no correlation between those two assumptions. One must be incorrect, for both cannot stand together.

It is well known in Brazil that the shipping shortage is a consequence of the enemy's submarine campaign in the South Atlantic, mainly along the Brazilian coast line. My country is at war for this reason and is an ally of your country for the same purpose of justice and for the same ideals. As a result of this, many Brazilian lives have already been lost.

DEAD DUCK.

Charleston, W. Va., April 6.—Internationalists are attempting to keep alive the hollow mockery of Willkie prestige by pointing to the number of votes he got as a Trojan horse Republican candidate in 1940. It is true that I, and millions of others, held our noses and made a mark before his name but about 90 per cent of us were supporting him in desperation and actually voting against Roosevelt. He may prove to be an effective mouthpiece for international bankers but he was a weakling candidate. This is proved by the fact that while he was falling flat on his face in great states like Ohio and Illinois the Republicans turned in smashing victories for their candidates for governor and senator in spite of the Willkie burden. His futile attempts to head off Gov. Dewey exploded the last fragment of the fiction of Windy's strength. He will blackjack no more Republican conventions. You may safely file him among the dead ducks.

WHAT ABOUT DAIRY CALVES?

Chicago, April 5.—It has occurred to me that during the meat crisis the packers are cutting off the veal under a hundred pounds, instead of letting them grow heavier for market. In Europe during a war there was a penalty for killing cattle so young. Why can't they let veal grow to a good size before using, so that in spring they could have heavier cattle, say 1,000 pounds or more?

MICHAEL POTSON.

NO RECIPROCITY HERE.

La Feria, Tex., April 3.—The Associated Press recently wrote from Washington: "Aids of Sen. McFarland [D., Ariz.] said that OPA officials had told a two-man delegation from Arizona that Mexicans living just across the United States border would be issued cards to permit them to purchase rationed goods in the United States."

This is just another of those irritating incidents that stir the ire of us who are not in sympathy with much of this unnecessary regimentation. I live on the Mexican border. For awhile they would allow us to bring back sugar, coffee, and a few other things which were rationed here but now they won't let us bring over anything of this nature, yet according to this inconsistent article they want to allow already scarce articles to our friends across the border without we ourselves having the same privilege in regard to receiving stuff from them. Just what are we coming to? It looks very much to me that it is not so much rationing that this crazy bunch wants as it is regimentation. How long, O Lord, how long, are we American people going to put up with so much of this nonsense under the guise of war?

CHARLES V. SOMMER.

WANTS TO HELP.

Chicago, April 3.—With the urgent need for war workers, can't some arrangement be made or consideration given to people who have their first citizenship papers and who earnestly and sincerely want to do war work so they can feel that they are doing their share in helping to win this war? I happen to be one of these unfortunate persons. I have my first papers and want to do my part, but have been turned down and can do nothing to help for the next two years, when my papers are completed.

By that time the war may be over [let's hope it is]; but now is the time the war workers are needed.

If she so desires, she may apply for a certificate of derivative citizenship, the cost of which is $5.

BROOKS TAUNTS DEMOCRATS FOR JEFFERSON FETE

Terms Him as the First G. O. P. President.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] today taunted burocratic Democrats in Washington officialdom by telling them they are paying tribute to the "first Republican President of the United States" when they celebrate Thomas Jefferson's 200th birthday anniversary tomorrow.

On the eve of the dedication here of a 10 million dollar white marble memorial to the third President, in which high Democratic officials will play the leading rôle, Brooks made a speech in the senate lauding Jefferson and his great principles—including opposition to more than two terms for a President—which have been thrown overboard by the New Deal.

Roosevelt to Speak.

Altho the Roosevelt administration is claiming Jefferson as a Democrat in connection with the big celebration, it has been soft pedaling on Jefferson ever since the Republicans began quoting his anti-New Deal doctrines. In recent years Andrew Jackson has shone as the patron saint of democracy, being lauded as a great liberal and the first New Dealer. But this year the Democrats ditched Jackson and borrowed George Washington, whose birthday was seized as the occasion for the annual fund raising dinners staged by the party.

President Roosevelt will lead the observance of Jefferson's birth with a "brief and Jeffersonian" address to the nation, according to the White House. But the time and place of the speech were not disclosed.

Casts Shadow of Shame.

Most other officials, however, arranged to be at the dedication of the memorial. Shortly before Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] had the senate adjourn until Wednesday so the senators can attend the ceremonies, Brooks told his colleagues what the Jefferson monument stands for.

"That monument frowns upon private politics and unlimited personal ambition," he said. "That monument casts the shadow of shame upon any American who even within the secrecy of his own heart substitutes self-glorification for the simplicities of a representative republic.

"That monument reminds us that Jefferson, like Washington, might have served for more terms in the Presidency than two were he not ever mindful that prolonged tenure in office of an individual, no matter how upright his intentions, increases his powers and his sense of authority beyond the bounds of benefit to a people living under the blessings of republicanism.

Reminder of Simplicity.

"That monument to Thomas Jefferson will ever be a reminder to the American people that when his principles of governmental simplicity, frugality, even humility were cast aside and their place usurped by power and pride and haughtiness, that when the republics of ward and county and state were forgotten and in their place an overweening burocracy appeared—the American people for the first time in all their history were suffering from a scarcity of food in a land upon whose soil smiles the bounty and abundance of God. . . . Thomas Jefferson, were he alive today, would no doubt say to us as he wrote to Robert H. Livingston:

"'The public mind is recovering from the delirium into which it had been thrown, and we may still believe with security that the great body of the American people must for ages yet be substantially republican.'"

Recalls G. O. P. Founding.

Brooks recalled that the Republican party was created as a liberal movement for the preservation of the republican form of government when it was in peril, and that when the first platform of the Republican party was written at Philadelphia on June 17, 1856, the founders stated the objective of "restoring the action of the federal government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson."

"In 1856 the Republican party recognized the principles of Thomas Jefferson as guiding, as fundamental in Americanism," Brooks asserted. "From that day until this, no American, except perhaps the kindly Lincoln, whose martyrdom has been beatified into an eternal saintliness, plays so significant an intellectual rôle in the Republican party as Thomas Jefferson.

Have Lost Our Way.

"We survived a free people, unfearful of government and its minions, unhampered in our exercise of Republican principles for fully 132 years," Brooks said. "Alas! we have more recently lost our way and his direction.

"Jefferson counseled Americans of all generations as to the sound course to pursue, but we, in our generation, have despised his counsel. Some men who, calling themselves Democrats, and New Dealers, and such names as would have sounded odd and unaccustomed to his precise ears, often prate in his name and cut an isolated phrase out of its meaning to prove a distant and unrelated analogy—they have wandered farthest from his principles and ideals."

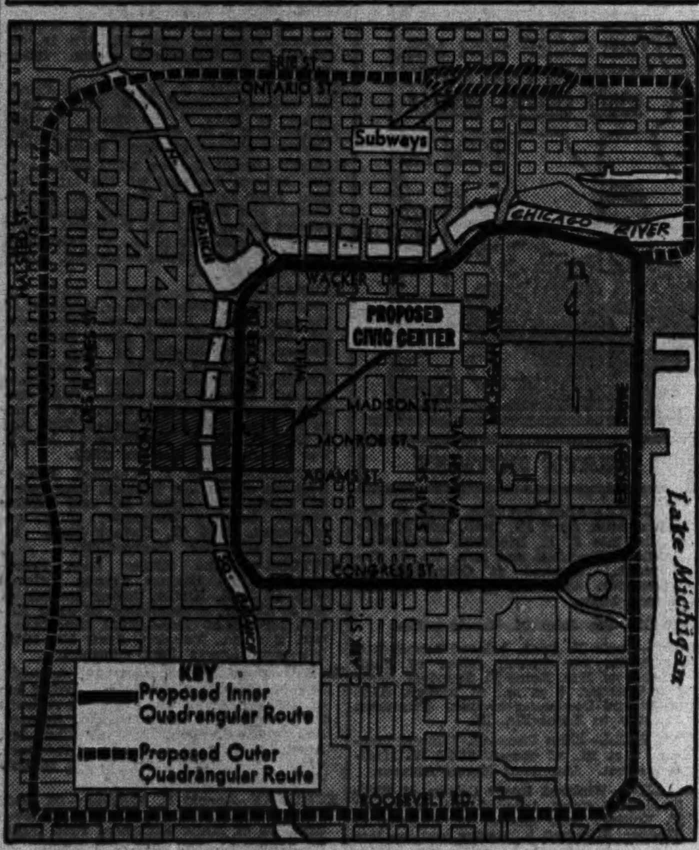
From Chicago's 'Master Plan'



Location of proposed inner and outer quadrangular highway routes around Chicago's loop.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the new city council planning committee, announced yesterday he will call the committee into session for the first time April 30 to begin consideration of a master plan for Chicago. The central business district will be the first phase of the plan considered by the group.

The Chicago Plan commission staff, which has been working on the master plan about two years, now has this work about half completed. The plan must be approved by the city council before it becomes official.

The committee will conduct hearings on one section of the city at a time, with its general plan to work outward from the downtown district. The downtown plan, Lindell said, will have as its dominant features an inner and an outer quadrangular highway route and a civic center, extending from Madison street to Adams street and from Clinton street to Wells street.

WILLKIE ANGLES FOR CALIFORNIA AID IN '44 RACE

Is Not Yet Certain of Seeking Nomination.

Sacramento, Cal., April 12 [Special]—Wendell Willkie's first move toward capturing the California delegation to the 1944 Republican national convention today appeared to be in the making.

Telegrams exchanged by Willkie and State Sen. Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, president pro tem of the upper house and Willkie's northern California campaign head in the 1940 presidential race were made public by Seawell today.

In answering a wire from Seawell which declared Willkie "must be the Republican candidate" in the 1944 race, Willkie telegraphed a reply saying: "I have not finally decided what I will do with reference to seeking the nomination of the Republican party in 1944."

Pleased With Judgment.

"I am, however, greatly pleased that your expert judgment leads you to believe that the Republicans of California find themselves in accord with the principles, both foreign and domestic, for which I am fighting and shall continue to fight. When I have decided on my course of action I shall certainly be in touch with you and it will be a great help in making my decision to know I can count on you."

Seawell wired Willkie that "not party loyalty but national interest on the broadest scale demand in intelligent progressive Republican as our party's presidential candidate next year. Your foreign policy plus your domestic sanity make it self evident that you must be the Republican candidate."

Too Early To Decide.

"It is probably too early for you to have decided to permit your name to be entered in the California primary election with delegates pledged unequivocally to you."

"I want you to know, however, that I have the utmost confidence that if you should decide to announce, the rank and file of California Republican voters will receive your announcement with the greatest enthusiasm."

JUDICIAL ROBES FALL ON A PAIR OF NEW DEALERS

Senate Group Blinks at Florida 'Patronage.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The senate judiciary committee today approved and sent to the senate the nomination of Dozier A. De Vane as federal district judge for the northern and southern districts of Florida, the latest judicial appointment to cause a quizzical lifting of senatorial eyebrows.

President Roosevelt has nominated De Vane to succeed Judge Curtis L. Waller of Jacksonville, Fla., who recently was promoted by the President to membership on the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Of more than passing interest in these appointments is the fact that Waller is a former law partner of Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] and De Vane is the law partner of Charles O. Andrews Jr., son of Sen. Charles O. Andrews Sr. [D., Fla.] and the senator's former campaign manager. Both of the Florida senators have been down the line New Dealers, supporting the President to the Nth degree.

Allred Defeat Recalled.

Recently the judiciary committee refused to report favorably the nomination of James V. Allred, former governor of Texas, for a place on the 5th circuit bench, in what was attacked as a political payoff in Allred's resignation from the federal district bench in Texas to campaign unsuccessfully last year as the administration candidate against Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.].

"Obviously, if Mr. Allred's nomination is a political deal on the part of the President, the Waller-De Vane nominations represent a political deal between Senators Andrews and Pepper. 'You support the claims of my former law partner and I'll support the claims of your son's law partner'—that must have been the substance of what Mr. Pepper said to Mr. Andrews, or vice versa. 'I'll scratch your back and you scratch my back' is the old saying about log rolling, pork barrel, patronage bucket politics.

Sees Prostitution of Courts.

"This whole series of appointments might well be looked into. The President appears to have prostituted the courts to the service of politics and the two Florida senators have likewise done so. The courts exist to serve the people, not to serve the personal ambitions of would-be judges nor the political nest feathering of political leaders."

Waller has been approved by the senate already, and De Vane's nomination is also expected to encounter little if any opposition because of the traditional rule of senatorial courtesy in supporting a nomination satisfactory to senators from the patronage area.

De Vane formerly practiced law in Washington, D. C., and was with the federal power commission from 1933 to 1938, when he set up a law office with the younger Andrews at Orlando, Fla.

*DECEMBER 7, 1941 : : :

IT BEGAN as any other winter's Sunday. Freighters, cargo liners, passenger ships . . . a thousand odd . . . flying the American flag . . . moved peacefully along their global routes. Then the brutal attack on Pearl Harbor . . . and by the end of the day, this great armada was already molding itself into a single dynamic fighting unit!

From peace to war—overnight! New routes. New destinations. New cargoes. New passengers. A stunning transition . . . made swiftly and efficiently by the sea and shore staffs of America's Merchant Marine.

You probably wouldn't recognize a ship of the Great White Fleet if you saw one today—so complete is the change from peacetime white to fighting grey. But guns and grey are for the business of war—and the Great White Fleet is proud to be an integral part of the fighting American Merchant Marine on a mighty mission over the seven seas.

* * *

For more than 40 years ships of the Great White Fleet have served the Americas, bringing to northern markets an abundance of bananas, sugar, coffee, cocoa, pineapples . . . carrying south cargoes of manufactured goods. Now Middle America's progressive farmers are converting their fertile land to the production of such urgently needed war commodities as rubber, hemp, and rotenone (insecticide), while banana cultivations are still maintained—ready to help feed a war-ravaged world.

After the war—or perhaps before—the Great White Fleet will return to its familiar Middle American routes . . . eager to contribute to the greater opportunities for the exchange of America's goods and services that will be so inevitable a part of the world of tomorrow.

ILLINOIS AIRPORT BILL TO RECEIVE HEARING TODAY

House Group Will Weigh Construction Plan.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—A bill to facilitate construction of airports by cities after the war and to allow other cities to take advantage of federal airport construction during the war will be given its first legislative hearing tomorrow before the house railroads and aviation committee.

The measure, introduced by Representatives William Lawler [R., Springfield] and T. J. Sullivan [D., Springfield], is based on Gov. Dwight H. Green's request, made at the opening of the session, for aid in the development of aviation. An identical measure has been introduced in the senate by Senators E. R. Peters [R., St. Joseph] and Earle Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield].

The proposed statute would authorize creation of municipal airport authorities and the levying of taxes for the location, establishment, and maintenance of airports.

3 Liquor Bills Up.

Three liquor bills also will be heard tomorrow before the house liquor regulation committee. The measures would eliminate retail liquor sales by drug stores and groceries, would ban the sale of liquor to girls under 21 years old, and would increase the power of local liquor commissions.

On passage stage in the house is a bill which, for the duration of the war, would allow the manufacture of ice cream containing not less than 10 per cent of milk fat by weight. Present regulations set the minimum at 12 per cent.

The principal interest in tomorrow's senate session is in the bills to create a University of Southern Illinois. Three extended hearings have been held on the bills, one before the senate as a whole. Legislative observers believe interest in the measures has lagged since the testimony of Dr. George Works, an authority on higher educational development, who asserted creation of the school at this time would be a mistake.

Vote to Be First Test.

Tomorrow's vote will be the first real test of the proposal, which has met widespread opposition in educational circles.

Senate passage is expected this week for the 81 measures revising and modernizing Illinois statutes. Parole reform measures, both those introduced by Sen. William Connors [D., Chicago] in the senate and by Rep. Fred Rennick [R., Buda] in the house, are on first reading in the house and probably will be advanced to passage stage by the end of the week.

The budgetary committee will meet tomorrow night with Gov. Green, with the prospect the budget bills will be introduced Wednesday or Thursday.

The first hearing on the study of state motor vehicle barriers and reciprocity agreements will be held tomorrow morning by the special senate committee headed by Sen. Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb]. State officials have been asked to testify.

CIRCUS PALS TO BURY CURLY IN OWN VALHALLA

Curly Brown, the sword swallower, is to get a burial today with the great and near great of the circus and carnival world instead of the unmarked Potter's field grave to which his remains were apparently destined before some of his pals learned of his death.

By action voted yesterday by directors of the Showman's league Curly will be interred in Showman's Rest, a huge plot in Woodlawn cemetery maintained by the league as a sort of Valhalla for distinguished members of the outdoor showman's profession. It is a 600 grave plot whose boundaries are marked by four huge granite elephants and 300 veterans of the sawdust rings and flying trapeezes of the outdoor circuits already are buried there.

Curly died of pneumonia 10 days ago in a South State street hotel and his body was taken to the county morgue. Curly, 51, was alone in the world and there were no claimants for the body. Preparations for a Potter's grave burial were taking their routine course when members of the league heard of his death. Pall bearers will be clowns, performers, press agents, and bill posters who remember Curly as one of the best sword swallowers of them all.

Boy, 3, Struck by Truck; Dies on Way to Hospital

OBITUARIES

Carl John Appell.

The funeral of Carl John Appell, a special assistant corporation counsel on traction litigation, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Immanuel Lutheran church, Elmdale and Greenview avenues. Mr. Appell, born in Galva, Henry county, 69 years ago, died Sunday in Augustana hospital. He had been ill about a year. Mr. Appell was a graduate of Augustana college, Rock Island, and took his Ph. ROME CARDINAL 3D PRIMATE TO DIE IN A MONTH

LONDON, April 12 (AP).—The Rome radio reported today that Cardinal Federico Cattani-Amadori died of heart disease today at the age of 87.

Cardinal Cattani-Amadori, the sixth member of the Sacred college to die in a year, and the third in a month, was created a prince of the church in 1935 in spite of his renunciation of all ambition to attain this distinction many years before when he accepted appointment as secretary of the supreme tribunal of the Segnatura, which corresponds to a court of appeals. Nevertheless Pope Pius XI. disregarded this avowal of humility by waiving tradition and elevating him to the purple. He was nominated auditor of the Rota in 1909 and served in that post for 15 years. This death reduced the college of cardinals to 46, a record low.

FATHER OF 1916 POISON MYSTERY VICTIM IS DEAD

Frank Lambert, father of Marion Lambert, whose mysterious death caused the celebrated Will Orpet murder trial in 1916, died yesterday in Lake Forest hospital of a heart ailment. He was 76 years old, and lived at 290 East Woodland road, Lake Forest.

Like his wife, Annie, who died in 1939, Mr. Lambert never fully recovered from the shock of his daughter's death. It was he who found Marion's body in a snow covered woodland after an all night search. Her death was caused by poison. Orpet, her friend, was accused of murdering her, but was acquitted in a trial which attracted nation-wide attention.

Mr. Lambert was born in England. He worked as a gardener on Lake Forest estates for 40 years, retiring two years ago. Marion was his only child. A brother, John, living at Long Beach, Cal., and another brother and a sister living in England, survive. Funeral services will be held from the chapel at 233 East Deerpath, Lake Forest, to the First Presbyterian church, Lake Forest, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

CLAIMANT ASKS FOR HEARING ON COONEY ESTATE

Attorney Leonard W. Stearns yesterday filed an answer on behalf of Mrs. Ray Cooney, who claims to be the common law wife of Denis E. Cooney, the late vice lord of the 1st ward, protesting the request of Mrs. Mamie Kempton Cooney, executor, who says she is Cooney's legal widow, to close his estate. Cooney's estate is in the Probate court of Judge John F. O'Connell. It has been inventoried at between $35,000 and $75,000.

The answer denies that the true assets of the estate have been inventoried, claims that Cooney died with personal property far in excess of the inventory now on file, and asks a hearing for further proof of heirship.

Mrs. Mamie Cooney is named as beneficiary under the terms of Cooney's "dream will," so called because she found it 13 months after his death thru a clew in a dream.

MONEY IN BANK JUST INCREASES COUNTY'S WOES

Spending Methods Under Attack Now.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Methods of the Cook county government in handling money in the bank, on the infrequent occasions it has some, were severely criticized yesterday at a county board meeting. After several members had grown irate the board adopted, by a 6 to 5 vote, a motion to reconsider authority granted its finance committee to divide up about $1,750,000 among creditors whose bills total more than five millions.

The cash, derived from sale of 1943 tax anticipation warrants, is in the hands of the county treasurer. William N. Erickson and George A. Miller, Republican commissioners, started the blowup when they asserted the minutes of the March 29 meeting approved the payment of some 9,000 bills, and that this was illegal because no such list of bills was in being.

No View, No. O. K.

"I shall not vote to approve any bills I haven't seen," said Erickson, "and there is no direct evidence this list has yet been made up. The county controler's office has been asked for it, and until this time I haven't been able to get one."

Miller said that he didn't see how the board could pass legally on the bills when it hadn't made any inspection of the figures.

Commissioner Daniel Ryan asserted it was a custom of the board to leave details to the finance committee. Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of this committee, explained that the intention was to pay all bills of less than $150 and at least 10 per cent on all other bills, with 50 per cent for firms supplying fuel, drugs, and groceries to the county institutions.

Bills by the Bushel.

"A long time ago a commissioner wanted to see all the unpaid bills and we dumped three bushels in front of him," Kavanagh said.

In addition, he said, there was a plan to set up a $275,000 fund for "draws"—cash for necessary payments.

"Who's getting the draws? That's what I want to know," Erickson said.

When roll call on his motion to reconsider the finance committee's authority was called, three Democrats—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, Peter Fosco, and Frank Bobrytzke—joined with three Republicans—Miller, Erickson, and John Mackler—in favor of the motion. Opposed, all Democrats, were Ryan and Kavanagh, Miss Mary McEnerney, Harry E. Perry, and John E. Traeger.

Clayton F. Smith, board president, passed his vote. He announced that a special meeting to reconsider the bills would be called in a few days.

Fear Complete Breakdown.

Despite the five millions of unpaid bills, the county corporate fund is unbalanced for 1943 by several millions. Many observers fear that there will be a complete breakdown of its finances before the end of the year. Supplies in general can be purchased now only for cash.

A visitor at yesterday's meeting was Roy Pederson, seeking to collect $60,600 for surgical dressings sold County hospital by a nationally known firm from 1940 to Jan. 1, 1943. He said he had received many promises but no cash and that sales this year to the county are C. O. D. Because of slow pay, ceiling or near ceiling prices must be paid for milk at the institutions, with no bids made except by large dairies with extensive cash resources.

No Coal Bids Offered.

Yesterday it was announced that no bids to provide coal to Oak Forest infirmary could be obtained and every carload was bought for cash in the open market.

In the afternoon the commissioners and representatives of the Civic federation considered legislation proposed at Springfield to lift the county from poverty. William S. Touhy, assistant state's attorney, said the total tax bill for all local taxing bodies had been nearly the same for years, but that the county alone had received only half as much tax revenue altho its responsibilities have increased.

RULES AS SIMPLE AS 'BABY TALK!' THAT'S OPA GOAL

"Baby Talk," the lawyer's term for simplified language, has an important place in the government's price control plans, Elmo P. Hohman, Chicago metropolitan area price officer and Northwestern university economist, told the City club yesterday in the La Salle hotel.

"The lawyers may call it 'baby talk' but there is room for simple and clear language in price regulations," Hohman said. "Regulations have been hopelessly complicated at times and require the aid of the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer to make them understandable.

"The office of price administration is now in the stage of simplification and clarification and is trying to put things in clear English."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Ann Norris, 238 East Walton street.]

THE QUESTION.

What do you think of the new shoppers' schedule between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.?

WHERE ASKED.

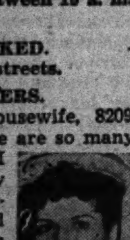
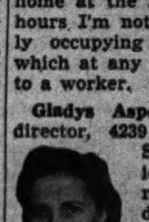
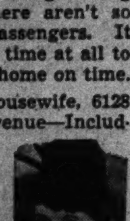
THE ANSWERS.



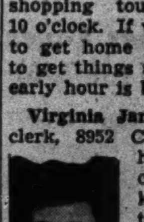
Mrs. I. Z. Lee, housewife, 8209 Rhodes avenue—There are so many advantages that I won't shop at any other time. Transportation is good and the clerks are more cheerful. When I ride home at the nonrush hours I'm not unjustly occupying a seat which at any other time should go to a worker.



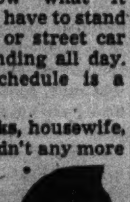
Gladys Aspelmeyer, recreational director, 4239 Drexel boulevard—Shopping is much easier when done at the right hour. It can be done in half the time. The buses and street cars travel right along when there aren't so many passengers. It takes no time at all to finish the job and get home on time.



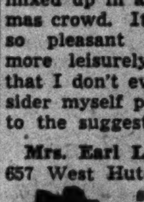
Mrs. R. E. Cohn, housewife, 6128 South Washtenaw avenue—Including the other advantages, it's the most practical thing to do. If we attend to things at home we're never ready to leave on a shopping tour until 10 o'clock. If we want to get home on time to get things started for dinner, an early hour is best.



Virginia Janik, vacationing sales clerk, 8952 Commercial avenue—I have been a sales clerk long enough to know what it means to wait on a crowd of people all at once. I also know what it means to have to stand on a bus or street car after standing all day. The new shoppers' schedule is a good idea.



Mrs. Charles W. Fricks, housewife, Brewster hotel—I wouldn't any more think of shopping during rush hours than I would of shopping on a Saturday or getting mixed up in a Christmas crowd. It can be so pleasant in the more leisurely hours that I don't even consider myself patriotic for living up to the suggested schedule.



Mrs. Earl L. Vernon, housewife, 657 West Hutchinson street—The service is at its best when the clerks aren't too busy. When I leave at a reasonably early hour I can be sure I'm not going to have to stand up in a bus all the way home. I wouldn't even attempt to board a bus during the rush hours. I'm all for the new schedule.

CAFE PRICE LID AT LAST WEEK'S PEAK IS ASKED

Restaurants and other food dispensaries in the midwest office of price administration region were requested last night by Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, to hold their meal prices within the highest prices of last week.

Restaurant owners were directed to submit true copies of menus or to file other statements showing prices on all meals and food preparations from April 4 thru 10, the base period on which the emergency price ceiling will be posted. The price statements must be filed with local war price and rationing boards by May 1.

McKeough's request did not constitute an order. He indicated a regulation affecting restaurant prices will be issued later, probably after May 1, unless emergency action is required.

'PROOF' SEIZED BEFORE HEARING, FELON CHARGES

Prison Aids Accused by Bongiorno Witness.

John Bongiorno.

George Foley, a convict from the Joliet penitentiary, made new charges against prison officials yesterday before Federal Judge John P. Barnes at a habeas corpus hearing based on a complaint that a sentence of 199 years for the murder of a policeman is a cruel and unusual punishment. The petitioner is John Bongiorno, a convict, who charges that prison officials interfered with his efforts to obtain the hearing before a letter finally reached Judge Barnes.

Foley was called as a witness by Bongiorno's lawyer, Charles Liebman, a court appointee. His testimony was intended to substantiate Bongiorno's contention that punishment for infraction of prison rules is severe. Foley duly assured one and all that life in Joliet prison is no bed of roses, then went further.

Tells of Writing Washington.

Atty. Liebman had the convict tell of a letter he wrote to the United States department of commerce giving suggestions for an anti-submarine device, for which the department later thanked him.

"Did you have any difficulty in sending the message to Washington?" asked Liebman.

"I sure did," the convict replied. "I talked to Assistant Warden Frank Hill and Capt. James Carpenter about it. Carpenter raised all kinds of obstacles. Hill didn't seem to be so set against it but as you know Carpenter is the real warden down there and Hill had to do what he said."

Assistant Atty. Gen. Hector Brouillet moved that this remark be stricken from the record.

"Leave it in," ruled Judge Barnes. "I have an idea what he says is true."

Prisoner Accuses Official.

Foley said he finally got help from Father Elegius Weir, the prison chaplain, in sending the letter to Washington. Then, pointing to Brouillet, whose objection seemed to have angered him, the convict told the court:

"He [Brouillet] told me I had not exhausted the channels of the state courts when I appeared before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan last October on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. I didn't have my proof in court with me because they took it away when I left the prison. They promised to return the papers but I never saw them again."

When Foley left the witness stand Judge Barnes said to him: "Good luck, George, and take care of yourself."

Foley smiled and as he passed Brouillet he slapped the lawyer on the back and said: "Good luck, Mr. Brouillet, and take care of yourself."

Fireman Cut by Falling Plaster in $3,000 Blaze

Fireman Ernest A. Grohnke, 32 years old, of 2842 Grace street, was cut over an eye by falling plaster yesterday as firemen battled a blaze in a two story frame building at 6403-05 Irving Park road. Damage of $3,000 was caused to a drug store and a tailor shop on the first floor of the building. The second story was vacant. Grohnke was treated at St. Anne's hospital.

Mrs. L. writes: "My husband and I are divorced, and by court order he now pays $20 per week for the support of our three children. However, several weeks ago he remarried and has now been classified as 1-A and has passed his physical examination. Can you tell me if I will receive an allowance for the three children and whether the court decree ordering my ex-husband to pay support will be recognized by the army?"

ANSWER: If the court order is still in effect, your husband will be obligated to supply some support for the children. Children of previous marriages, in cases where there are court orders for support, may receive a government contribution up to $20 a month. It is not possible to say what the exact amount would be, since the court order must be examined by war department attorneys to determine it. The soldier's contribution of $22 would be divided by his present wife and the children by his previous marriage.

Mrs. J. writes: "My husband was released from the army in February. He was discharged as in perfect health. Four weeks after his return home, he had to be rushed to the hospital for an emergency operation. He will be in the hospital for two weeks and will be unable to work for at least three months. We have an 8 month old baby, who must be fed and clothed. Will you please tell me where I can turn for assistance?"

ANSWER: Consult the Army Emergency Relief society, Room 1109, 20 North Wacker drive. That agency can advise or assist you.

O. S. writes: "I understand that your department has the form of affidavit necessary for class B dependents of army men. Will you please tell me how many I will need and the cost of them? Can you also tell me how a stepmother is classified as far as an allowance is concerned? My stepson has supported me for five years. May I be named beneficiary on his army insurance?"

ANSWER: Two affidavits are necessary for each class B dependent of a soldier. This department will supply them upon request. There is no charge for such forms. A stepmother may be classed as a dependent and may receive the same allowance as a natural mother. However, no more than two parents are eligible for an allowance based on the service of one soldier.

You also can be named as beneficiary on a soldier's National Service insurance, if you are specifically designated by him.

The license fee is $200 a year, with an additional $50 fee to be paid by those providing entertainment.

'Simple Hillbilly' Gets 10 Days for Theft.

Mrs. Mayme Glasgow, 46 years old, of 4300 West 103d street, Oak Lawn, who was described by her attorney as "just a simple hillbilly," won the dubious distinction yesterday of being the first chicken thief in Criminal court for as long as any one could remember.

Mrs. Glasgow was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail and placed on two years' probation by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro on a charge of burglary.

She was accused of entering the chicken coop of Howard Ellis, 10325 South Kolin avenue, Oak Lawn, on Feb. 13, and attempting to steal chickens.

John Koziol of 10315 South Kostner avenue, a neighbor of Ellis,' was the state's principal witness.

He testified that he had been aroused by suspicious noises in Ellis' chicken coop and had pushed open the door of the coop to investigate.

"Mrs. Glasgow came out, her hands in the air, and begging me not to shoot," Koziol said. "A chicken fluttered out from under her coat. The situation sure looked suspicious."

"What did you do then?" asked Assistant State's Atty. Richard Devine.

"I told her to get back into the chicken coop, and I locked the door from the outside to keep her in there while I called police."

Koziol had forgotten the 12 by 14 inch opening used by the chickens, but Mrs. Glasgow hadn't.

"When police got there we looked inside the coop for Mrs. Glasgow, but she wasn't there," Koziol continued. He paused, and Devine asked him, "Well, where was Mrs. Glasgow?"

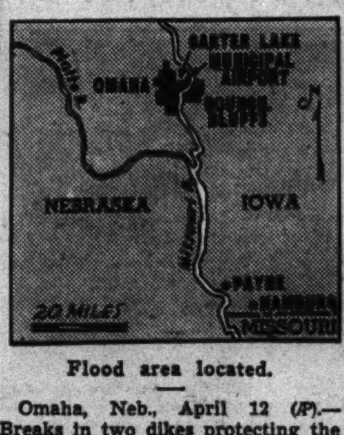
"She was stuck in the chicken's door," Koziol replied.

Mrs. Glasgow indignantly denied that she had gone into the coop to steal chickens.

"There are wolves around that neighborhood," she said. "I figured they had been getting the chickens. I thought I heard a wolf in Ellis' chicken coop, and I went in after him."

"I don't know about wolves," Devine told the court, "but if there are any, Mrs. Glasgow's arrest was a lesson to them. There hasn't been a chicken stolen since she's been in jail."

Flood Area



Flood area located.

Omaha, Neb., April 12 (AP).—Breaks in two dikes protecting the east end of Omaha from the Missouri river sent flood waters tonight into the 10 square mile Carter lake basin and threatened to inundate the Omaha municipal airport and the village of Carter Lake, Ia.

The first break occurred in the main levee which hitherto had held the swollen river in check, and about four hours later another break occurred in a smaller temporary dike recently thrown up south of the river where it bends toward the east.

Lt. Col. C. S. Davis of the army engineers said a low spot north of the airport was filling with water. Carter Lake would feel the force of the flood before the airport, he added.

LOWER 13 CASE WITNESS FAILS TO PICK KILLER

Albany, Ore., April 12 (AP).—Marine Pvt. Harold Wilson, key state witness in the trial of Robert E. Lee Folkes, said today he could not identify Folkes as the man he saw climb from lower berth 13 after Mrs. Martha Virginia James' throat was slashed. Folkes is charged with murder.

With a dramatic pause, Defense Atty. Leroy Lomax pointed to Folkes, 20 year old Negro second cook on the train the comely Norfolk, Va., girl was riding when she was slain Jan. 23.

"Is this the man you saw coming out of the berth?" Lomax asked.

Wilson, only witness disclosed by the state to have seen the killer of Ensign Richard F. James' 21 year old bride, told Friday how he looked from his berth in upper 13, saw a man emerge from lower 13 in the pre-dawn darkness and run out of the car.

Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling adjourned the trial until Wednesday after a conference with Lomax' physicians. They told the judge that the defense attorney needed a rest.

Conductor—You see, you and your mother are making your entire trip on this Burlington Zephyr. Your trip started at Chicago a little while ago and it will end in Denver tomorrow morning. But this gentleman's trip is going to take him way beyond Denver. He's going from there to Salt Lake City—then to San Francisco and he'll end up in Los Angeles.

Jean—How do you know he's going all those places—did the man tell you?

Conductor—No, but this long ticket did. You see, it's really a lot of tickets linked together just like a chain. Each one of them belongs to a different railroad. This one I'm tearing off now is a Burlington ticket and it says "from Chicago to Denver." After he leaves Denver, he'll ride on several different railroads and as he does, each conductor will tear off his share of this long ticket.

Jean—A lot of other people on this train have long tickets, too. Are they all going where the man is?

Conductor—No, if you could talk to all of them, you'd find they came to Chicago from many different places—from East, North and South. And you'd find, too, that they're headed for a lot of different places.

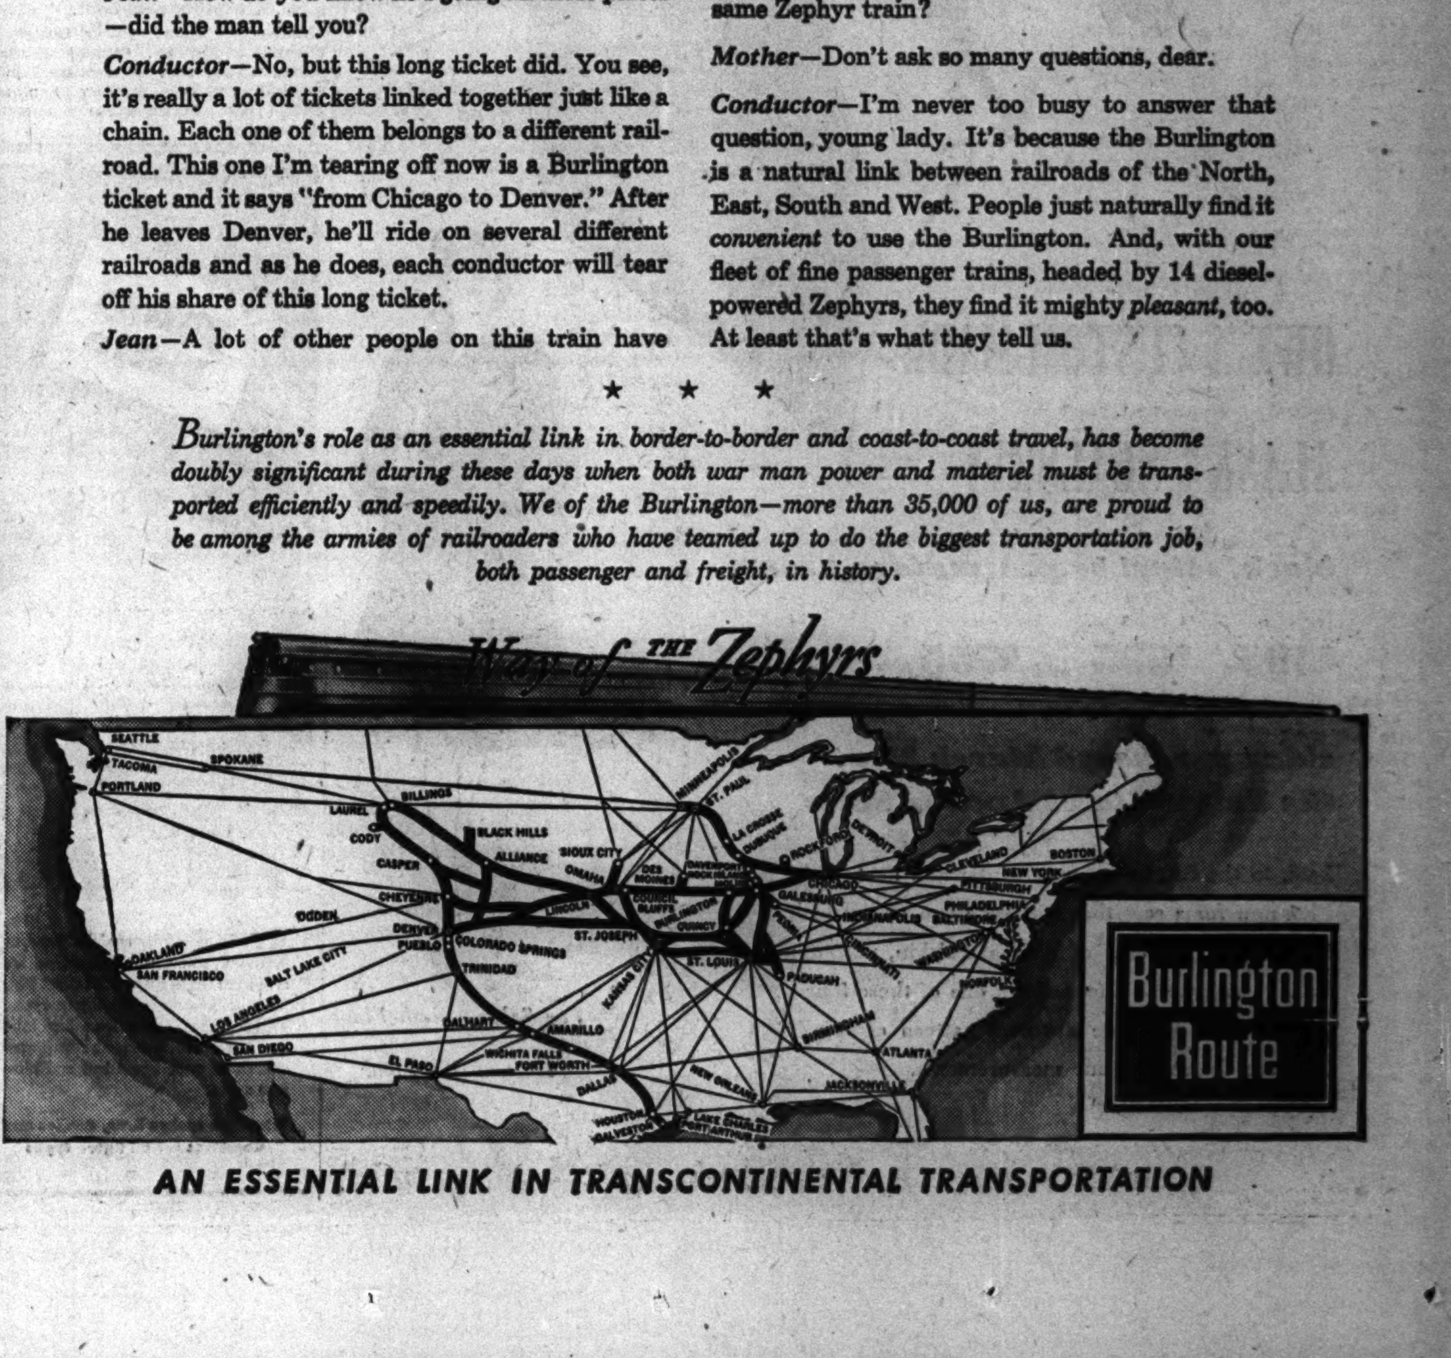
Jean—Then how do they all happen to be on this same Zephyr train?

Mother—Don't ask so many questions, dear.

Conductor—I'm never too busy to answer that question, young lady. It's because the Burlington is a natural link between railroads of the North, East, South and West. People just naturally find it convenient to use the Burlington. And, with our fleet of fine passenger trains, headed by 14 diesel-powered Zephyrs, they find it mighty pleasant, too. At least that's what they tell us.

* * *

Burlington's role as an essential link in border-to-border and coast-to-coast travel, has become doubly significant during these days when both war man power and materiel must be transported efficiently and speedily. We of the Burlington—more than 35,000 of us, are proud to be among the armies of railroaders who have teamed up to do the biggest transportation job, both passenger and freight, in history.



AN ESSENTIAL LINK IN TRANSCONTINENTAL TRANSPORTATION

Garden Club Leaders Tell War Service

War service was the theme of the annual meeting yesterday of the Garden Club of Illinois in the Palmer House. Reports of the various committee chairmen stressed the important part members of the organization, composed of 129 garden clubs in the Chicago area, are taking in sponsoring war gardens and building up morale of service men thru gifts of flowers and plants at army and navy training camps, hospitals, chapels, and recreation centers.

Mrs. Harry Kerr, chairman of the committee in charge of the organization's activity at Fort Sheridan, reported her group is planting 1,100 shrubs in the hospital and training grounds. Especially treasured by Mrs. Kerr are letters of commendation from various chaplains.

Reports of garden club work at the Glenview air base, Great Lakes, Camp Skokie Valley, Edward Hines Jr. hospital, and at the army air forces hospital were in similar vein. All chairmen stressed the pleasure of direct contacts with the service men in the hospitals and their appreciation of the bouquets and holiday decorations provided by the club.

Mrs. Thompson M. Wakeley, director at large of the club, introduced the chairmen. She said every garden club now realizes the vital part is must play in war garden and other work. Mrs. Raymond Knotts presided at the meeting.

In a civics projects contest, Cary Garden club won first prize for the park it created on highway 14 at Cary. The Elmhurst group received second prize for its bird sanctuary in Wilder park; the third prize went to the Fox River Grove Garden club for converting a sand and gravel dump into a park at the railroad station.

The annual meeting and business conference of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, of which the Garden Club of Illinois is a member, will be held May 4, 5, and 6 at the Hotel Sherman, with delegates from 40 states in attendance. Election of officers will be held and reports of the work of the state garden clubs will be given.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

In October, 1942, officials of the Union Station company, realizing that it was more important than ever for the mails to go thru on time, set about hiring crews of women to replace men who were off to war and to supplement the depleted force of men handlers. Today 40 to 50 women, working in three 8 hour shifts, are doing a highly creditable job of handling and sorting parcel post packages that cannot be sacked, as well as allocating and loading sacks of mail that are run thru the terminal on conveyor belts.

Since the equivalent of 100 carloads of mail—200 carloads on peak days—passes thru the Union station terminal each day, it is obvious that the women must step lively to keep on schedule. And they do just that, with good cheer, too. When the heavily loaded trucks are trundled down the long tunnel that reaches from the new postoffice building to the northern boundary of the station, the women are on hand to assort parcels for outgoing trains. Some packages they can handle alone; others require two for transfer to trucks designated for various railroads.

Further statistics, supplied by O. H. Frick, manager of the Union Station company, reveal that 40 per cent of all mail passing thru Chicago is cleared thru the terminal, which serves four railroads—the Pennsylvania, the Burlington, the Milwaukee road, and the Alton. Of this amount, the women handle from 15 to 20 per cent of the entire volume.

The chief qualification in obtaining these unusual and highly important jobs is that the applicants be husky in build, as the work demands muscular prowess. Other than that, there is no training course and no maximum age limit if a woman qualifies in other respects. The women receive equal pay and have equal hours with men workers.

Of the women already pioneering in mail handling, some work just because they like it. One woman, a young mother of six children, took the job because her husband's a railroad man and she always has liked hard work. Another woman, who'd never had a job in her life, applied for and obtained a job as mail handler, hiring a woman to keep house for her. She felt as tho she were contributing more directly to the war, she said, and besides, her husband works in a defense plant.

Women interested in this type of work or in working in the parcel and hand luggage checking, a program just getting under way, should apply to R. B. Hunter, general mail and baggage agent, 516 West Jackson boulevard.

Mrs. William H. Stanley, director of consumer information service for the OCD, has issued a call to all division and community chairmen to meet with block wardens to map plans for a canning survey in the entire Chicago metropolitan area. The wardens will conduct a house to house canvass to obtain data on the number of women who plan to can food and what their facilities are. The number and places of community canning classes will be based on this information.

Housewives will be asked whether they plan on canning, whether they have pressure cookers, and whether they'd be willing to assist their neighbors by lending their cookers to the neighbors or to a community kitchen. Special instruction to consumer chairmen and wardens is to be given in schools to be set up in branch offices of the Peoples Gas Light & Coke company.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Few things at the bridge table make a player feel sillier than to arrive at the end of the hand "holding the wrong card." When this little faux pas results in the fulfillment of a slam contract, substantial monetary loss may be piled on normal humiliation. To wit:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ 5 4 3 2
♥ K 6 3
♦ 10 4 3
♣ A 9 8

WEST	EAST
♠ 10	♠ 8
♥ A Q 10 2	♥ J 9 8 7 5 4
♦ K 9 8 7 6	♦ J 2
♣ 5 4 2	♣ 10 7 6 3

SOUTH

♦ A Q 5
♣ K Q J

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

It was fortunate for South that he was using the Culbertson four-five no trump convention rather than the Blackwood, inasmuch as his four no trump bid could secure the specific information that North held the club ace. Under Blackwood, the four no trump would elicit the announcement of one ace from North, but from South's point of view that might well be the heart ace, which would be almost worthless.

West opened what appeared to be the safest card, namely, the spade ten. Declarer won, cashed the king and queen of clubs, then overtook the club jack. Now a low diamond was led and the queen finessed. West won and promptly returned the diamond nine. If declarer had ducked this in dummy, he would have been able to lay down the hand and claim the contract, but when he covered with dummy's diamond ten and East in turn played the jack, declarer's slam contract was up the flue. Or rather [I hasten to add] it would have been up the flue except for the fact that West was soon to dash to the rescue.

After taking East's diamond jack with the queen, declarer ran off every trump. West discarded hearts and diamonds indiscriminately until, when the last trump was played, he was suddenly faced with the "horrible choice" of relinquishing the heart ace or the diamond eight. Desperately, he considered partner's discards—which had been five hearts—for a cue to his present diemma—but he could find none and finally, after a hollow groan and a bewildered shake of the head, he let go the lowly eight-spot in order to hold the lordly ace. Declarer was not slow to produce the diamond five for the fulfilling trick.

East's disgust was something to behold and he expressed himself rather forcibly. "But how could I tell whether declarer had a heart or a diamond?" wailed West self-righteously.

The answer was swift and to the point. "Didn't it occur to you that if I had held the diamond five, which couldn't be worth a plugged penny in any case, I would have discarded it immediately to tell you where it was, instead of discarding nothing but hearts?"

Sheer Blouses Are Feminine and Flattering

BY REA SEEGER.

Sheer flattery for any suit, dark or light of color, is provided by new sheer blouses just unpacked for the Easter shoppers. These transparent confections are delightfully feminine and decorative and contrast well with tailored suits and the softer dressmaker versions or with extra jackets used with extra skirts. Striped sheers in green and white or blue and white use the diagonal or bias cut of the narrow striped material for the picturesque ruffled collar along the deep vee neckline. This is the ruffled accent to cascade outside the jacket vee.

Another sheer whimsey is a blouse with long sleeves, cuffed neatly with a wide band and a long pair of streamers at the throat to be tied in a large bow under the chin. The sheer is a crystal cool white dotted with penny size circles of red, green, yellow, and blue. The circles are widely spaced, so that more white is visible than color. Dotted sheers like these are grand contrasts for navy blue or black suits. The price mark [under $5] certainly makes them a good buy.

White dotted blouses employ the dots closely massed together against tobacco brown, raspberry red, and deep blue backgrounds. Ruffled bias cut neck frills are the only softening device, thus making such a model telling contrast for strictly tailored jackets or the dressmaker type. Later in the season, sheer blouses of this variety will combine with dress parade skirts to make summery shirtwaist costumes, to be worn as such without benefit of a jacket.

Blenda Sterner Gives Piano Recital Lacking in Heroic Exposition

Blenda Sterner, who appeared in piano recital at Kimball hall last night, has not yet organized her talents for public appearance. At its best, her playing suggests a candid conviction of its own worth, but her technique is so insecure it breaks down under pressure, betraying her into inaccurate and immature performance. Mozart's Sonata in A, for instance, was turned into a blurred and halting shadow of its sparkling self. A Brahms Intermezzo [opus 116, No. 4] went better, and the middle sections of Chopin's Sonata in B-flat minor were more successful in sustaining a clean phrase, but the performance as a whole lacked the authority of heroic exposition and the fluency of brilliant style. Like so many other début pianists, Miss Sterner was tackling a program far beyond her technical means of support.—C. C.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Letter to the Boss.

"Dear Boss: The other day I read some paragraphs in the White Collar Girl column about furloughs for girls. That set me thinking, and you know, Boss, right away that means a letter to you!

"I got to thinking that the sore point in these furloughs is this: There's a difference in what employers expect of the 'old' girls and the 'new.' New help is hard to find, hence the employers are 'all out' for the new girls. Their requests for days off are promptly granted. But the 'old' girls are supposed to act as before!

"Remember when it was an employers' market instead of the present employés market? At that time the bosses—many of them—were unreasonable about letting the girls off for any reason at all. We girls couldn't help ourselves, but with the war and the labor shortage, all that has changed.

"Now, when the 'new' girls get off so readily to meet an incoming train or bid some one good-by, it creates quite a situation. Yet the employer could ease this tension by favoring the requests of those who have been with the company a long time just the same as the requests of the newer girls.

"I know you don't mean it to be this way, Boss. You just sort of take some of us for granted. You are comfortably sure we're not going to quit at the drop of the hat. The new girls you aren't sure about; you are afraid they will quit. The result? They get all the consideration? Is it fair? You know the answer. Yours—for better understanding all around."—D.

Interoffice Communication.

"This is to acquaint you with the fact that the men in our office are absent just as much as the women, only no one ever notices the men's absence because the girls do all the work."—Betty.

There Comes a Time.

"There comes a time in every man's life when answers to certain problems cannot be found in business books. Even the boss is stumped!

"In order to relay our problem to you and find the solution we must beat around the bush, but here it is: In these days of style and clothing restrictions, the girls [bless 'em] do the best they can to make a neat and attractive appearance before us, their fellow employés. Some of the girls with beautiful legs are prone to take advantage of skirt styles and display their 'gams' to the best advantage. But, in so doing they must be careful of their position at their desks. Do you follow? Those who have their typewriters in the middle of desks are fortunate, may we say? Others who have typewriters on stands and move around to face us . . .

"Do we make ourselves clear?

"And if this is carried still further by the damsel placing a three inch heel on the bottom drawer of her desk in order to be more comfortable . . .

"Can you advise what to do, since the desk cannot be moved so that she faces the wall?"—The Rialto Boys.

In the Mail.

"It's great to see 'The Belle of Clearing' in the White Collar Girl notebook . . . and I'm glad Emily's 'Wanna Go Home and Bake a Cake' verse is in it . . . and 'On Soap' . . . and 'Our New Steno' . . . but our boss has been going around with the 'cat that swallowed the canary' look. Tell us quick—what has HE got in it?"—Midge C.

Lake Forest Group Will Hold Annual Easter Sale Outdoors

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Easter sale the Parish guild of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest holds every year on the day before Easter is to be an outdoor event this year. The lateness of Easter Sunday, April 25, and the resulting expectations of fair weather brought about this decision on the part of the committee in charge. If by chance the day is not fair, the sale will be moved indoors to the Lake Forest Y. W. C. A., where luncheon will be served rain or shine. Otherwise the event will be held in Market square, opposite the railroad station in the village, and on which the "Y" fronts.

The committee is going in heavily for victory gardening appurtenances this year and will have baskets of garden tools, kneeling pads, and other gadgets on hand. It also will be prepared to take orders for tomato and other vegetable plants and in addition will offer, for the purpose of raising food and not as playthings, dozens of baby chicks and bunnies. The committee hopes to have the usual supply of large and small flowering plants donated from Lake Forest greenhouses, altho most private greenhouses there have been closed, due to fuel rationing, or are used now for raising vegetables.

Daughters of Members Will Handle Grab Bag.

Mrs. Harry N. King and Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman are general chairmen of the sale. Mrs. John J. Borland II. and Mrs. Chauncey Hutchins are in charge of the cake and candy booth. Some grade school daughters of guild members will handle the grab bag as usual. Others serving on the committee are Mrs. Proehl Jaklon and Mrs. Alexander C. Revell Jr., who will be cashiers; Mrs. Burford Porter, Mrs. Frank Priebe, Mrs. Richard D. Gunthorpe, Mrs. Louis C. Seaverns, Mrs. William S. North, Mrs. D. Robert Pierson, and Mrs. Frank Reynolds. Mrs. Boardman designed the clever posters of yellow with applique effect of chicks and bunnies that are on display to announce the sale.

At a meeting yesterday the women's guild of Christ church, Winnetka, decided to go ahead with its annual Easter sale, but in the simplest manner possible, on Saturday, May 1, at the parish house. No luncheon will be served this year, but the customary tables set with the guild's pretty handmade things will be on view under the direction of Mrs. Henry Tenney, Mrs. Samuel Greeley, and Mrs. E. Ashley Gerhard. Baby things and fancy work will be on view. Mrs. Dudley Palmer is chairman of the sale, assisted by Mrs. Harold Wilder.

Festivities Are Arranged for Defauw and His Wife.

As Desiré Defauw, who is to conduct the Chicago Symphony orchestra next season, is bringing his wife with him to Chicago this week, a whole flock of little cards "To meet Mr. and Mrs. Defauw" have been received by interested friends of the orchestra. Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the Orchestra association, and Mrs. Ryerson are entertaining at dinner on Thursday night and taking the distinguished Belgian born conductor and his wife on to the concert in Orchestra hall that night.

On Friday there will be a luncheon at the Palmer House at which the orchestra's sustaining members will meet the Defauws, and that night Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson have invited the directors of the association and their wives to dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Defauw. The headlight of the Defauws' visit of course will be the annual invitational concert for members of the association that Mr. Defauw will conduct in Orchestra hall on Saturday afternoon, followed by a reception for him and for Hans Lange, the associate conductor, and members of the orchestra.

Party to Be Given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Lange.

Rounding out the week-end will be a party Mr. and Mrs. Lange are giving, also "to meet" Mr. and Mrs. Defauw, from 5 to 7 next Sunday afternoon in their Sheridan road apartment.

Two devoted orchestra couples who will have returned from a California holiday in time for the festivities for next season's conductor are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swift and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse. They have been at Arrowhead Springs.

There will be something doing no doubt for Carleton Smith, who arrived in Chicago yesterday on his way from the west coast to Washington, D. C. He will be spending the week at the Ambassador, and lecturing here and there. Mr. Smith

Strictly Friends.

Notice in the Decatur [Mich.] Republican:

"There was talk of me, Mrs. Dick Smith, moving in with another family, just because we are friends, and visit back and forth. I want them to know, we are paying for our home the honest way and don't have to move in with any one else.

"[Signed] Mrs. Dick Smith."

Calling Father Divine.

In these turbulent times a delicate spiritual uplift can be attained [reports Roberta] by telephoning the Paradise Ice Cream company. The lilting melodious voice of the operator answers: "Good afternoon: Paradise."

As Many a Man Thinks.

Roy Young tells of the young Chicagoan, 4 years old, who, in saying his nightly prayer last week, said fervently: "Give us this day our daily bread." Then, after a long pause: "And a piece of meat, too, please."

Women Are Vain?

Just thought you'd like to know that when the Service Men's Center in the Auditorium opened its officers' club the other day, not one, but six officers asked the cloak room attendant where a mirror could be found. The club now is installing a mirror.

Incidentally, the moving picture show in the officers' canteen last week was a gay little revision of the world war expression: "Would you rather be a colonel with an eagle on your shoulder or a private with a chicken on your knee?" One general who saw it sighed and offered to remove his stars that night.

It Happened Here.

We're a little late in relaying this, but Harriet O'Rourke, the singer, tells of a friend who was walking with another girl down Michigan avenue near the Blackstone two weeks or so ago. They met a lone woman who looked familiar.

"That woman looks homely enough to be Mrs. Roosevelt," the girl remarked.

The woman turned around and smiled sweetly.

"I am Mrs. Roosevelt," she said, and shook hands with them.

Sign of the Times.

Hut-Nuttiness!

A soldier in Iceland, writing to a Chicago girl, Jeannette Stephan, said that the boys there were suffering from hut-nuttiness. He wrote:

"Hut-nuttiness is that frame of mind or condition of the body which causes its victims to react to ordinary, every day happenings in a most startling manner. It is characterized by the utter abandon and spectacular manner in which its victims act. It is caused by prolonged periods of monotony and is a defense against the very thing that causes it. If you have it, monotony flies out the window; if you don't have it, you need it. If you have it, you don't need it. See what I mean?"

Mrs. Yegge Again Heads Evanston Junior League

North Shore Women Will Hold War Bond Auction Sale Tonight

Bidding is expected to be heated tonight in the Glencoe theater, where the women's divisions of the bond selling committees in Glencoe, Winnetka, Kenilworth, and Wilmette will start the second war loan drive with a sale of donated merchandise. Garden implements, fruit trees and berry bushes, a No. 17 coupon for a pair of shoes, a Chippendale chair, and a "slightly used" electric refrigerator are among the precious items to be exchanged by purchases of war bonds.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck is in charge of arrangements for the auction sale. She will be among those entertaining at "bidders' dinners" before the sale, as will be Mrs. Abel Davis, Mrs. Walter Preston, Mrs. John Nuveen Jr., Mrs. Frank Adams, Mrs. George Quinlan, the John Derns, the William B. Hales, and the Ernest S. Ballards.

Thru the Looking Glass

No. 1 on our personal hit parade of grooming aids: A combination rattail comb and brush that can be carried in the purse. What a hair grooming gadget it is!

It's less than six inches long and light as the traditional feather, being made of plastic. One end is the rattail shape, so you can coil curls like mad if that's what your hair calls for. At the other end there are three rows of bristles and, above these, a little comb. There is also a little thumb rest, so that whether you brush your curls, comb your hair, or coil a curl with the rattail, you can have just the leverage you need!

It's a three-in-one hair grooming gadget, and describing it is difficult. But we think it's better than just a comb. If you have a pompadour, for example, you'll find the brush practically invaluable in keeping it sleek. If you wear your hair high, you'll find that brushing as well as combing it upward helps make it hold in the back. If you like curls, you'll find the rattail part invaluable, and certainly brushing the strands before you coil them is all to the good. They'll undoubtedly have more gloss, which is just what you want.

This is, in combination, just about everything you need [except hairpins] to keep your head well dressed. It takes up little space in your pocketbook or your desk drawer AND it isn't at all expensive. Whether your coiffure calls for curls or a smooth, waved line, you'll find it something more than just useful; it will help you to "dress" your hair rather than just comb it.

Sachets May Pinch Hit for Scarce Scents

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Powder and sachet daintiness is the ultra in femininity. And now that toilet waters, colognes and perfumes [always a luxury] are becoming scarce, you may like to practice some old scenting tricks achieved by the use of sachets scattered among your lingerie, tied to your dress hangers and strewn among your bureau drawer knicknacks. As for body powders, not only do they impart a velvety finish to your skin after bathing, but they also waft a delicate scent.

Choose a favorite sachet scent and use it exclusively, only changing when you feel you'd like to have a new scent personality. For that's what sachet gives you—a distinct scent personality by which you'll be known. The nice thing about sachet is that you can smell it on yourself and you know that has been your complaint with some perfumes: you couldn't smell them on yourself.

Sachet has a delicate and elusive fragrance, but fairly long lasting and a little goes a long way. If you buy a bottle of sachet instead of sachet bags already made up, you can fashion your own sachet bags by sprinkling the powder between two pieces of clean, absorbent cotton and fitting the cotton into a little bag made yourself from odd pieces of dainty material. These bags may then be placed in your drawers or tied to your dress hangers with ribbon.

You can also pin one to your brassiere. The heat of your body will cause the fragrance to multiply in strength. Sachet bags also may be tucked in among your stationery so that when you write to him in the service he will get a breath of your sweetness when he opens and reads your letter. Another sachet trick is to sew flat sachet bags in the inside band of your hat, or hide several small ones in the flowers of your new spring chapeau to give their artificiality mysterious significance.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., April 12.—The search for Marilynn Miller is at an end. Little Joan Leslie's got the part. . . . George Brent, besides William Powell, will be in "Heavenly Body." . . . From Washington comes word that Col. Darryl Zanuck remains in the army regardless. . . . Fred Allen said he was thru with the air at the end of this year and he meant it. It was Director Alfred Hitchcock who talked him into doing another picture. He's never liked himself on the screen. Well, he's never had the right story, but with Hitchy at the helm he'll be able to do his own ad libs and should emerge a big star. There's one of the funniest men in the whole entertainment industry. . . . Paulette Goddard is fishing in deep water down Mexico way. She's not angling for trout, either. Only the biggest fish for little P. G.'s hook.

Showing the Way.

Mark Hellinger's musical, "Thank Your Lucky Stars," according to those who saw the sneak preview, is a smash hit. Bette Davis' jitterbug number is solid. So is Eddie Cantor. Ditto Dinah Shore. . . . Warners just bought "Handbook for Jealousy," Sinclair Lewis' newest. That, too, will employ all their stars. . . . Phyllis Brooks is wearing a new medal suit. Among imitation medals on her chest, she had one real one—"E" for effort. She was proud of that 'cause she said, "Boy! Did I earn it!" . . . Soon as Victor McLaglen finishes "Roger Touhy" and "Guadalcanal Diary" he's off to buy more cattle for his 760 acre ranch near Fresno.

He'll Learn.

Gregory Ratoff didn't know how much of a chance he took when he started telling four professional fighters—Eddie River, John Stuart, Lew Brady, and Sam Herman—what to do with their fists in "Russia." Maybe he could have directed it better if one had popped him on the jaw. . . . "Just call me cupid," says Gus Schilling, who carries love notes between Deanna Durbin and Joseph Cotten in "Hers To Hold." He's so good the part has been built up to last eight weeks instead of two. . . . K. T. Stevens, Sam Wood's daughter, has all her parts at Columbia hand picked by her daddy. Unless they're right, she doesn't do 'em. . . . Ivan Lebedeff, actor, has written a novel called "Brothers," about an Englishwoman who married an Englishman, then a German. Had a son by each, with brother fighting brother. Warners are considering buying it.

Don't Crowd, Girls.

Dick Thorpe's having dame trouble. He begins "Cry Havoc" on the 26th and so far, he's only got Joan Blondell and Merle Oberon. He needs a dozen more dames. . . . Ginny Simms has become so popular on the air waves her salary's almost as big as that of Judy Garland. Metro's signed her for "Meet the People." . . . Capt. Gene Raymond came to town to see his brother, who's an air cadet. Planes out end of the week for another visit with Jeanette MacDonald in New York.

Ginny Simms.

Your Favorite.

Irene Dunne is going glamorous in "White Cliffs of Dover." Designer Irene has done 22 dream dresses for her. Dunne tells me that Van Johnson, who's going to be all right, since that brain surgery, is about the sweetest boy she's ever met. Every day he brought her a present on the set of "A Guy Named Joe." Sometimes half a pound of tea, a quarter pound of butter, maybe just two eggs. But he always brought something. It's nice that Metro-Goldwyn will hold the picture until he recovers. . . . Heifetz will play for the soldiers at the Canteen on Easter Sunday. . . . Nice to know Ray Bolger, after success in "By Jupiter," will do a musical at Warners.

Alas, Alack?

Dance Director Nick Castle's collection of dancing shoes has become famous. Each star he's worked with gave him a pair — Shirley Temple, Bill Robinson, George Murphy, Jane Withers, Linda Darnell, Ann Miller, Barbara Stanwyck, Betty Grable, Nicholas Brothers. Now they wish they had 'em back. I saw the perfect dinner guest, Arthur Alexander, tear out his No. 17 stamp and hand it to his hostess, Mrs. Fitzhugh-Green, the other night. He was immediately asked for dinner the following night. . . . On the set of "This Is the Army," after Irving Berlin had finished singing "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," an electrician strolled over to me and said, "If the man who wrote that ever heard that guy sing it, he'd roll over in his grave!" And no one laughed louder than Irving when I passed it on.

"Grounded" - - - - - By H. Vernor Dixon

Copyright: 1943: By H. Vernor Dixon

SYNOPSIS: Pilot Brant Regan, wounded while fighting for the Chinese, is forced to take a year's rest. Returning to San Francisco, he makes a dinner date with Kane Harmon, president of Barlow Aircraft, on pretense of friendship with Harmon's nephew, Leslie. While waiting in the hotel lobby for Harmon, Regan sees a girl whose beauty attracts him. Lonely for some one to talk to, he forces her into conversation with him.

INSTALMENT II. IDEA TO SELL.

The girl sat up and appraised Brant Regan anew, obviously interested. What she found she seemed to like and the amused smile in her eyes became warmer and even friendly. "Then you have probably been flying in China."

"Burma road patrol." He leaned toward her and saw two pairs of legs standing before them. He glanced up at the men, both of them puzzled and the younger one frowning. The girl got to her feet.

The younger man said, "Sorry I'm late, darling. Held up at the office." He looked down at Brant, then back at her. "Did you have to wait long?"

"Not very. I was entertained. Shall we go?"

The older man said, "Wait a minute. I have to have a party paged. Fellow by the name of Regan, who flew with Leslie in China."

Brant stared up at him and got to his feet. He held out his hand and said, "I'm Brant Regan. I suppose you're Kane Harmon."

The moment was faintly embarrassing to every one except Brant. He glanced at the girl. She was biting her lower lip and staring over his head. Brant thought, no man living will ever be able to break thru that outer shell. He wondered what had formed it.

Kane Harmon, a heavy set, middle aged man with thinning hair, shrewd eyes, and a looseness about his jowls, shook hands with him and introduced him to the other two. The girl was Dian Barlow, daughter of the late T. L. Barlow. The younger man, as tall as Brant but slimmer, with hard gray eyes, a smoothly pink face, brittle manner, and thin lips, was Thomas McNair, attorney for Miss Barlow.

Kane Harmon licked his lips and jovially declared, "Well, now that we all know one another, suppose we get along. Dinner at the rendezvous, if that is agreeable with you, Dian, and then a little stepping around to see the sights. You're probably more interested in the sights, eh, Regan?"

Brant nodded. "Anything you say."

Conversation over the dinner table was a one sided affair. Kane Harmon asked the questions and Brant supplied the answers. He talked about Leslie Harmon, glibly lying about their supposed friendship, and he talked about fighting in China. Harmon was naturally interested in the aerial warfare and became even more so when he learned that Brant had been flying a Barlow P-2. Brant extolled the many virtues of the little single seater, but he also pointed out its weaknesses and Harmon nodded and made notes on the back of an envelope.

Dian and Thomas McNair listened, and Brant curiously watched them as he talked. McNair, he noticed, had taken a dislike to him. He rudely stared off into space whenever Brant became enthusiastic about something he was saying. Brant studied him. He was a confident sort, almost arrogant in that self-confidence, but there was a flaw somewhere in the man. He noted it in the sudden shifting of his eyes whenever attention was focussed fully upon him, in the manner in which he kept his fingers nervously active, and in the half veiled way in which he studied the other diners in the room. The flaw had something to do with fear and Brant made a mental note to probe into the reason for that fear.

Dian Barlow, in contrast to McNair, attentively listened to everything Brant was saying. Her eyes never left his face. Brant noticed that whenever he spoke of anything unusually adventurous, a sparkle would appear in her eyes and then die when his talk went on to other matters. So, he thought, she's adventurous, loves excitement, is practically starved for it. She is as explosive as a volcano, but hides it under a snowcap.

As they were leaving the rendezvous, McNair held back to speak to Harmon and Brant and Dian proceeded to the sidewalk. Dian, simply to make conversation, said: "It has been a pleasure to talk with a friend of Leslie's. I never saw him very often, but he seemed like a nice boy."

Brant allowed a smile to creep to his eyes and said: "Frankly, Miss Barlow, just between the two of us, Leslie was the most God-awful bore I've ever known." Her eyes opened wide, and he said: "I've been lying my head off. I had to meet Harmon some way and I did know Leslie in China, but I was certainly no friend of his."

"Well——" she said and repeated it. "But why—I don't understand."

"You will, in due time. I have something to sell to the Barlow corporation, so I chose this way to go about it. Do you mind?"

"But why should I—" Then she had to laugh. "Maybe I should mind. I really am the Barlow corporation."

"You?"

"Yes. When my father died he left me the controling interest."

Brant stared at her and then it was his turn to laugh. "I've sure put my foot into it. I thought the company was just a regular stock setup."

When Harmon and McNair joined them, they went on to the top of the Mark Hopkins and from there to a number of San Francisco's night spots. Brant danced with Dian and he tried to break thru McNair's dislike, without success, but he mainly concentrated on Harmon, impressing him with his knowledge of aero-dynamics. It did not take him long to discover that he knew more of the science than Harmon.

At the end of their bar tour Brant casually brought up the subject that had never been far from his mind. The attorney had asked him how long he was staying in town and Brant replied: "I'm not sure. I should push on to Washington in a few days, but," he smiled, "it may be possible that you will detain me."

McNair frowned at him. "I? Why should I detain you?"

"I mean Mr. Harmon, or you might say, the corporation itself."

Kane Harmon put down his highball and leaned across the table. He shrewdly asked: "Something to sell, Regan?"

"In a way. It's an idea for a new wing."

McNair leaned back and sadly shook his head. "Every pilot," he said, "thinks he knows more about airplanes than the manufacturers. They all have an idea and," he added sarcastically, "it's always a new wing."

"Perhaps. But I guarantee this one. I have a formula for a wing that should test out 100 per cent efficient."

Kane Harmon chuckled. "Nonsense. You're talking thru your hat, Regan. There is no such thing as a wing that is 100 per cent efficient."

"No; I didn't think you would. Sounds foolish, but it isn't. I spent five months in a Chinese hospital flat on by back, Mr. Harmon, and I had plenty of time to think. I worked out this formula during that time. But, of course, if you aren't interested—"

Harmon drummed on the table with his fingers and looked from McNair to Dian and back to Brant. "Well," he drawled, "I wouldn't say I am actually interested, but still— We're known as an outfit willing to take a gamble, Regan, I guess you know that." Brant nodded. That was the reason he had chosen Barlow. "Okay," Harmon continued. "We'll listen to any new idea, no matter how screwy it might seem. I'm no engineer, understand, and neither is Tom here, so I'll tell you what: you be out at the plant tomorrow afternoon and I'll have our engineers there to listen to you."

"Fair enough."

Harmon smiled. "Not afraid of a steal are you?"

"Not at all. I've applied for a patent."

McNair turned to Harmon. "Look, Kane; why waste the men's time—"

Harmon frowned at him and slowly shook his head. Their eyes met, held for a moment, and imperceptibly narrowed.

They all rose from the table and Dian said, "I am going to sit in on that conference myself. It might be interesting."

Brant nodded absently. He was thinking of the glance that had passed between McNair and Harmon and was puzzled by it. There had been a wordless clash between them with Harmon emerging as the victor.

Waste fats still are desperately needed for use in the manufacture of war materials, but economical homemakers haven't much fat to spare these days. The rule to be followed is this: Use fats economically and make the best use possible of leftover fats; if there are any left, strain, collect in a clean container and keep covered in the refrigerator until you obtain at least a pound. Then turn it in to your meat dealer.

Every bit of bacon and chicken fat can be used in the average household. These are high quality, fine flavored fats, and they have many uses. Chicken fat is so bland in flavor that it can be used as shortening in any baked product, including plain cakes. Bacon fat will give flavor to the foods it is used in. Sometimes this is fine. Bacon tastes good on green beans or other green vegetables, in place of butter. It makes delectable salad dressings with vinegar, salt, pepper and sugar. It may be used for any kind of frying or sautéing, to good advantage. It is too strong for cake shortening except when used with another fat. Bacon fat is good in many kinds of cookies, especially the spicy, molasses kind, which don't allow the bacon flavor to predominate.

Here's how to collect chicken fat: Buy a nice fat stewing chicken, cut it up, cover it with water, add salt, a stalk of celery and an onion. Cover and simmer gently until the chicken is tender. This will take several hours, depending upon the age of the chicken. Cool chicken in broth, then remove it and use it any kind of chicken dish you like. Chill the broth overnight in the refrigerator, during which time the fat will collect and harden on top. Remove the fat carefully to a saucepan, leaving the broth for soup. Melt the fat and strain it thru two thicknesses of cheesecloth. Return to the refrigerator; keep it covered and cold. Use as you require it. It makes a fine base for white sauce instead of butter. Some families even like it on bread.

Hot bacon dressing for any green salad may be made with the bacon fat alone, and none of the meat. You get just as much fine flavor without being extravagant with precious bacon.

Hot Bacon Fat Salad Dressing.

5 tablespoons melted bacon fat
3 or 4 green onions, sliced
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ cup tarragon vinegar [or plain]

Cook onions with tops in fat, add other ingredients and pour while hot over a bowlful of shredded spinach, broken watercress or lettuce, or any combination of greens you like. This is enough dressing for a bowlful which will serve six, or more. Cut the recipe in half if you have only two or three persons to serve.

Stewed Prunes: The secret of cooking prunes successfully is to simmer them slowly 20 to 30 minutes, or until soft. Never boil them rapidly, as this makes the skin tough. It is important, also, to add the sugar when nearly done. A few drops of lemon juice improves the flavor; add while prunes are cooking. Prunes make an appealing dessert when soaked in claret wine over night, then cooked until tender and chilled well.

THE STAGE . . . . By Cecil Smith

Today is the 200th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson. The Playwrights' company is enjoying a bit of glory reflected from the occasion, for Sidney Kingsley's "The Patriots," with Jefferson as its hero, has moved into the public spotlight in connection with the anniversary. Last Sunday evening the drama was given a special presentation at the Library of Congress, as part of the Jefferson bicentennial festivities in the national capital.

Acting rights to the play have been released to those tributary theater members of the National Theater Conference whose home towns are not in or near major road cities which may be visited by the touring professional company next season. In view of the timeliness of the subject matter—both because of the Jefferson anniversary and because of the interesting political parallels and contrasts between the early days of the republic and the present crisis—many amateur productions of "The Patriots" may be expected within the next few months.

As a piece of theater, "The Patriots" is none too invigorating, it must be confessed. It is a play of conflicting ideas, but hardly a play of convincing human experience. Perhaps partly because of the acting, which is far from Broadway's best standard, the characters remain little more than garrulous puppets, whose literary expression is at its best when the actual words of Jefferson find their way into the puppet Jefferson's mouth.

As a historical record, however, "The Patriots" is interesting and even absorbing, even tho professional opinions differ sharply as to the authenticity of some of the material. With what is probably an oversimplification of motive and behavior, Jefferson is represented as the simon-pure representative of all that is honorable and worth support in democratic idealism. On the other hand, his greatest opponent, Alexander Hamilton, emerges as little more than a vain, self-seeking opportunist, with marked royalist leanings and an apparent desire to sell the common man down the river.

Actually the issue between the two men was not so clearly defined in the early days of our republic. It is impossible not to feel that "The Patriots" would be a far more commanding memorial to Jefferson if the author had succeeded in creating a three dimensional portrait of the great statesman as a human being instead of a tin god.

Bully Suffers Just as Much as His Victim

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The situation described in the following letter arises often enough between young neighbors, and indeed, often enough between two brothers, to justify a column devoted to it.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Would you be kind enough to advise me what to do in the following instance:

"I have a little boy, 3, who is always getting hit by the little boy upstairs whose age is approximately one and one-half years older than my son's. I have tried several methods to correct this but none of them seems to work.

"Unfortunately, this little boy is just about the only playmate on the block so they naturally gravitate into playing with each other. Result, my son gets hit and usually comes into the house crying. I have tried asking the boy's mother to reason with her son, but she evidently doesn't care as long as her boy isn't getting hurt. I have tried teaching my boy to box, but he doesn't seem physically able, because of the difference in ages, to hold his own, even tho he is almost at tall as the other boy.

"Now I would like to know just what is the best solution to this problem, as I don't want my boy to become a coward. Still, he doesn't seem to be able to cope with the situation as it exists."

As I wrote in reply, this is not an easy thing to cope with, so I made several suggestions. The small neighbor might be invited indoors to play, or occasionally to an early supper for two, where the home atmosphere and presence of friendly grownups might have the effect of reducing his belligerency. Also, on these occasions the father who wrote this letter might find an opening for talking to the boy about bravery and not hitting some one smaller than one's self and so on.

If nothing works a change, the younger boy might be put in a nursery school for the morning, and his mother might take him to the park or nearest open space to play in the afternoon. A 3 year old can't be expected to fight his way out of this predicament.

But what I really want to point out today, even more than to help these young victims, is the wrong the mother of the older boy and others like her are doing. There are, unfortunately, many women who take exactly the attitude of this one. If their own child is on top, getting the best of it, and not being hurt they don't care about the underdog. Some of these parents even preen themselves on the exploits of their combative son.

Now of course we know that children will fight, at one time or another, at one age or another. But this little neighbor nearly 5 is in a fair way to becoming a bully. And even if his mother doesn't care at all about the rights and the happiness of the little 3 year old, she may care about her own boy. To allow a child to become a bully and stay a bully is really harming him. For the bullying impulse is not a pretty one; it isn't brave; it usually is exercised on a weaker or younger playmate. The bully's satisfaction is in seeing some one else cry or hurt.

We shan't go into the reasons why a child is a bully today. But where the tendency shows itself in younger boys, it is easily checked by explanations, or even by temporary "isolation," all for the boy's own good.

Fashion Group Is Holding Annual Luncheon Today.

"Sold Out" is the sign the Fashion Group can hang at the entrance to the Drake ballroom, where promptly at 12:30 o'clock today its annual luncheon and spring fashion review will get under way. The fashion review will not be strictly a fashion show, but is to be a program on the order of "Information, Please," illustrated with models.

The "experts" are four editors from national fashion magazines, Diane Vreeland, Betsy Talbot Blackwell, Winifred Ovitte, and Mildred Morton, who is replacing Frederika Fox, who became ill with flu at the last moment. "Let's Talk About Clothes" is the title of the show, and the conductor who will get the experts started talking is Mrs. Lois E. Barnes, midwest director of the Fashion Group.

"The Changing Viewpoint," "The Current View," "Fragile, Handle with Care," and "Do's and Don'ts" are the four subdivisions of clothes that will be discussed. Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Mrs. Bernard Cooper, Mrs. Mary Anderson, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. Eugene Howard, Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., and Mrs. Robert M. During the luncheon Mrs. William H. Mitchell and Karl Weber will present a semi-humorous dramatic sketch showing the proper and improper ways to enroll members of the Seeing Eye. The committee is attempting to enroll 1,000 members this year in the organization, which helps blind persons to gain independence thru the use of guide dogs. At present Mr. Frank, now a vice president of the organization, is visiting army and navy hospitals to make the first steps in guiding newly blinded persons to available physicians and nurses.

Mrs. H. B., Chicago—I see that Kate Anderson and Sarah Brown are still fretting over loss of juices from pies. We solved that problem long ago by discarding shallow pie tins and using the deep pie pans on the market. Why have a tinner make a pan to fit the bottom of the oven to catch juices you want in your pie, where they belong?

Mrs. Hannah B., Milwaukee, Wis.—When I need cement for a piece of broken china or glass I mix white of egg to a paste with dry plaster of paris. Then I bind the parts joined with surgeon's tape until the cement hardens.

Ellen T., Chicago—I use a lot of kerosene around our house for cleaning purposes and can always remove the none too pleasant "aroma" by sponging over areas with vinegar.

Mrs. Arthur G., Chicago—We found a leak in our cement laundry tub a short while ago. On advice of a friend we cut into the cement and made a groove about one-half inch deep. Then we wet the cement and packed the groove with a cotton cord [a soft cord] which we had smeared well with a white lead paste. We hope in this way we have extended the life of our tub.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—TWINTERIOR DECORATIONS

Theodore Roosevelt leading his Rough Riders at San Juan Hill in 1898

READING meant LIVING to Theodore Roosevelt

He had friends among cow-punchers, scholars, polo players, social workers, financiers. He was as democratic in his reading as in his friendships.

A "small, patient, suffering little child"—too delicate to go to school—he read hungrily about travel and adventure, rough life in the wilds, Indians, cowboys . . . and determined to be like his heroes—strong, virile, active, brave.

That early reading not only formed the core of his character—it actually started him on the physical regime by which he built himself, from a weakling, into a man of exceptional vigor and endurance.

All his life reading was for him a springboard to action. He had to be and do what he read.

As Police Commissioner of New York City, he once read Jacob Riis' famous book "How the Other Half Lives." The next day Riis found a card on his desk, saying: "I have read your book and have come to help." "No one ever helped as he did," declared Riis.

Born a rich man's son—he learned that great democracy of the mind that reading gives. Perhaps no other American, except Lincoln, ever came so close to so many of his countrymen as Theodore Roosevelt.

IN A THOUSAND WAYS reading is a spur to action and achievement. Just as, with Theodore Roosevelt, reading all his life awakened sympathies and emotions that had to find vital expression in deeds—so, with millions of Americans today, reading is a mainspring of living.

To more than 7,500,000 American homes The American Weekly is bringing this dynamic influence of reading.

Theodore Roosevelt once said that he read primarily for enjoyment, and that his one test of a book was that it must be interesting; "the profit is a by-product."

In the same way the countless millions who read The American Weekly read it primarily for the interest and pleasure it gives them. Yet how great is its insensible influence on their tastes, ambitions, standards of conduct and life!

Its thrilling true stories of adventure and struggle, of crime and mystery, love and romance, enthrall the imagination of millions because they deal with eternally interesting human themes.

Its vivid up-to-the-minute articles on popular science, on history, travel, biography, medicine, religion bring to the eager minds of multitudes the same lift of new interests and enthusiasms that the young Roosevelt got from his favorite magazine, of which he wrote, "It taught me more than any of my text books."

It took a man as wide in his sympathies and as democratic in his nature as Theodore Roosevelt to win the following of so many different kinds of men and women in all sections of his vast, varied country. In the same way it takes a magazine as mighty and many-sided and as democratic in its appeal as The American Weekly to reach and sway such countless millions of readers in all parts of the nation.

The American Weekly is the magazine distributed through Sunday newspapers from coast to coast—reaching more than seven and a half million homes.

The national advertiser who associates his product with such a tremendous institution is tying it up with the greatest force known in advertising. He is making his advertising message, like the rest of The American Weekly, the week-after-week reading HABIT of more than 7,500,000 families.

Hats On! !

Please do not criticize my hat,
I am not over vain,
But somehow, madam, I feel that
It will assuage my pain.

You see, tho it be pert and smart
And cost me one day's pay,
I bought it for an ailing heart
While he is far away.

The frills and bows and saucy dip
Quite hide my tears, you see,
I bought it for a man on ship
Who fights for you and me.

And, so, until the day shall dawn
When victory is ours,
I, like the others carry on
With frills, and bows, and flowers.

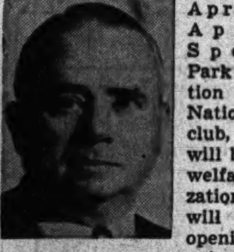
SPECIAL WEEK TO OPEN TURF'S WAR AID DRIVE

Racing Takes Role in Sale of Bonds.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The special week of racing which Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will sponsor from April 24 thru April 30 at Sportsman's Park in conjunction with the National Jockey club, not only will benefit local welfare organizations, but also will mark the opening of Illinois racing's part in the new $13,000,000,000 war bond drive. Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, chairman of the racing board, announced yesterday that the state's tracks will do their full part in this drive.



Ednyfed Williams.

American racing last year was one of sport's leading contributors to the purchase of war bonds and stamps. A number of states did not keep any official count of their sales in the effort, but conservative estimates for bond sales at the nation's various tracks place the total figure at $10,000,000. Many owners accepted bonds for purses, and booths for the sale of bonds and stamps were regular fixtures at every track.

$1,487,554 from Illinois.

Illinois, one of the top war relief donors of the country, did maintain an audit of all contributions and bond sales, as revealed in the annual report of the state racing board. The total from the six Illinois tracks—Washington Park, Arlington Park, Hawthorne, Lincoln Fields, Sportsman's Park, and Fairmount—was $1,487,554.08. Of this sum, $637,894.63 was realized in cash contributions, the result of special days at some tracks and outright donations by others. The total sale of war bonds and stamps at the six tracks was $849,659.45.

Of the cash contribution total, $133,708.67 was derived from the special charity meeting which Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., conducted last November as the concluding week of the 1942 season. This sum was distributed among Chicago relief organizations, including the United, Catholic, and Jewish charities, which will be among the beneficiaries of the meeting which will open at the west side track on April 24.

Aim to Exceed '42 Total.

Maj. Williams and his associates, William E. Fay, Frank E. Mandel, and Secretary Clement A. Nance, are determined that sales of bonds and stamps this season shall exceed the 1942 total. Maj. Williams has assigned Mr. Mandel to act as chairman of the bond committee, which will devise methods of stimulating sales of bonds and stamps at the six tracks.

"Racing did a fine job in bond sales and war relief contributions in 1942," Maj. Williams said yesterday. "Now it's up to all of us, in view of the new drive for 13 billion dollars, to do an even bigger job this season. And the April 24 opening of the charity meeting at Sportsman's Park is an appropriate time and place to start the ball rolling."

Plan Charity Days.

In addition to the war bond drive, Illinois tracks already have set up a schedule for making outright contributions to war relief and charity. Lincoln Fields has announced that it will give the net proceeds of its Memorial day program, biggest of the meeting, to war relief agencies. Arlington Park will do likewise on July 4, and Washington Park has set aside Labor day for its part. Hawthorne, Sportsman's Park, and Fairmount will turn over the profits of certain Saturdays, to be announced later.

Altho the charity meeting at Sportsman's Park will not get under way until one week from Saturday, more than 400 horses already have arrived from Hot Springs, New Orleans, and California.

Starter Roy [Boots] Dickerson is expected to arrive today to begin his morning schooling classes for horses. Racing Secretary Patrick Galliger is due on Friday.

IT'S PLAY BALL AGAIN IN CHICAGO!

Prep baseball came to Chicago yesterday and furnished such action as this. Kenny Carr of Schurz is about to be tagged out at the plate by George Nielsen, Lane Tech catcher, in the second inning of their game in Paul Revere park. Lane won its opener, 9 to 4, adding to its record of five unbeaten seasons against north section opponents in the Public High School league.

LANE WINS AS SEASON OPENS

Beats Schurz, 9 to 4, in North Section.

Lane Tech High school, undefeated in north section baseball for five years, opened its 1943 season yesterday by trimming Schurz, its traditional rival, 9 to 4, in Paul Revere park. Jim Suchecki of Lane struck out 13 batters. Ed Rzendzian of Lane hit two doubles and a single in three times at bat and drove in three runs.

Bowen opened its south section campaign by defeating Chicago Vocational, a newcomer to the league, 6 to 5, in Bessemer park. Bowen put together three singles and a double steal for its winning run after Chicago Vocational had tied the score in the seventh.

Kelvyn Park Wins, 7 to 1.

Kelvyn Park, runner-up in the west section last year, routed Washburne, 7 to 1, in Hanson park. Lou Pranke, Kelvyn Park right fielder, tripled in the fourth inning to drive in two runs. Steinmetz bombarded Austin, 15 to 2, in a west section game in Riis park, and Foreman edged out Wells, 3 to 2, on Smith field. Frank Slowik, Wells center fielder, got the only hit yielded to his team by Jackobsen.

Von Steuben defeated Waller in another north section opener, 9 to 1, in River park as Herman Saltzman and Bill Kunkel hit home runs. Taft captured a 2 to 1 decision over Senn in Norwood park by scoring twice in the first inning and holding its slender lead. Norb Paulish of Taft struck out eight.

Harper defeated Morgan Park, 8 to 1, in a south section opener in Sherman park.

Amundsen Beats Roosevelt.

Amundsen defeated Roosevelt, 14 to 2, in Winnemac park. The game was featured by a home run hit by Dick Frank, Amundsen first baseman, with two on in the second.

Games between Lake View and Sullivan, Marshall and Tuley, Hyde Park and Calumet, and Hirsch and Fenger were postponed. If the weather is favorable, the first three games will be played today.

Louisville, Ky., April 12 (AP).—Dixiana stable's Amber Light put in another qualifying lick for the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs today when he scored a length and a half victory over Milky Way stable's No Wrinkles in the Matt Winn handicap, a Keeneland feature, carrying a purse of $1,500.

The son of Pilate made the muddy Churchill Downs track look fast as he ran six furlongs in 1:12-4/5.

Valdina Way was third and Wise Paisano, All Hoss and Edie Jane also ran.

Amber Light paid $2.80, $2.20, and $2.20, while No Wrinkles returned $2.40 and $2.20, and Valdina Way paid $2.20.

STEEPLECHASE DRAWS WELL.

Baltimore, Md., April 12 (AP).—The steeplechase season will open at Pimlico Friday and nominations for the infield stakes there indicate the sport will enjoy its biggest spring in many years.

For instance, the Jervis Spencer Steeplechase handicap, to be featured May 3, outdrew several of the flat races on the Pimlico roster when the stakes books closed a few days ago.

CUBS TRY TODAY AGAINST TIGERS

Batting Slump Worries Manager Wilson.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 12.—The whole matter is up to the weather man, but as things stand now, the Cubs are scheduled to play the Detroit Tigers in Vincennes tomorrow in a game for the George field camp fund. The reason the buck is passed to the weather man is to be found in the fact he forced cancellation of today's scheduled Cub-Sox meeting in Seymour, Ind., which was to have been played for the lads at Freeman field.

After the Seymour cancellation, it was possible for the athletes to work out in French Lick and for this reason it is believed there remains a chance for the Cubs to get in their final exhibition contest before they meet the White Sox in Wrigley field Friday.

Three to Pitch Today.

Manager Jim Wilson, who had expected to send forth only two pitchers against the Sox today, will use three against the Tigers tomorrow—Claude Passeau, Paul Derringer, and Hi Bithorn. Derringer is the added artist.

Eddie Stanky, who made his Cub debut in yesterday's spectacle in which the Chicagoans submitted to a 9 to 3 trimming at the hands of the Louisville Colonels, will be at second base again tomorrow. All the Colonels, who had been in training from four to nine days, and Stanky, who had been in training two days, looked better than most of the Cubs who have been here since March 21, a span in which they failed to play or drill only one day.

McCullough to Catch.

In Louisville most of the Cubs gave no indication they had any batting practice in 1943, which left them not a bit ahead of Stanky, or Catcher Clyde McCullough, who took his first camp workout here today. For that reason Wilson said he would toss Clyde into the game tomorrow. McCullough said after watching yesterday's collapse he was certain he could help the team immediately with his power, tho there was nothing wrong with Chico Hernandez' catching.

Tho the Cubs will wind up their road exhibition endeavors tomorrow, there is to be no bulk exodus from camp until Thursday night, when a party of 26 will load a Pullman due at the Dearborn street station early Friday morning.

Wilson to Come in Early.

Manager Wilson was so distraught at the performance his slugging protéges put on in Louisville yesterday that he announced on the scene of the debacle he wanted to get away from everything for a couple of days after he presides at the Detroit affair tomorrow. Accordingly, he plans to jump the club and leave for Chicago Wednesday morning. Thus he will not have to look at his hitters for approximately 49 hours, enough time, he opines, to enable him to get back his strength and poise.

The Cubs will take the field against the Tigers with a record of a split in two games played in Evansville. The Tigers won, 12 to 6, on April 3, but the next day the Cubs triumphed, 7 to 5. Besides these engagements, the Cubs have won their lone game with the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 2. They have beaten the Sox, 4 to 2, but lost to their Chicago rivals, 8 to 7 and 13 to 2. Then there was that 9 to 3 tanning they absorbed in Louisville yesterday. Thus they must win tomorrow to return to Chicago a .500 spring exhibition team. Tomorrow's lineup:

SECOND SQUAD TO STAY EXTRA DAY AT CAMP

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 12.—The spring training adventures of the White Sox in southern Indiana are all but over. Tomorrow, 10 of the players will be dispatched to Chicago and the following evening Manager Jimmy Dykes and the remainder of the squad will leave this sunny spot.

While his coaches were watching over the muscular interests of his boys, Manager Dykes today announced that Eddie Smith, Bill Dietrich and Rookie Gordon Maltzberger will take care of the pitching Friday when the Sox and Cubs open their official four game spring city series in Wrigley field.

The Sox have beaten the Cubs twice in three just for fun matches. This afternoon's scheduled game with the National leaguers in Seymour, Ind., was canceled because of weather. Today's work was limited to a running and jogging session outdoors and a pitchers' throwing contest indoors.

Sox Have a Cripple List.

Because a lot of questions remain unanswered, what with mild invalids and the training period so limited that the boys, from habit in most cases, fear to act like well conditioned athletes, the remainder of Dykes' setup for the city series may of necessity be a last minute arrangement.

Jim Grant, prospective regular third baseman, is about to complete his second week with a lame arm, but happily, the Sox have Dick Culler, who ordinarily would be concentrating on shortstop. Julius Solters' legs, which probably will get back to normal or close to it eventually, are far from sound. Thurman Tucker, Dykes' first choice for center field, has ankle trouble. Today Rookie Frank Kalin turned an ankle while out on the trotting expedition.

From all this it can be seen that the manager can't look very far ahead where his infield and outfield are concerned. But he suspects conditions are going to be equally uncertain thruout the season and is willing to exercise his ingenuity in advance.

Lee's Arm Causes Concern.

The one item disturbing Dykes is the case of Thornton Lee, who won 22 games in 1941. Last season Lee won only two games because of infection settling in his arm. Dykes has given the veteran free rein in conditioning himself but has been hoping to see Lee doing a little loose throwing which might indicate he had quit fretting about his 1941 ailment. Dykes claims he hasn't detected any such signs.

On the other hand, a few of the Sox who remained here for training while the others were engaged with Indianapolis in Lafayette over the week-end, offer a different story. They testify, when Dykes isn't within gun shot, that in two recent workouts Lee was throwing with the vigor and recklessness of a youngster. Maybe the large sized southpaw is planning a pleasant surprise for his boss. Lee can't be accused of soldiering because he is on a dollar a year basis which demands he give proof of a return to form before another contract at fancy figures becomes effective.

May Get Thursday.

Most of those given transportation for tomorrow were delighted with the break. They'll have a 24 hour jump in the search for summer living quarters. Secretary Joe Barry will be one of the dozen early starters. The others will be Coach Muddy Ruel, Don Hanski, Ed Weiland, Orval Grove, Johnny Humphries, Bill Dietrich, Mike Tresh, Luke Appling, Dick Culler, Bill Swift, and Don Kolloway.

The entire squad will go thru another drill of some kind tomorrow and those remaining will work out Wednesday. If weather doesn't interfere with this arrangement Dykes will not ask the players to assemble at Comiskey Park for muscle stretching on Thursday. He thinks a lot of them may need that time to get located.

Geary, Pirate Shortstop, to Try a Sleeper

Buffalo, N. Y., April 12 (AP).—Eugene [Huck] Geary, Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop, who became ill while standing in a crowded train, said today he'll try again to reach the club's training camp at Muncie, Ind., this time on a sleeper, tomorrow night.

Geary said a sinus condition bothered him during a train trip from Buffalo to Cleveland yesterday while he was en route to Muncie. He then returned to Buffalo. He planned to go to camp last week.

7 STEWARDS TO HANDLE RACES AT WASHINGTON

Track Aims to Sharpen Supervision.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago horse racing fans will see a venerable turf tradition broken during Arlington Park and Washington Park's coördinated meetings this summer. Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of these tracks, yesterday announced plans for taking the stewards out of the elevated stands, increasing their number from three to seven, and spotting them at advantageous positions just above ground levels all the way around the track. This is calculated to sharpen up supervision at every stage of every race.

The Arlington and Washington Park management also announced the personnel of this augmented board of stewards who will serve thruout the coördinated meetings from June 21 to Sept. 6. William Hamilton will represent the Illinois Racing board. His six associates will be George H. Foster, Lincoln Plaut, James McGill, Barry Whitehead, Lawrence Bogenschutz, and Fred Burton.

They'll See Every Move.

Under the system now in general use thruout the country, there are three patrol judges at intervals around the track. They have no authority to make rulings and may only add their testimony to what the stewards see from the roof. Under the new arrangement there will be a top ranking official with real authority placed practically on top of every movement of every horse from start to finish.

This is calculated not only to improve the accuracy of the data which will influence important rulings, it also is designed to be a stronger deterrent against any shenanigans by the riders. The track officials believe that if a jockey comes face to face with a steward every few hundred yards he'll think twice before he cuts up.

Aim to Increase Confidence.

One of the primary purposes of this departure from tradition is to increase public confidence in the efforts of the track management to keep the sport on as honest a basis as is humanly possible. The public often feels that some strange things may happen away over there in the back stretch on a foggy day. Now at least they'll know that there are top ranking officials over there in that haze on the far turn.

At the conclusion of each race the stewards will be picked up and brought around to the finish line, where a consultation room will be provided for them. Here they can swiftly compare notes and if necessary call in the jockeys for interrogation.

Observe from Inside of Track.

Lindheimer stated that the individual stewards stands probably will be placed on the inside of the track rather than along the outer rail, where the patrol judges have been stationed heretofore. The tentative setup calls for one steward at the clubhouse turn, another at the turn into the backstretch, another at the far turn, another at the turn into the stretch, another between midstretch and the finish, another at the finish, and the seventh in the stand heretofore occupied by all three.

Larry Giannoni rolled a 664 series to pace the Wood Mat team to a 3,196 total and first place among the 37 teams which participated in the sectional. The Vacuum Cleaner Supply five posted a 3,162 total. Two teams from the Union Printers' league, the Polish Printers, with 3,146, and Ludlows, with 3,145, took third and fourth places. Warning's Aces, made up of Alco Gravure company employés, were fifth with 3,067.

Bill Kotil, a major leaguer, and John Lepold, both rolled 725 scratch series, Kotil in the team event and Lepold in the singles. Kotil also came up with a big doubles series and, after opening his singles with a 253 game, fell down badly. He took third place in the all-events with 1,962, however, getting 46 pins less than the winner, George Todd. Lepold had a 24 pin handicap, which gave him 749 and victory by 70 pins in the singles. It was considered possible his total might stand up to give him a national title also.

Scores in doubles, singles, and all events:

ALL EVENTS—George Todd [721, 631, 670], 2022; Ed Krieger, [631, 689, 656], 1,976; Bill Kotil, 1,962; Lon Troxel, 1,954; Bob Anderson, 1,945; Charles [Red] Archer, 1,945.

Sectional schedules in a few of the seven cities in which tournaments are being held will be completed today. All score sheets will be mailed to Cleveland where the winners in the four classifications, five-man, two-man, singles, and all events, will be determined and from where prize money will be distributed. Prize money will total $4,165.

Virginia, Ill., April 12 (AP).—Virginia High school withdrew today from the Spoor River High school conference, effective at the end of the present track season.

COUNT FLEET TO MAKE 1ST START OF 1943 TODAY

New York, April 12 (AP).—Unless his handlers change their minds, Count Fleet will make his first start of the year tomorrow at Jamaica against some of the horses he may have to take on in the Kentucky Derby.

Mrs. John D. Hertz's tall colt, shortest priced future book favorite in Derby history, was unexpectedly entered today for the mile and 70 yard St. James purse tomorrow as a tuning for Saturday's Wood memorial. Originally, the railbirds had supposed that the son of Reigh Count would not swing into competition until the Wood, since he has been working into sharp condition with several one mile drills.

Faces Six Derby Candidates.

Carrying top weight of 122 pounds, he'll have no soft touch in making his coming of age debut in the field of eight, for six of the seven other horses entered also are eligible for the Derby. And one of them, William Woodward's Bossuet, already has indicated he'll have quite a piece to speak when the big money is down. He ran a swift closing second to Slide Rule in the Experimental handicap last Thursday.

Also in the lineup are Mrs. Payne Whitney's dark horse pair of Famous Victory and Four Freedoms. Altho neither showed much in the six furlong Experimental, Famous Victory, an Irish bred son of the English Derby winning Hyperion, is considered capable of springing an upset or two this spring. These two and Bossuet have a nine pound edge in the weights over Count Fleet.

Joe Burger to Run.

Other Derby eligibles in tomorrow's field are Mrs. Barclay Douglas' Eurasian, John Coburn's Towser, and R. J. Kleberg Jr.'s Eye For Eye. Mrs. L. Lazare's Joe Burger is the only non-Derby candidate.

Count Fleet goes into the St. James with a recent record of some of the fanciest workouts ever seen by a 3 year old this early in the season. His top tour was a 1:38 3/5 mile two weeks ago.

Toronto to Drop Pete Gray, One Armed Player

TORONTO, Ont., April 12 (AP).—One armed Pete Gray, who as a member of the Three Rivers, Que., club, led the Canadian American Baseball league in batting last season with a .381 average, will not remain with the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International league, President Peter Campbell announced today.

Campbell said the reason he would release Gray was because "he has no power at the plate."

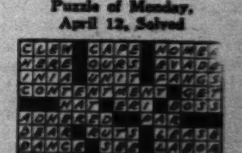
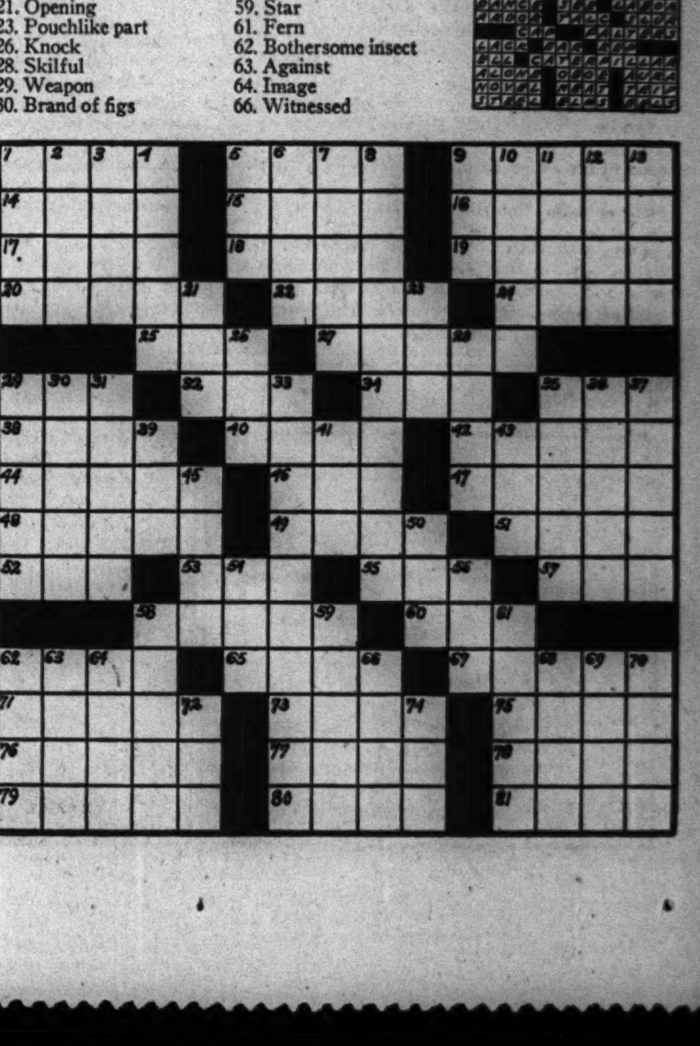
Puzzle of Monday, April 12, Solved





INDIANA GIVES ITS ELEVEN TO ARMY AND NAVY

But Training, Football Will Go On.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., April 12.—A. N. [Bo] McMillin, head football coach at Indiana university, does not say Indiana has lost football players to the army and navy. McMillin says Indiana has given its football men to the service.

"Seven of Indiana's best football men of 1942 are included in a list of 13 who already have left the campus," McMillin told us this afternoon. "And I want to add," Bo continued, "the army and navy are getting some mighty fine boys. They are in top condition and they are the kind of men the nation needs as leaders.

"We suspect that most of the 35 players who competed in spring football soon will be gone," McMillin went on. "But we're going to have football this fall. We hope to have a few of the veterans. We're sure of three or four and have hopes that others in the marine reserve and R. O. T. C. will be permitted to continue their studies here. We believe so firmly in the training intercollegiate football affords, that Indiana will continue its program in football and other sports regardless of material.

Nine Starters May Be Frosh.

"Nine of our starting eleven may be freshmen who enter the university next month or in September. We'll train them to the best of our ability and, most important, they will receive training which will permit them to follow later the hundreds of our students who now are in service."

Z. G. Clevenger, director of athletics, is in complete accord with McMillin. The schedule Indiana intends to play includes games with Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Michigan, and Purdue. Clevenger now is engaged in correspondence relative to games with Camp Grant, Great Lakes, and the Navy Pre-Flight team at Iowa City.

The demand of war possibly has disbanded a group that might have been the greatest of all Indiana football teams. Under normal circumstances it would have been a veteran squad ready to continue the record which saw its final four opponents held scoreless last fall.

Great Back Field Gone.

A back field of Billy Hillenbrand, Lou Saban, Chuck Jacoby, and Hugh McGinnis, with Bob Cowan to serve at half back if Hillenbrand were shifted to full back for McGinnis, easily would have qualified as one of the best in the Western conference. Cowan, a junior, now is in the army air corps at Corpus Christi, Tex. Hillenbrand, Saban, and Jacoby are in the Indiana R. O. T. C. McGinnis is enrolled in the army's enlisted reserve corps.

These players were in the group of 35 which engaged in 30 spring football practices.

"No player missed more than three practices," McMillin boasted. "The boys like football and they played for the fun of it, altho they knew they wouldn't be here this fall."

Moorehead, Deal May Return.

Tom Moorehead, a senior tackle, who is in the navy's V-7 program, and Russell Deal, a guard who is classified in 4-F in the draft, presumably will return this fall. Several of the boys in the marine reserve—Joe Zuzga, a guard, and John Tavener, center—have received no instructions. Then, too, there is the possibility that men in the advanced classes of the reserve officers' training corps may continue their work here leading to commissions. Instructions have not been received from Washington.

Indiana will not have a navy V-12 program such as those assigned to Northwestern and Notre Dame. University officials expect the army to send a group for instructions in the A-12 program, which corresponds to navy V-12.

Clevenger and McMillin are emphatic that Indiana will continue to use its sports facilities to train its students, and they insist all athletics will be continued and that intercollegiate football, in particular, will be on Indiana's program this September.

AL JORDAN WINS SPLIT VERDICT FROM LAWSON

Al Jordan, Golden Gloves heavyweight champion from Kansas City, Mo., was awarded a decision over Leroy Lawson of Detroit in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. The verdict was not unanimous. Referee Harry Mueller voted for a draw. Police Capt. Romaine A. Goudie and Harry Buscher, the judges, scored for Jordan. Lawson was dropped for no count in the first round, but rallied to deal his foe a body beating in the third.

Robert Simmons, Indianapolis welterweight, defeated Bob Nichols of Cincinnati in seven rounds in a cofeature, also set for eight rounds. Nichols suffered a cut eye in the sixth and was refused permission to continue by Referee Tommy Gilmore and Dr. Frank A. Lagorio of the Illinois Athletic commission. State rule provides for a decision when a fight ends in this manner.

Johnny O'Brien, Calumet City middleweight, treated the 1,131 spectators to their lone knockout of the evening when he floored Bishop Murphy for the count in 2:57 of the first round.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WALKIE, BUT NO TALKIE

CUBS HAVE SPOT FOR LEFTY PRIM

Portsider's Screwball Makes Him Valuable.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 12.—Last year at this time the Cubs were counting heavily on Vern Olsen and Johnny Schmitz for their left handed pitching, but the navy has 'em now and Lt. Mickey Cochrane is reported to be hoping like everything that Uncle Sam doesn't need 'em for combat duty until they have had time to do some portside tossing for the good old Great Lakes nine.

Ray Prim.

The Cubs, of course, do not begrudge the navy the two lefties, but their absence has made it necessary to find another. They have found him, Manager Jimmy Wilson believes, in a dignified, gray haired gentleman, Ray Prim.

A Business Man in Baseball.

Prim, who is 34, looks more like a business man than the usual conception of a lefty pitcher. And he has been a business man in baseball. He stayed in the business after numerous disappointments and now is confronted with his biggest success at an age much more advanced than that at which many players have surrendered to the Old Man with the Scythe.

In Prim's several major league trials in years gone by was one hitch with his manager of today. Wilson had him with the Phillies in 1935. He had excellent control then as now, and a good curve, but he didn't have the variety to keep him out of the jams which all pitchers encounter occasionally and Philly pitchers face frequently.

Screwball Will Do It.

Prim, because of a childhood injury, had learned to pitch with his left arm the naturally right handed. He realized his lack of variety and in recent years has worked on the perfection of a screwball which he uses most effectively when the heat is on. It's this screwball, Wilson says, which is about to win him a steady job with the Cubs.

Prim had a good year with the Los Angeles Angels last season. He won 21 games in the regular Pacific Coast league season, with an earned run average of 2.47. In the post-season playoffs he won a 1 to 0 decision over San Diego and also beat Seattle on a diet of six hits.

Wilson doesn't think a successful club has to have a lefty starter, but he expects to give Ray a goodly number of starts and many, many assignments when a left hand slugger comes up in a jam.

22 ON TIGER SQUAD

Evansville, Ind., April 12 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neil sent three players back to the minors tonight and the Detroit Tigers will start the American League season with 22 men, the smallest squad in uniform for the opener in many years.

O'Neill sent Catcher Al Unser to Buffalo of the International league on 24 hour option. He released Pitcher Murral Hewitt and Second Baseman Adam Bengoechea to Buffalo outright. Detroit now has eight pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and six outfielders.

YANKS FACE BRAVES TODAY.

New York, April 12 (AP).—The New York Yankee-Boston Braves spring series has been cut to a single game, scheduled for tomorrow. Today's contest was canceled.

Tomorrow's visit will be the Braves' first to the Yankee Stadium since it was built in 1923.

Exhibition Games

AT VINCENNES, IND.—Chicago [N. L.] vs. Detroit [A. L.].

AT ST. LOUIS, MO.—St. Louis [A. L.] vs. St. Louis [N. L.].

Fort Meade, Md., April 12 (AP).—The Washington Senators tossed in three errors where Philadelphia needed them most today and gave their exhibition baseball game to the Athletics, 5 to 2. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning.

The Athletics built up a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning with only one hit, a homer by Dick Siebert, but with help by Rookie Dewey Adkins, Washington pitcher, who walked the first man, then threw wild to second on a sacrifice bunt. Score:

Philadelphia	300	11—5	2	0

Batteries—Burrows and Wagner; Adkins and Angelo Giuliani. [Game called end of fifth.]

WEATHER HALTS DODGERS.

Fort Dix, N. J., April 12 (AP).—The New York Giants jumped on Bob Chipman for four runs in the first inning to take a 4 to 0 lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers before the weather forced abandonment of play at the start of the second half of the second inning in their exhibition baseball game today.

Bill Jurges drove in the last of the quartet of runs with a double but made the third out when he tried to stretch the hit into a triple. Buster Maynard, Giant center fielder, suffered a cut on his right leg sliding into the plate. The Dodgers got one hit off Tom Sunkel in their only appearance at the plate.

BROWNS LOSE McQUILLEN.

St. Louis, Mo., April 12 (AP).—Glenn McQuillen will not be in left field for the St. Louis Browns when they play the third of their seven spring exhibition games with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow. He is scheduled for induction into the army at Jefferson barracks.

McQuillen got two hits in the first game Saturday which the Browns won, 3 to 2, but went hitless Sunday. The Cardinals won that one, 5 to 2.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards plans to use these pitchers in an effort to take the series lead—Rookie George Munger, Southpaw Howard Pollet and Right Hander Howard Krist.

The Cardinals tonight released Elwin [Preacher] Roe and George Dockins, southpaw pitchers, to Columbus and Dain Clay, outfielder, to Rochester. Roe, who won 6 and lost 11 with Columbus last year, was released outright. Dockins and Clay were given options subject to 24 hour recalls.

TWO RED SOX STUDY DRAFT.

Boston, Mass., April 12 (AP).—The Red Sox came home from an eight game exhibition trip today with two of the squad possibly affected by the revamped selective service regulations.

Herb Bremer, 29 year old rookie catcher, may make a trip to his Columbia, Ga., home to find out what's what. He is married and his only child was born less than a month after the September deferment deadline. The other member of the squad possibly affected is Al Olsen, 22 year old southpaw pitcher who is married but without children.

SOLDIERS WILL LIKE THIS.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 12 (AP).—Cincinnati Red officials said tonight that because cancellation of the contest scheduled with the Cleveland Indians at Fort Benjamin Harrison today had disappointed so many soldiers, the Reds would return to the army camp June 9 for an exhibition.

The all-Ohio series in which the Reds hold a 2 to 0 lead will be resumed tomorrow at Richmond.

WOMAN EDITS SPORTS.

TRAIL, B. C., April 12 (AP).—The man power shortage has hit the sports writing field. Mrs. Blanche Arseneau is the new sports editor of the Trail Daily Times.

SAVOLD'S IN SHAPE

Weather Cuts Down Drills for Brewers

Waukesha, Wis., April 12 [Special].—A wet diamond and cold breezes off the Fox river cut the Milwaukee Brewers' workouts today to running and fly chasing.

Manager Charley Grimm today expressed satisfaction with the first intraclub ball game of the year in which the regulars hit safely 19 times for 34 bases to wallop a Yannigan nine, 12 to 5, in seven innings before 2,500 Waukesha fans.

"I liked especially the way Merv Connors was hitting," said Grimm. "He hit safely three times, including a homer. He should have a lot of power, and more will arrive when the rest of our outfielders come to camp. The only thing that worries me now is the pitching staff," Grimm concluded.

Bill Veeck, Brewer president, who was adjudged the most successful minor league owner in the nation last year, was on his way to Indianapolis tonight to attend the American association meeting.

Grimm also said that he hoped to have at least one more intrasquad game before the Brewers open their spring training schedule Friday with a game in Madison against the University of Wisconsin.

BAYLOR DROPS SPRING SPORTS; ONE COACH LEFT

Waco, Tex., April 12 (AP).—Baylor has dropped its spring sports, including spring football, and may abandon all intercollegiate competition. No decision has been reached on 1943 football, but the school's coaching staff has been reduced to one man, Jim Crow. All other members of the staff have entered service or defense work. Baylor is a member of the Southwest conference.

Thompson and Fiducia Sign for April 30 Bout

New York, April 12 (AP).—Manager Jimmy Johnston announced today he has agreed to terms for a 10 round fight between his Newark, N. J., heavyweight, Freddie Fiducia, and Turkey Thompson of California, in the Hollywood, Cal., bowl April 30. Johnston said he and Fiducia would leave here April 21 to keep the date.

Walter Michel, Maroon Tennis Veteran, Back

Cheered by the news that Walter Michel, a veteran of last year's team, will be on hand to play in at least the early season matches, the University of Chicago's Maroon tennis team will open its schedule this week, playing Lawrence college of Appleton, Wis., Saturday afternoon.

Previously it was expected that the only available material outside the Maroon freshmen would be two members of last year's B team, Earl Thymer and Grover Daly. Michel, last year's No. 5 representative, probably will occupy the No. 1 spot, in which he replaces Cal Sawyer, Chicago's Big Ten singles champion, who was graduated last June.

Thymer and Daly have an edge over the freshmen in the competition now in progress for the second and third positions on the team, with Frank Trovillion, a Hirsch High school product, and Phil Glotzer, from Charlotte, N. C., ranked as leaders of the freshmen.

Starting Saturday, Coach Walter Hebert's Maroons will play an average of a dual meet every other day for more than three weeks, with 9 of the 12 matches to be held on the Midway courts.

The schedule follows:

April 11, Northwestern at Chicago; April 17, Lawrence at Chicago; April 20, Illinois Tech at Chicago; April 21, Wheaton at Chicago; April 24, Wisconsin at Chicago; April 29, Notre Dame at Chicago; April 30, Minnesota at Chicago; May 1, Chicago at Wisconsin; May 3, Chicago at Illinois; May 6, Michigan at Chicago; May 8, Ohio State at Chicago; May 10, Chicago at Northwestern; May 13, 14, and 15, conference meet at Northwestern.

ILLINOIS NINE MEETS MACOMB TEACHERS TODAY

Champaign, Ill., April 12 [Special].—Illinois is scheduled to play its second baseball game of the season tomorrow, starting at 4:30 o'clock, on Illinois field against Macomb Teachers college. Al Scharf, junior from Proviso High school, Maywood; John Charcholla, Churchville, New York, and John Brittin, Morrisonville, freshmen, probably will pitch. The Illini will open their Big Ten season against Minnesota here Friday.

A. A. F. Basketball Meet Opens Tonight

The annual Amateur Athletic federation basketball tournament, sponsored by the Boys' Brotherhood Republic, will open tonight in the B. B. R. gymnasium with two games in each of the two divisions. At 7 o'clock the Franklin Park lightweights meet the Hardin Squares and at 8 the Wabash Avenue Y. M. C. A. faces the Railroad R. B. Play will continue tomorrow and Thursday.

North-South Golf Opening Is Postponed One Day

Pinehurst, N. C., April 12 (AP).—Start of the 43d annual north and south amateur golf tournament today was postponed until tomorrow on account of weather conditions. Golfers from military camps and some of the state colleges will make up the bulk of the field.

Franklin Has Problem—Too Few Partners

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Lee Savold will enter the ring for his 10 round return bout with Lem Franklin in Chicago Stadium Friday with the knowledge that he probably will be in better condition than his Negro rival.

This became apparent to Savold in the Ringside loop gymnasium yesterday as he watched the former International Golden Gloves heavyweight champion attempt to box with Hubert Hood.

Hood was being paid for his services but he didn't relish the idea of being hit with Franklin's dynamite right. Whenever Lem unleashed a hard blow Hubert went on a sit-down strike, finally leaving the ring in the third round.

It's Hard to Find Sparmates.

Jack Hurley, manager of Franklin, has been finding it extremely difficult to find fit partners because of Lem's reputation as a hitter. As a result, Franklin hasn't been getting his share of boxing.

Hurley knows sparring is the most important item in a fighter's training program. Roadwork, bag punching, rope skipping, and shadow boxing all are necessary, but none as important as sparring. There is improvement in a fighter's timing and accuracy in his punches only if he boxes a number of rounds daily during the training period.

If sparmates are available this afternoon, Franklin will box four rounds. Otherwise he will do only floor exercises.

Lee Polishes His Form.

Savold's boxing is not being curtailed. Lee, who can punch with authority when called upon, is content to polish up on his form and sharpen his skill rather than to impress onlookers by displaying a knockout punch.

Savold, for this reason, doesn't lack for adequate sparmates. Yesterday he traveled four fast rounds with Nate Bolden, south side light heavyweight. Bolden is paired with Tony Musto in a 10 round semi-windup on Friday's card.

Al [Bummy] Davis, Brooklyn welterweight, arrived yesterday for a third 10 round event against Tommy James. Davis will work out today. He won't box. He appeared to be in perfect shape, coming out of a fight with Carmen Notch in Pittsburgh Saturday without a mark. Notch was awarded a split decision over the easterner.

Squeeze Play by Mr. Hockett Hits Indians' Pay Roll

Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., April 12 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians' pay roll was caught off base by the spring training season's neatest squeeze play because a flip of a coin sent Oris Hockett heading for home.

The stocky outfielder disclosed today that it's part of the story of his week-end absence, which left the Indians only two fly chasers, forcing them to meet at least part of holdout Jeff Heath's terms to avoid starting the regular campaign with a pitcher patroling left field.

Then Hockett, who stirred up the hectic week-end by deciding to quit baseball, changed his mind after thinking things over at his Dayton, O., home. Returning to the club last night, he walked into the hotel lobby, drew a 50-cent piece from his pocket and asked if any one could change it.

"I want to get rid of this," he declared. "The other morning, when I got down to the depot, I pulled a half dollar out of my pocket and said to myself: 'Heads I go, tails I stay.' I flipped—and it came up heads."

Hockett conceded he had told Manager Lou Boudreau he was quitting baseball, but declined to say why. "When the season's over I'll tell you all about it," the 31-year-old outfielder's only comment.

His leave taking was all the more pointed since it came only two weeks after Fabian Gaffke, original Cleveland's fifth outfielder and never replaced, likewise departed without the formality of general farewells.

CIO, UMW FIGHT AT NEW JERSEY CELANESE PLANT

65 UAW Men Released by Bendix Aviation.

Newark, N. J., April 12 (AP).—Labor strife flared on two fronts in New Jersey tonight, violently at one war plant where two union factions in a jurisdictional dispute clashed in a brief fistic encounter. Sixty-five workers were discharged from another after an "indignation meeting."

Newark police said a dozen or more persons were injured slightly when members of local 277 Textile Workers of America [C. I. O.] and members of United Mine Workers District 50 clashed outside the Celanese Corporation of America plant here.

Threatens Action Today.

Irving Abramson, president of the New Jersey C. I. O. council, promised his union would be at the plant "fully loaded" when the shift changes tomorrow morning.

At the Bendix Aviation corporation plant in Bendix, Kenneth McGrath, general manager of the Eclipse-Pioneer division, announced 65 employés had been discharged for "unwarranted absenteeism" after they walked out after the noon hour today. A representative of the CIO United Automobile, Aircraft, and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, said workers were "indignant over failure of the company to recognize grievances."

Plant Shut Second Time.

East St. Louis, Ill., April 12 [Special].—For the second time in three weeks war production at the East St. Louis plant of American Steel Foundries was shut down today by a strike of local 1038 [CIO], United Steelworkers of America.

A shift of welders sat down this morning to enforce demands for a special allowance that had been given them when the plant was making a special metal that required a lot of "hot work." This special metal order has been filled and the welders were returned to regular pay. After they refused to work, production workers walked out. On March 23 the plant was shut one day when the union members struck in sympathy with open hearth men.

Moline Plant Struck.

Moline, Ill., April 12 [Special].—From 50 to 75 per cent of the employés of Frank Foundries corporation of Moline were on strike today and some of the idle men picketed the plant.

STOCKS GIVE UP LARGE PART OF EARLY ADVANCE

Volume Falls, but Trade Again Is Broad.

New York, April 12 (AP).—Stocks faltered near the close today, but held part of a general morning advance led by rails and selected industrials. Gains ran to a point or more for favorites at best levels.

Early bidding was attributed partly to a belief that last week's tumble, largest in nearly a year, might have served as a "healthy correction" of the long upswing. Favorable war news also was a steadying influence.

Average Loses Gain.

The Associated Press 60 stock average closed unchanged at 47.5 after being up 0.4 at noon. The market again was relatively broad, 912 individual issues being traded. Of these 385 were up, 301 were down, and 226 were unchanged. Transfers of 1,266,000 shares compared with 2,521,410 last Friday and were the lowest for a five hour trading day since March 24.

Anaconda Copper slipped in the wake of lower 1942 net figures, while Miami Copper improved on its report of increased earnings.

CHICAGO PRICES GAIN.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in trading of 37,000 shares. Among the more actively traded issues were Libby, McNeil & Libby and Chicago corporation, each down ⅛; RCA, unchanged, and Central & South West Utilities, down 1-16.

BOND TRADE IS QUIET.

New York, April 12 (AP).—Trading in the bond market was quiet today, as the second war loan drive opened. Some medium priced rails showed fair gains at one time, but not all of them held their rise at the close. Finishing a little higher were obligations of the Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, Cleveland Union Terminal, Gulf, Mobile & Northern, and New York Central. Foreign bonds were neglected.

WICKARD RAPS RAISING PRICES ON FARM CROPS

Opposes Pace Bill at Senate Hearing.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard, defending administration farm policies under challenge from senate agriculture committee members, declared today that legislation increasing farm prices generally might hinder maximum production.

"The labor situation is steadily improving," he said. "I am very hopeful that we will approximate the production goals set for this year, provided we have favorable weather.

"An increase in farm prices will not create more workers, or more machines or materials."

Says It Will Raise Prices.

Wickard testified in opposition to the bill by Rep. Stephen Pace [D., Ga.] to include all of a farmer's labor costs in computations of parity. He asserted the measure would boost food costs 10 per cent within 12 to 15 months and possibly increase total living costs "as much as 5 per cent."

Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] asked why the executive order raising corn ceilings 5 cents a bushel wasn't considered "inflationary." Wickard said the administration had planned all along an increase of 1 cent a bushel a month on corn from May to September and that the order merely allows the whole increase now to move corn to market.

Bankhead said that is about the same increase which would have been reflected by his bill which "was supposed to be inflationary." He referred to the vetoed bill which would have raised price ceilings by prohibiting considering benefit payments in computation.

Wheeler Raps Wickard Claim.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said Wickard and Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown are attempting to force "the price of cotton and wheat down." Wheeler challenged Wickard's statement that the Pace bill would hinder dairy production by increasing feed prices, saying Montana dairy farmers are complaining about their inability to get corn, rather than its price.

Rep. Pace [D., Ga.], author of the house approved bill, asserted it is designed to effect "exactly the same purpose" as provisions of the price control law relating to farm labor costs. These provisions, he said, are "being ignored" by the administration.

LABOR TURNOVER HIGH.

Labor turnover at the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation was 88.47 per cent during the last 12 months, but the absentee rate dropped to 5.78 per cent last month, Edgar N. Gott, company vice president, told a house naval affairs subcommittee.

Oats and Rye Advance; Corn Ceiling Increase Is Delayed

New ceiling prices on yellow corn, announced Saturday will become effective tomorrow, the office of price administration announced yesterday, asserting that inability to complete the new regulations prevented the 5 cent increase from going into effect immediately. The maximum price on No. 2 yellow corn in Chicago will be $1.07 a bushel.

The official announcement of higher prices for cash corn resulted in a rapid upturn in the price of oats and rye on the Chicago Board of Trade on the belief that both grains would meet with an increased demand for feed purposes. Oats futures closed ⅛ to 1 cent higher and rye was up 1 to 1⅛ cents. Wheat gained ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

Corn Futures Trade Active.

Trading in corn futures was fairly active, the bulk in exchanging between May and September. Early trading was at 1¾ cents difference, but the spread narrowed to around ½ cent later. Only 15,000 bushels of cash corn were sold for shipment and there were no purchases for deferred shipment from the country.

With trading in cash corn limited while brokers awaited the official regulations that will govern operations in that grain, representatives of elevator interests, industries and other large handlers and users of corn met in Washington with the OPA to consider what could be done to release the millions of bushels of grain held in warehouses and which is not available for sale because of the deadlock in the futures market.

No Action on Futures.

Directors of the Board of Trade took no action in regard to raising the price of corn futures in line with the increase in cash corn, pending official notice regarding the new regulations. They expect to receive copies of the regulations today. Reports from Washington suggested that trading in corn futures might be banned, or at least curbed to such an extent as to destroy their value as a hedging medium.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Bob Becker

April 12, 1943.

THE song sparrows have been flooding the woods with their gayest spring melodies. The flickers are broadcasting on a long wave length from tree tops that serve as perfect "transmitters." The kinglets have been slipping quietly thru Chicagoland on their northward migration and the starlings are doing their best to give an imitation of singing with a series of notes that sound like squeaks from rusty hinges.

With this flood of spring song from the birds the outdoor fan knows that the blossoms of the spring beauty are opening and that other wild flowers are also responding to warmer April days by pushing up stems upon which flowers soon will blossom.

Kinglets "Jitterbug."

We had a hard time getting a good look at the golden crowned kinglets we saw in the woods a few days ago. These birds are regular jitterbugs as they move thru shrubbery or small trees. They give you the impression that they are so busy or so full of life that they can't sit or stand still long enough for an interested bird fan to hold a glass on them. The first pair of goldens we saw gave themselves away by flashing that unmistakable patch of color on top of their heads. But from that time on it was a real job to keep them in view. Each bird flitted from branch to branch and hopped around as if it were equipped with watch spring legs.

A few kinglets, muffled in their thick coats of feathers, stay with us all winter, altho we've never been lucky enough to see one of them during the cold months. But most of the birds work southward to Florida and Mexico.

These little olive green birds [they're only about four inches in length] could have learned all about our severe winter by just visiting with the juncos which still are with us. These trim birds which spent the winter in Chicagoland soon will be going north again to spend the nesting season.

Cowbirds Arrive.

While we were hiking around looking for wild flowers and spring birds we saw the first cowbirds of the season. As a rule the cowbirds check in around the last week of March. They have been with us for quite a while but on none of our walks had we seen any until a few days ago. As far as contributing to our spring atmosphere, the cowbird is pretty much of a total loss to the average bird fan. This species isn't attractive, can't sing, and its habit of laying eggs in another bird's nest is one that has brought it nothing but unpopularity.

From now until the end of May each hike in the farm woods is bound to develop a surprise either in a new display of wild flowers or a new feathered migrant. Starting the middle of April and continuing into May we have our heaviest migration of birds, culminating in the arrival of the brown thrashers and the catbirds—the two songsters that get star billing in May.

The three most important steps in caring for garden tools include the removal of mud, wiping with an oily rag, and proper storage. Tools should be hung on wall pegs rather than left on the floor.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

Rust is the major enemy of most garden tools. If your spades and rakes have accumulated a coating of rust during the winter months [perhaps as a result of faulty storage] it is advisable to use sandpaper to rub off as much of the rust as possible. After this is done the tools should be wiped with an oily rag.

Careful gardeners have a ritual for caring for their tools after each period of use. First they scrape all mud from the rakes and hoes; then they wipe them with an oil soaked rage before putting them away.

Garden tools should be hung in a dry place. It is a simple matter to nail a three inch board on the wall of the garage, then use larger nails to serve as supports for the individual tools. Tools become rusty if left on the floor of a garage or basement because of the absorption of moisture from the earth.

POUR ELECTRIC STEEL AT NEW REPUBLIC MILL

2d Big Unit Placed in Operation.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

No. 2 electric furnace went into action yesterday at the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel corporation to help the United States win the war. As a small group of visitors watched, No. 2 was tilted to let its precious molten alloy steel run into a giant ladle that carried it to molds for further treatment before its fabrication into war materiel.

The brief ceremony marked another chapter in Chicago's steel history, helping secure its position as one of the world's biggest steel centers. A week ago Saturday steel was poured from another furnace, and before the summer is out a battery of nine is expected to be in operation.

M. E. Goetz, Republic district manager for Chicago, told of the importance to the war of electric steel while flames and smoke spat from the furnace as electric charges converted prosaic scrap into a devil's brew of molten steel.

Needed Now—and in Peace.

Steel from the electric furnaces is the kind needed for airplanes, engines, guns, certain kinds of ammunition, and for the other specialized equipment of mechanized war where there must be no failure.

And after the war this is the kind of metal out of which stainless steel will come for streamlined trains and other products of modern life.

The huge Republic plant is one of the largest manufacturing enterprises to be located in Chicago in recent years. Just twelve months ago its site was a swamp. Now vast buildings of many types are rising rapidly. It is now about half finished, material shortages having delayed construction.

Large Units Are Included.

When finished the plant will be one of the few complete electric furnace operations in the world—where the operation starts with the iron ore and ends with its own special type, rolling and finishing mills.

The development includes a blast furnace with a capacity of 450,000 tons a year, 75 ovens to produce the necessary coke, steel conditioning facilities, a 44 inch blooming mill, a 36 and 32 inch bar mill, the mills being the plants in which the steel is cut and shaped to required sizes.

Republic had to install a new turning basin in the Calumet river to accomodate the big steamers that will bring in the iron ore. It had to move a section of the Pennsylvania's Cincinnati freight line to make way for part of the plant.

Extra Work Done Now.

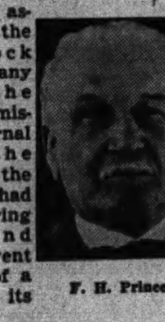
The first two electric furnaces are being operated under most difficult conditions. Some of the equipment is borrowed from other plants and will be returned later.

Scrap steel to feed the furnaces is brought in cars on one level, hoisted by crane to another level and there fed into the furnaces instead of being brought in directly on the second level as will be done when the plant is completed.

Still later, the furnaces will be fed with molten metal from the blast furnace which will speed the operation. The plant is laid out on the assembly line method for simplification.

When this plant is completed, Republic will have an annual capacity of about 1,700,000 tons of electric furnace steel, including the production of its other mills. The entire United States capacity of this kind of steel is about 6 million tons. The Chicago plant is a project of the Defense Plant corporation.

Court Rules 4 Million Tax Due from Stock Yards Company



F. H. Prince.

The United States Supreme court yesterday upheld a 4 million dollar income tax assessment on the Chicago Stock Yards company imposed by the federal commissioner of internal revenue on the grounds that the company had been used during 1930, 1932, and 1933 to prevent the levying of a surtax on its stockholders.

The decision was a reversal of a ruling last July by the United States Court of Appeals at Boston, which reversed the board of tax appeals in upholding the treasury's claim.

Rules Payment Avoided.

The revenue commissioner ruled that the surtax on the stockholders was avoided by permitting the company's profits to accumulate instead of distributing them to the shareholders. Frederick H. Prince, Boston financier and president of the Chicago Stock Yards company, was said to have owned or controled all of the stock during the three years and "avoided payment of surtaxes in excess of $1,300,000 because of the company's failure to distribute its earnings," according to the department of justice.

Under the 1928 revenue act, a 50 per cent tax on net income could be imposed on any corporation organized or "availed of" for the purpose of preventing the levying of the surtax on its stockholders thru the medium of permitting its gains and profits to accumulate instead of being divided or distributed.

Called Top Company.

The Chicago Stock Yards company, incorporated in Maine, has main offices in Burlington, Vt. The justice department described it as the "top holding company of what is referred to as the Chicago stock yards enterprise, a great integrated business owning or operating a stock yard, a belt line railway, an elevated street railway, a real estate development of considerable magnitude, power and light facilities, a national bank serving the stock yards area, and other related undertakings of lesser importance."

The holding company's subsidiary, the Union Stock Yards and Transit company, operates the Chicago stock yards. It has headquarters in Chicago. Prince is chairman of the board.

ALL NEW PREMIUMS OF HOME INSURANCE GO INTO WAR BONDS

New York, April 12 (AP).—Observing its 90th anniversary today, the Home Insurance company of New York announced that all new gross premiums received from its 25,000 agents from April 13 to the end of this year would be invested in war loan bonds.

One of the oldest insurance firms in the United States and one of the largest fire insurance companies in the world, it reported more than 71 million dollars in earned premiums in 1942.

COLEMAN PICKED FOR N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE CHIEF

New York, April 12 (AP).—The New York Stock exchange nominating committee today announced that John A. Coleman of Adler, Coleman & Co. has been nominated for chairman of the board of governors. The annual election will be held May 10.

Coleman would succeed Robert L. Stott, who asked that he not be considered by the nominating committee.

NORTH WESTERN SUBURBAN FARE RISE OVERRULED

The position of the Illinois commerce commission and other agencies that have opposed higher commutation fares on suburban service of various Chicago railroads was strengthened yesterday by a decision of the United States Supreme court in the case of the Chicago and North Western railway.

Authority to boost fares within the state was sought after the interstate commerce commission approved 10 per cent increases on interstate travel.

The court ruled that the interstate commission had not intended its 10 per cent increase to apply to intrastate business and that such a boost would put some classes of tickets above the Illinois local limit of 2 cents a mile. Overruling a three judge federal court in Chicago, the high court decided North Western fares should not be raised because some of the suburban tariffs had not been lowered between 1925 and 1942.

Injunction Cases Differ.

Altho the question of conflicting authority was involved in the case that reached the Supreme court, another point stressed by the road in obtaining an injunction against the Illinois commission from Judge U. S. Schwartz in Superior court was the contention that failure to grant higher intrastate rates represented confiscatory action. The same point was involved in a state court injunction obtained by the Illinois Central railroad.

No immediate refunds will be made to passengers because the 10 per cent increase effected March 8, 1942, still is protected by the state court injunction, the road explained. Should the North Western and I. C. exhaust legal means of continuing the higher charges rebates will be made to passengers who have retained ticket stubs.

Interstate Fares Stand.

The Rock Island, Burlington, Milwaukee, and other roads operating in this area did not increase suburban fares after the Illinois commission refused to approve the blanket request.

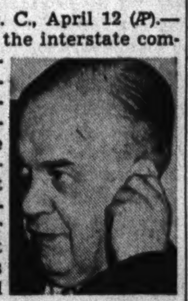
The road's right to increase commuter rates to points in Wisconsin was not questioned. In addition to the "confiscation" plea involved in the state injunction, terms of the Supreme court opinion itself may give the line the legal means of continuing the fight, attorneys said.

Altho a few suburban fares were raised above 2 cents a mile last year, the average remains below that level, the road said. Charles M. Thomson, trustee of the road, said the 10 per cent increase still did not meet fully the cost of the suburban service.

SUSPENDS RAIL COMMUTER AND FREIGHT HIKES

Passenger Boosts Kept by ICC.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—By a 6 to 5 vote, the interstate commerce commission today suspended, effective May 15, railroad freight rate increases averaging 4.7 per cent which were authorized a year ago to offset higher wages granted railroad workers by a Presidential mediation board.



Joseph B. Eastman. Fearing inflation, he breaks tie.

In a decision representing a major victory for the office of price administration which has fought the increases, the commission also revoked, effective the same day, a 10 per cent increase in commutation fares, but ordered further hearings on whether this revocation should stand.

The ICC refused to change standard passenger fares which, with the commutation fares, were increased 10 per cent on Feb. 10, 1942.

Limits Suspension Period.

The rate suspension was made effective until Jan. 1, 1944, the commissioners indicating that developments during the year would determine whether the suspension should be continued or the higher rates restored on that date.

OPA officials hailed the decision as one which would assist them in controling prices. They indicated that in many cases the lower freight charges will avert the necessity of increasing prices of some manufactured products whose costs have gone up. In others it was said the decision may be reflected in actually lower prices.

The commission majority took the position that earnings had so increased as a result of a larger volume of traffic "that the freight rates and charges so reduced will be just and reasonable."

Raises Yield 309 Million.

Net operating income of class 1 carriers in 1942 was 1 billion 481 million dollars after deductions for

Vast War Job Cancelations Forecast; Cost Cuts Praised

Urges Self Protection

Philadelphia, Pa., April 12 [Special].—A wave of contract cancellations at the conclusion of the war that "will shake the foundations of the free enterprise system" was predicted today by Dundas Peacock, controler of the Elliott company. He spoke at a war conference of the Controlers Institute of America.

"It is essential," Peacock said, "that the rights and privileges of contractors and subcontractors upon termination of government contracts be defined as soon as possible. To wait until victory comes to solve this problem will be too late."

Cancelations Already Big.

Peacock said many companies were already negotiating the settlement of contracts that had been canceled. The war department, he said he was informed, was canceling supply contracts amounting to more than the value of all contracts canceled at the end of World War I.

"It behooves all controlers to review their present cost practices to determine whether or not they will be satisfactory for the computation of cancelation charges on contracts which are canceled before production has advanced very far. Since termination, in effect, converts a fixed price contract to a cost-plus contract, you should review your cost practices to be sure that your records will comply with government requirements for substantiation of costs of cost-plus contracts," Peacock asserted.

Factor in Pattern

New York, April 12 (AP).—Lt. Col. Charles H. Dyson, budget officer of the army air forces, told the New York State Society of Public Accountants tonight that renegotiation of government war contracts was a "truly significant factor in the victory pattern."

He asserted that renegotiation "must be made the outstanding medium by which American business, while producing for war, keeps its own house in order and reserves its competitive toughness for peace."

Recalls Officials' Policy.

A substantial reduction in profit margins below peacetime levels will usually leave contractors with an adequate dollar amount of profits on war work, he said, adding:

"Undersecretary of War [Robert P.] Patterson and Undersecretary of Navy [James V.] Forrestal have indicated that generally the margin of profit which a company makes on its expanded war sales may be limited to one-half or one-third of the margin of profit on peace time sales, nor should profit margins on war contracts be increased or maintained at a high level in order to offset higher taxes."

PRICES OF HOGS TAKE STEEPEST PLUNGE OF WAR

The largest decline of the war swept the nation's hog markets yesterday as a result of the government's threat to place a ceiling on hogs unless prices decline in line with meat prices. Declines were larger elsewhere than in the Chicago stock yards where prices fell 35 to 50 cents a hundred pounds. Most other markets registered losses of 50 cents or more. Pittsburgh reported a loss of 90 cents, Indianapolis 80 cents and St. Louis 75 cents.

Prices were the lowest since early February and only 70 cents higher than a year ago,

The average dropped 40 cents in Chicago to $15.20, equaling the lowest since February 3. Top loads fell off 45 cents, to $15.35, lowest since February 3. Both prices were 75 cents below the 1943 high 11 days ago.

Prices of most other classes of meat animals also were pulled down.

People and Events

Daniel Peterkin Jr., Chicago, chairman of the board of the Howard Aircraft corporation, is expected to be named president of the company at a meeting of directors later this week, it was learned yesterday. Bernard D. DeWeese, who resigned as president, will continue as a director and will become special consultant for post-war planning.

Daniel Peterkin Jr.

John J. Welch, editor of Mill Supplies, will speak today at a luncheon of Chicago manufacturers and industrial distributors in the Palmer House. Welch returned recently from England where he observed production and distribution methods.

HULL CLASHES WITH G.O.P. ON TRADE PROJECT

Resents Questions About Plan.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull motored up Capitol Hill today to urge a three year continuance of the reciprocal trade treaties program and found himself the brunt of a Republican attack which stirred his Tennessee anger to the point where he acknowledged himself "fed up."

The 73 year old secretary presented a 3,000 word statement to the house ways and means committee. He said any curtailment or repudiation of the trade treaties would be a clear indication to other countries that the United States does not intend to bear its full share of responsibility in peace time.

Questioning Starts.

Then Republican members of the committee started questioning Hull. Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart of California declared the trade agreements are an economic failure and have won this country the nickname of "Uncle Sap." For an hour, Gearhart tried to draw from the secretary an assent to the Californian's contention that other nations have taken undue advantage of the trade plan, first authorized in 1934 and close to Hull's heart.

Finally Hull said:

"The gentleman is headed straight down the gulch of extreme nationalism that got us in this mess and I hope the Lord takes care of him."

Then turning to Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], the secretary said:

"I'm getting a little bit fed up on the nature of these questions and the number of them."

Gearhart Wants Information

Gearhart cut in:

"Did you come here to give us information or to tell the people you don't like me?"

Rep. A. Willis Robertson [D., Va.] challenged Gearhart's figures that United States farm imports rose 57 per cent since 1934 and "exports dropped to minus 30 per cent of the 1934 amount."

Hull sat back while the two congressmen shouted at each other and

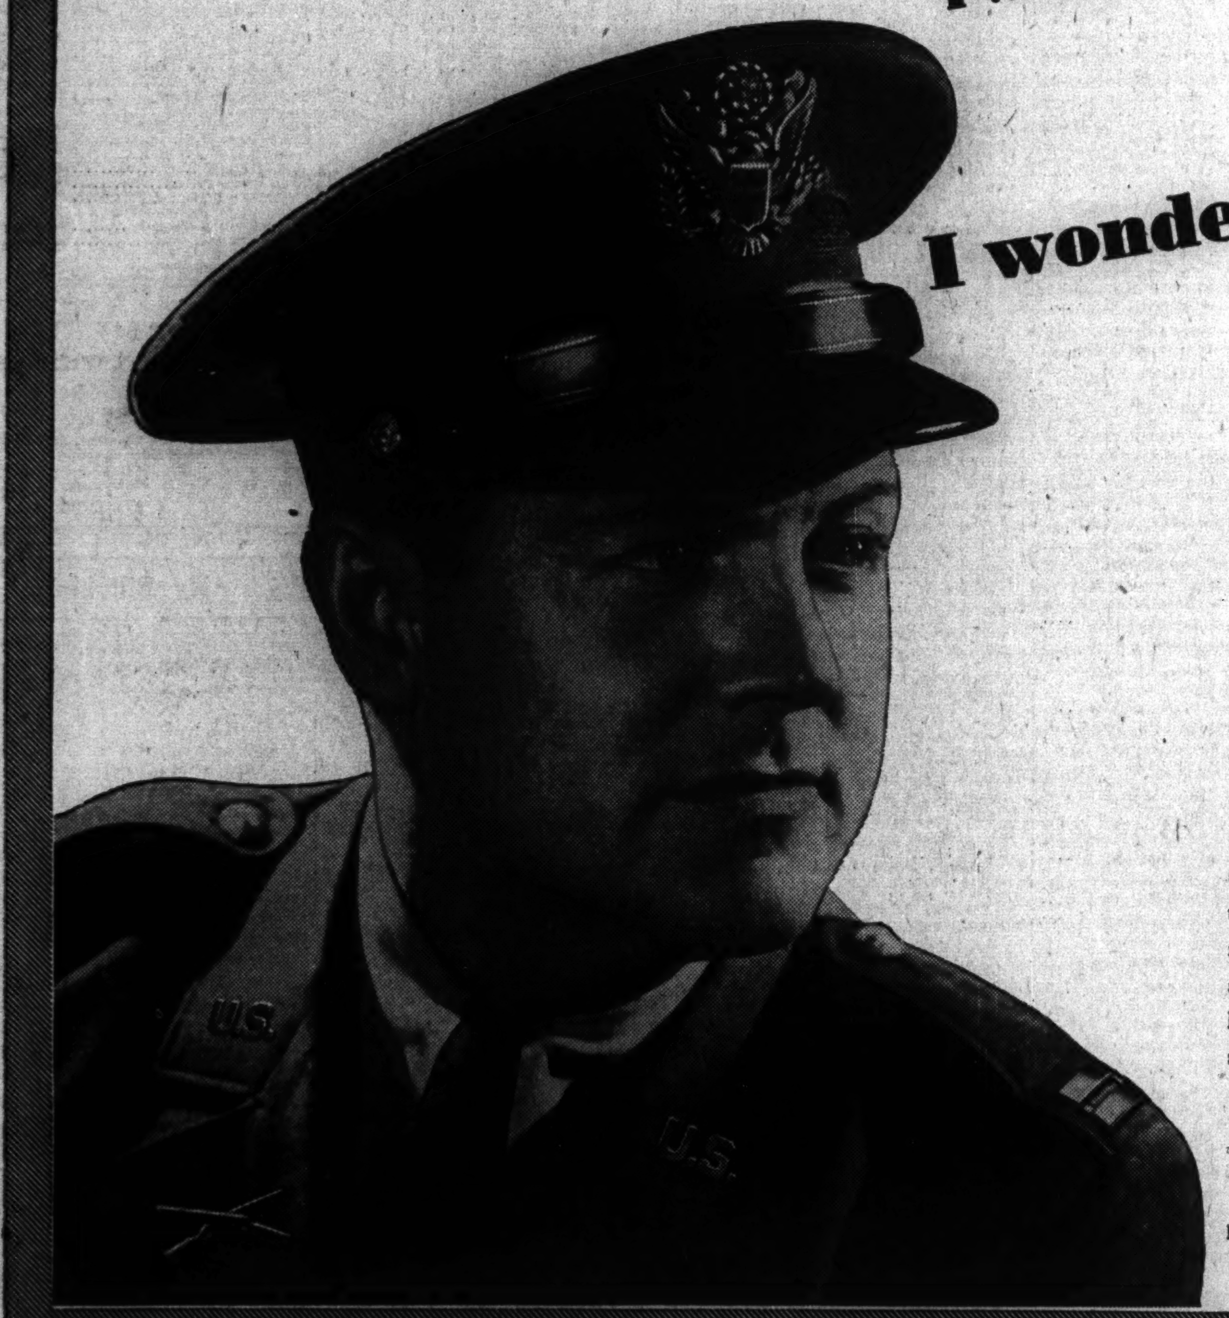
Thank goodness, I could leave my financial affairs in good hands

I would have saved a lot of energy—and worry—if I had heard of a Living Trust sooner

I wonder why the Trust Company doesn't advertise that service



Active, capable, forward-looking men too often think that they alone can handle their interests, down to the last detail. And then, if the day comes when they are called into other spheres of action, they discover with astonishment that a Living Trust covers their every wish. Under its terms, they may make their own decisions about their affairs, but leave the execution of them in the experienced hands of our Trust Officers.

It is these men, who have been "too busy" to read our advertisements, who tell us that we should advise all business men about the advantages of a Living Trust.

No doubt these men are right. But what, for example, can we do for you who are reading this advertisement? An advertisement cannot anticipate the questions you may have or the personal needs which are uppermost in your mind. Would you take 15 minutes to discuss the subject with one of our Trust Officers, to see how a Living Trust can literally be tailored to accommodate your requirements?

Fears Too Much Idealism.

Gearhart opened his attack on the agreements with the declaration that foreign trade is "business, in dollars and cents, and not something for pious platitudes and idealism."

"I'm wondering how much this program is based on idealism, the good neighbor policy, make the world a beautiful place to live in," he said.

Hull said the figures Gearhart cited were misleading because they fail to take into account noncompetitive commodities, and denied "all your statements and their implications."

Hull said American agriculture interests had benefitted by the trade agreements and observed that "the highest level some of our statesmen can reach is that of the prewar isolationist platitudes."

Hull and Gearhart interrupted each other so often that finally Hull said:

Refuses to Discuss Past.

Gearhart, a Fresno [Cal.] lawyer who has been in congress since 1935, said other nations had set up tariff regulations, licensing rules, and depreciated currency that outweighed, financially, the benefit of the agreements that might have accrued to the United States.

Hull observed those charges of "ugly trade practices are too old and fossilized for me even to take notice of."

"I'm disappointed that not one word or thought of the congressman faces the future," the secretary remarked.

Gearhart wanted to know if it is true that the agreements were "used to knock down our tariffs," and Hull said that is incorrect.

"But the way it works out . . ." said Gearhart.

Fear for Living Standards.

Rep. Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.] remarked he did not believe our standards of living could be maintained "if we find ourselves in open competition" with other nations for trade.

"I've been listening to all that for 40 years," Hull responded. "These constant fears and predictions—yet labor's conditions have been improving all the time."

SUSPENDS RAIL COMMUTER AND FREIGHT HIKES

Passenger Fare Boosts Retained by ICC.

taxes, compared with 998 million in 1941, testimony at hearings brought out. A large part of this increase was caused by greater traffic rather than the higher rates, the majority held.

A summary of evidence said revenue received from the increases totaled $308,997,000, including $226,455,000 from freight rates and $78,387,000 from passenger fares. The higher wage rates granted in December, 1941, were estimated to have cost 389 millions in 1942.

Expressing the opinion that passenger rates present a different question from freight rates, the majority said passenger traffic in recent years has not borne a proportionate share of the cost of railroad operations. It also said a reduction in passenger fares "would tend to encourage travel which is unnecessary and unrelated to the prosecution of the war" and hence might hasten rationing of railroad space.

Rejects One OPA Claim.

Altho the decision was mainly in line with OPA views, the ICC rejected the OPA contention that "the emergency price control and the stabilization acts modify or amend the provisions of the interstate commerce act."

"Our duty is to determine a rate structure that will meet the requirements of the national transportation policy and the other governing provisions of the interstate commerce act," said the majority.

Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman, who ordinarily takes no part in the commission's decisions, broke a 5-5 deadlock by voting to suspend the freight rates. Lining up with him were Commissioners Clyde B. Aitchison, William E. Lee, Charles D. Mahaffie, Walter M. W. Splawn, and John L. Rogers. Opposing were Chairman J. Haden Alldredge, Claude R. Porter, Carroll Miller, William J. Patterson, and J. Monroe Johnson.

Considers Wage Angle.

Eastman, in a concurring opinion, indicated he gave weight to the effect large railroad earnings might have on employé demands for higher pay. Speaking of safeguards against inflation, he said:

"We can not wisely leave out of consideration emotional and other psychological reactions. So long as the railroad industry or any other great industry is in war time making very large profits and such profits are in part dependent upon rate or price increases authorized since the war began, a situation exists which is more than likely to generate perilous reactions."

Dissenting commissioners held that the railroads, after lean years, now are entitled to improve their financial position and also needed additional funds for improvement of the transportation system.

Argue Needs of Rails.

Observing that the war may last several years, with increasing strain on the transportation system, Porter said "it seems ill advised to take away from our transport companies about 300 million dollars annually in freight revenue which may shortly be badly needed in order to insure adequate service."

Johnson commented that none of those "asking the removal of the rate increases to prevent inflation suggested the removal of the causative increases to labor cost that must be equally as inflationary."

The decision was dated April 6, two days before President Roosevelt's executive order last Thursday asking rate regulatory bodies to prevent increases and where possible make reductions.

Rates are not affected which by voluntary action already had been reduced below the level of March 18, 1942, when the increases became effective. These include rates on petroleum to the east coast and to the government for movement of explosives.

HOTEL FIRM'S OFFER ON TAX BILL OPPOSED

An offer of the Lott Hotels, Inc., to settle a delinquent tax bill of more than a million dollars with $587,000 cash yesterday was termed inadequate by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Burke. He said the state's attorney had recommended to the county board that the offer be rejected.

Burke and another assistant, Francis Clamitz, appeared at a hearing before Judge Philip L. Sullivan of the Federal District court, who is in charge of the hotels in receivership. Judge Sullivan, who recently ordered the present receiver, Byron A. Cain, to settle the tax bill, continued the hearing to April 30.

The hotels are the Parkway, Belden-Stratford and Webster.

Coal Wage Negotiations Will Be Resumed Today

New York, April 12 (AP).—Three coal mine operators' groups will resume negotiations tomorrow with the United Mine Workers for a wage contract for more than a half million coal field workers. The operator groups represent northern and southern bituminous mines and anthracite mines.

Investors' Guide

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TREASURY 2½S.

Kindly give me the status of the 2½ per cent 26 year United States government bonds dated April 15. Will they be negotiable and will they have semi-annual interest coupons attached? What will be the purchase price?—W. F.

Answer: The 2½ per cent treasury bonds offered in the 13 billion dollar second war loan drive will be dated April 15, 1943, and will be due June 15, 1969. They are callable at the government's option on or after June 15, 1964, at 100 per cent and accrued interest.

These bonds are issued in denominations of $500 to 1 million dollars, either in registered or coupon form. In either form the bonds are salable in the open market.

The bonds are fully taxable by the federal government and are subject to state inheritance, gift, estate, or other excise taxes. They are not subject to income or property taxes of a state or other political subdivision.

The price is a flat 100 per cent for individual subscriptions of $500 or $1,000, but for larger subscriptions the price is 100 per cent and accrued interest.

Commercial banks are not eligible to purchase the bonds for their own account until April 15, 1953. There is no limit on the amount for which an eligible investor may subscribe.

MUST DEPRECIATE.

Ten years ago I bought a bungalow for rental purposes. I paid $550 for the lot and $5,000 for the building. I did not deduct anything for depreciation during the first five years, but for the last five years I deducted 4 per cent annually or a total of $1,000 from my taxable income. A clerk in the income tax office says I must deduct another 4 per cent for each of the first five years if the property is sold, but a real estate tax man says this is not legal. Which is correct?—S. M.

Answer: The income tax clerk informed you correctly. In determining your gain or loss you must take into account the "adjusted basis" of the property. In this case the adjusted basis would be the purchase price less the amount of depreciation allowed or allowable, whichever is larger.

Our training means better jobs and higher pay

Our graduate, Clarence E. My first week's paycheck was $113.66 and American Aircraft Institute was the one which put me in the position to earn the money."
